Teamster Organizer Set For Police 'War'

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Tough-talking, cigar-smoking Joe Valenti, the Teamsters Union organizer of law enforcement agencies in Michigan, sees 1977 as the crucial year for his union at police departments.

Fifteen years ago, the stocky Valenti was little more than an errand boy for top Teamsters brass. But officials, including now-missing ex-Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa, directed him to start organizing public employees.

Since then, Valenti has wooed 2,700 Michigan police officers from 129 departments. His home Local 214 in Detroit represents some 9,000 public employees.

But the 41-year-old Valenti is beginning to feel the heat of competing labor groups. Officers at Teamsters-represented departments, who in many cases have won fat pay increases, now are considering dumping the Teamsters and its unsavory reputation in favor of fraternal police organizations.

"This is the year we're gonna make labor peace in the State of Michigan or there's gonna be an all-out war," Valenti declares. "Either we sit down and work this out in 1977 or we might as well just open it up, winner take all, and go hellbent for everything we can get our hands on."

Valenti lost the first round last month when deputies and sergeants in the Genesee County sheriff's department ousted the Teamsters after a four-year reign. The Teamsters had won massive pay increases.

But the county, caught in a budget squeeze, laid off more than 50 deputies. The department voted out the Teamsters in favor of the Fraternal Order of Police.

Valenti already has been their sole bargainer, could be shattered.

Three years ago, the basic wage for a patrolman in the Flint police department was $14,800 a year. Eighteen months after the Teamsters moved in, ahead of Grand Rapids.

A good illustration of the union's success in Flint is that Valenti recently hired his bargaining table antagonist, the city's retired chief negotiator, as a Teamsters business agent.

The Flint success, however, is in peril as police officers there vote Thursday on having the Police Officers Association of Michigan or the Fraternal Order of Police as their bargaining agent.

Valenti is disappointed.

"Two years ago, those guys in the Flint Police Department were saying, 'Kill 'em, Joe, shoot 'em, blow up a few of the police cars.' You know what those guys are saying now that they got $18,200?"

"Now it's, 'Joe, we're professionals. We should be in a police union.' I don't think they know what the hell they want."

But he acknowledges he is saddled with the tarnished image of the Teamsters.

Shortly before Hoffa disappeared on July 30, 1975, the Black Gunman Wants 'Exodus'

By SERGIO LALLI
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — Police telephoned the White House today in an effort to get

President Carter to speak with a black gunman who held a white policeman hostage, saying he wants to free his people from oppression and wants whites to leave the earth within a week.

The gunman, Cory Moore, an ex-Marine and former auto worker now attending a community college, had demanded from the White House.

Moore, 25, was tired but calm, even joking with his hostage, Capt. Leo Keglovic in a room at the Cleveland suburb's City Hall.

Moore was armed with his own pistol and seized Keglovic's gun after taking him captive Monday afternoon.

"We just hope he remains as calm as he has been so far," the chief said.

Merchant said that Moore expressed dissatisfaction today with what he saw as the news media's apparent disregard of his vow to curse the white world if all whites weren't off earth within seven days.

Moore was watching news reports on a television set police provided early today in exchange for Moore's other hostage, Shelley Kiggins, 17.

Moore said he didn't swap the girl for the TV but rather simply decided to let her go.

Warrensville Heights Police Chief Craig Merchant said his office had contacted the Secret Service about possibly arranging a conversation between Moore and Carter.

Son Charged In Mother's Death

William Wolf Accused Of Stabbing Former Area Woman In Texas

By JIM SHANAHAN
City Editor

The adopted son of Mrs. Bonnie Wolf Gustafson was arrested yesterday in St. Joseph on a charge of murdering her three years ago in Texas, according to Berrien Sheriff's Det. Capt. Ronald Immoos.

Booked at Berrien county jail was William H. Wolf, 18. His mother was stabbed to death April 15, 1974, in her home near El Paso, Texas. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gustafson, St. Joseph. Gustafson is president of St. Joseph Savings and Loan association.

Immoos said Wolf surrendered at the sheriff's department at 7 p.m. after a warrant had been issued earlier yesterday for his arrest by an El Paso county, Texas, magistrate.

Immoos said Wolf was placed under arrest by Det. Jon Nichols and Deputy Dan Gustafson. Gustafson is a nephew of Kenneth Gustafson.

Immoos said William Wolf's current address was listed as 2308 Mt. Curve avenue, St. Joseph, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gustafson.

Wolf came to live with relatives here after the death of his mother, Immoos said.

Mrs. Wolf, 35, was found fatally stabbed in her home at Horizon City, about 25 miles from El Paso. Investigators at the time said there was no apparent motive and no forced entry of her home. El Paso's county sheriff's officers reported Mrs. Wolf's body was found by her son after he returned from school.

Mrs. Wolf was the widow of Morely G. Wolf, who died in 1973 after undergoing a kidney transplant the previous year.

The couple had operated a farm in the Eau Claire area before moving to Texas.

Immoos said Wolf was scheduled to be arraigned today in Berrien Fifth District court.

Area Snow Aid Requests Vetoed

By ALAN AREND

The federal government has rejected requests from four southwestern Michigan counties and the rest of the state for disaster aid to offset costs of fighting severe winter weather in January and February.

The four southwestern Michigan counties are Berrien, Van Buren, Cass and Allegan. They had asked for $1,821,000 in relief.

The four and the rest of the state had sought the funds through a federal program whereby municipalities designated major disaster areas by the President would be eligible for funds relief. The funds would come from the federal Disaster Assistance administration.

According to The Associated Press, Gov. William Milliken's office announced that President Carter had declined to declare the state or its counties major disaster areas.

No reason for the rejection was given.

AP said the amount listed as damages by the state was $10.6 million.

The decision left officials in the four counties wondering how the extra costs for fighting the late January and early February storms were to be met.

Berrien county had requested $600,000, Allegan county $580,000, Van Buren county $485,000, and Cass county, $150,000, according to Tom B. McCall, director of Berrien county's Office of Emergency Preparedness, to offset the DECATUR — A Decatur man who suffered a shotgun wound to the head early Monday died yesterday afternoon at Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor.

Hospital spokesmen said Henry Wilson, 60, route 2, died about 1:30 p.m. in the hospital's intensive care unit following emergency surgery. An autopsy was performed, but results have not been obtained by police.

Det. William Burk of the Paw Paw state police post said Wilson had been shot in the face during a family dispute at his home on 92nd avenue about 3:30 a.m.

Wilson's step-son, Lloyd Williams, 18, who lives at the home, was questioned about the shooting, but no arrests have been made.

"We are continuing the investigation because there is a possibility that self-defense might have been involved," Van Buren county Prosecutor Ward S. Hamlin, Jr., said this morning. Hamlin said officers were continuing to gather statements from witnesses, and that once

Manager's Job Created In Township

BY NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Isadore DiMaggio will become St. Joseph township's first manager on April 1, the township board decided last night. DiMaggio, now township treasurer, will take over the management functions now carried out by Supervisor Orval L. Benson.

Benson is paid $13,500 annually as supervisor. He said last night "the complexity of St. Joseph township government operations has increased tremendously over the past few years." He asked to be relieved of most of the management chores, but will continue to conduct board meetings.

DiMaggio said his salary for the newly-created position will be around $21,000 a year. He abstained from the vote to hire him, and the resolution passed 5-0 with one member absent.

Benson said DiMaggio's exact salary will be announced at the annual township meeting April 2. Within six months after DiMaggio becomes township manager, Benson's salary will be reduced commensurate with his reduced duties, Benson said.

St. Joseph township will be the only township in Berrien county to have a township manager.

Last night, the board also voted to appoint Trustee Robert H. DeVries Sr. treasurer to replace DiMaggio. Ernest Knauf, chairman of the township planning commission, will give up that position and fill DeVries' term as a trustee.

Knauf will be appointed as the board's member on the planning commission, a slot formerly held by DeVries. That change means DeVries will no longer be a member of the planners. That vacancy will be filled by appointment by the township board, Benson said. All changes will be effective on April 1.

The appointments of DeVries and Knauf run until the next election in 1978. DiMaggio will serve at the pleasure of the township board.

Benson said township officials have been working on the changes for about a year. He reminded board members that before last election he said it would be his last term in office. He has been supervisor for 17 years, he said.

Benson, 64, told DiMaggio, 30: "It's time to pass the torch to a new generation, and I say, I have a daughter about your age." Benson's duties as supervisor have kept him so busy this year "that I practically never hunt or fish or take trips," he said. He hopes the reduction in duties will correct that.

DiMaggio said he will resign from his current job as director of career education and summer youth employment at the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce effective April 1.

Audit Shows BH Is $343,795 In Red

The City of Benton Harbor spent $343,795 more than it took in during the last fiscal year, according to an audit presented to Benton Harbor city commissioners last night.

The audit, prepared by the Benton Harbor certified public accounting firm of Herkner, the audit, the general fund had revenues of $2,702,588 and spent $2,936,745.

The deficit spending wiped out a $67,928 surplus carried over from the general fund of the previous 1974-1975 fiscal year and resulted in the borrowing from the pension funds.

Lawn, Alley Trash May Lead To Ticket

Benton Harbor City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr. said last night the city will begin ticketing residents who don't clean up accumulated debris in their front lawns and alleys. Farmer said residents with especially large debris such as old mattresses should call the public works department for a special pick-up. A special telephone number has been established to report to the public works director any problems with streets or rubbish collection, Farmer said. That number is 925-3357.

Smits, Miskill and Merrifield, reported the city spent a total of $6,777,980 and took in $6,434,185 during the fiscal year running from July 1, 1976, to June 30, 1976.

The city continued to pay all bills despite the deficit by borrowing from the police and firemen's pension funds, according to Joseph Christoffel, city finance director.

The majority of the deficit spending was in the city's general fund which ran in the red by $234,137. According to

The audit reports the city borrowed $500,000 from the office and firemen's pension fund and $500,000 from the general employees pension fund during the 1975-1976 fiscal year.

Berrien Circuit Court Judge Chester Byrns ordered the city to add six mills to its property tax rolls to help pay off the $500,000 borrowed from the police and firemen's pension fund. The order requires that three assessments of two mills each are to be added to the December, 1976, and the June and December, 1977, tax rolls to pay off the loan.

The audit also indicates the general employees pension board has asked the city to propose a repayment plan after receiving the current audit report.

While noting that "a critical financial situation exists," William E. Smits, a partner in the firm which presented the audit to city commissioners, said the city has been taking some steps recently to improve the city's financial outlook.

"We realize that some of the deficiencies or problems are a result of the political unrest and personnel turnover (during that period)," Smits said. "We feel that the city has, subsequent to our examination, taken some positive steps to improve the situation."

During the early part of the current 1976-1977 fiscal year — after new commissioners filled recalled seats and several personnel changes occurred — the city began several programs to crack down on people with delinquent personal property taxes and water bills. In the general fund, departments that overspent the amount budgeted for them included (amount budgeted followed by amount spent in parentheses): city attorney, $43,492 ($69,941); mayor-commissioner office, $20,992 ($31,463); city manager, $68,747 ($77,512); highways and streets, $80,998 ($86,914); and street lighting, $102,000 ($119,687).

Other expenditures beyond the amount planned in the original budget included $42,889 more in uncollectible taxes, a $95,320 increase in general administration, and $49,980 the city paid out for the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program that was not reimbursed by the federal CETA agency.

Outside of the general fund, the city recorded a total deficit of $109,638 for other operations.

In other matters last night, the city commission approved application for three state grants, totaling $115,678, to make landscaping improvements along the St. Joseph river in the Riverview drive area and to add recreational equipment at Broadway, Hall and Union parks.

The city is requesting funds from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and will provide 50 per cent of the money for the three grants from the city's third-year Community Development program, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr.

A $62,218 grant would provide for grading and landscaping and building a parking lot across Riverview drive from K-mart near the former Penn Central railroad tracks.

Another $33,460 would be used for grading and landscaping an area south of the present boat ramp and adding playground equipment and benches.

Playground equipment, a softball field, and a park shelter would be built at the city's three parks with the $20,000 grant.

The commission also approved the appointment of 13 people to serve as the board of directors of the newly-organized Economic Development corporation created to foster business and industrial growth in Benton Harbor.

Appointed to the board of the quasi-public corporation were Mayor Joel Patterson, Commissioner Michael Govatos, Maurice Bishop, owner of All Time Pest Control; Percy Carr, Johnny's Fashion; Don Clark, Gardner's Sports and Marine; Dick Gates, Ned Gates Chevrolet; Leon Gideon, Barentsen Candy Co.; Robert Gillespie, Gillespie Drugs; Victor Greer, Durable Products; Vic McKinney, Discount Furniture and Appliances; John Rowady, manager of K-mart; Robert Small, Inter-City bank, and Richard Whiteman, Farmers and Merchants National bank.

The commission also appointed Frank Lahr, representative of the First of Michigan brokerage firm in St. Joseph; Terry Hartlerode, representative from Inter-City bank, and Commissioner Tommie Parks to the recently-established investment advisory committee to help recommend how the city should invest its funds.

Neglect Of Baby Charged

A 19-year-old Benton Harbor woman pleaded innocent Monday in Berrien Fifth District court to contributing to the neglect of a child — leaving an infant boy home alone while she attended a dance.

Sharon Wallace, of 554 East Main street, was released on $1,000 bond after she was arraigned before Judge Ronald J. Taylor. She waived a jury trial and petitioned for a court appointed attorney.

She is accused in a warrant of leaving Totonian Andre Rushay Wallace, 18 months, in her apartment alone while she went to a dance Saturday night.

Sgt. Charles Harrison and Patrolman James Spalo reported they went to 551 East Main Saturday after receiving a complaint, pried open the door of a locked apartment and found an infant boy asleep.

The officers said Sharon Wallace was arrested after she appeared at the police station about 12:30 a.m. Sunday. Harrison and Spalo quoted Ms. Wallace as saying she had engaged a babysitter and had left a key in a vacant apartment in the house, but the sitter apparently failed to appear.

Police said the boy was turned over to the Berrien county department of social services' protective services unit which placed him with a relative of Ms. Wallace.

Marina Plan Cleared For Bond Issue

A public hearing to determine if construction of a proposed marina in St. Joseph township would help the township's economy drew complaints last night from people who live near the proposed site. Two people were opposed to the diversion of a small stream that they said will be part of the project, and two other said they were concerned about the appearance of the planned 240-slip marina. It would be built on the east side of the St. Joseph river, just south of the Benton Harbor city limits.

However, last night's hearing before the township board did not concern approval of the project. Supervisor Orval Benson told the audience. The hearing only involved designating the marina as a "project area."

Board members voted 6-0 to designate the marina project, which means financing could be through issuing tax exempt bonds rather than a commercial bank loan. The board's recommendation will be considered by the county planning commission, whose approval is also needed before the bonds can be issued, according to Charles Schrenk, county economic developer for the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Schrenk said from two to four more public hearings on the matter will be needed. Under the plan, revenue bonds for $1.2 million would be issued through Berrien county, he said.

Benson said the board action in no way is an approval for the construction, only for the financing method that will be used if the board later approves the plans for the marina.

The planning commission last week gave tentative approval to partial plans for the marina, and the matter will come before the board at a later meeting. A group of private investors wants to build the estimated $1.5 million marina, which would be private. Bonds would finance about $1.2 million of the project.

The designation was granted with provisions: that owners not seek a tax exemption for the property and that the stream running west into the marina area and the St. Joseph river be kept open for boats.

Roger Huelsberg, of 560 West May, said he favors the marina plan but opposes any diversion of the stream that would bar access to the river. Huelsberg said he keeps a boat in the stream channel.

Walter Clements, one of the eight new owners of the 17-acre site, told the board that the channel won't be closed off.

Also at last night's meeting the board voted 5-1 to turn down a request by Nye's Orchards to remove land to allow smaller lots in the Highlands Estates subdivision.

Atty. Jerrold Nye was before the board appealing a vote against the rezoning by the township planning commission last week. The request by Nye's Orchards, involving the subdivision just north of I-44 and east of Niles avenue, drew protests from residents of the subdivision.

Nye wanted the board to allow lots of at least 12,000 square feet in an area now zoned for lots of a minimum size of 20,000 square feet. Before the board turned down his appeal last night, he indicated that if he lost the appeal he might redesign the section of the subdivision for 20,000-square-foot lots.

The board also approved plat plans for two new subdivisions in the township.

Approved were the Meadowdale Manor subdivision, to be located south of Nelson road between Washington and Cleveland avenues, an 89-lot development, and Hillview Downs 2, a nine-lot subdivision planned for an area north of Hickory creek between Cleveland and Washington avenues.

A building permit for a medical building near the corner of Lincoln avenue and Niles road was also approved last night. The building will be used by Drs. H.K. Maruyappa and J.S. Judge.

Board members voted to issue a building permit to Robert Pozniwko, who plans to construct a building on property he owns at Cleveland and Hawthorne avenues. The building will house specialty shops, he said.

It was also announced that a hearing on ways to spend the township's annual $41,000 revenue sharing budget will be held March 21 at 8 p.m. at Fairplain West school.

USE OF TESTIMONY IN DISPUTE

Purnell Retrial May Face Delay

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The murder trial for David Jordan Purnell had been scheduled to begin next Monday in Eaton county on a charge of venue from Berrien county.

But whether the trial will actually start then is up to the state appellate court because of complications which arose yesterday during a hearing for Purnell before Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White.

White upheld prosecution plans to use Purnell's testimony from the first trial in the new trial. Purnell's testimony then included an admission he killed

Janet Uland. Defense attorneys said they will appeal yesterday's ruling the testimony could be used in the second trial.

White in January ordered Purnell's trial changed to Charlotte, the county seat of Eaton county. He held that Purnell's confession during the first trial, held in Berrien county, that he murdered Miss Uland and his second degree murder conviction were widely-known facts.

Purnell, 28, was sentenced to life in prison by White in 1972 for the 1971 slaying of Miss Uland, of St. Joseph, but he won a reversal of the conviction and is to have a new trial.

Purnell's confession during the first trial was a subject of yesterday's hearing. The prosecution had filed a notice of intent to use Purnell's testimony from the first trial as actual evidence in the new trial and the defense objected.

White noted there was no case law in Michigan governing such a matter, and held that since Purnell had taken the stand voluntarily during his trial, the confession he made was of his own free will and therefore the prosecution could introduce it as evidence in the new trial.

Defense Attys. Roman Plaszczak and James Bauhof of Kalamazoo said they would appeal White's ruling to the Michigan Court of Appeals. Court officials noted an appeal of that nature would usually take months before a decision is reached and the trial would have to be rescheduled.

But White said he was informed late Monday afternoon by the prosecutor's office that the appellate court said it may grant an emergency leave to appeal, meaning the appeals court would consider the matter immediately and possibly have a ruling before the scheduled start of trial.

He added he did not know when the appeals court would announce whether or not it would grant the emergency leave.

Purnell's 1972 conviction was overturned by the state appellate court because the court held White did not instruct the jury they could find Purnell "not guilty." That instruction was not required at the time of the trial because Purnell based his defense on insanity, but the appellate court held it should be applied retroactively.

Fun City Facing Horrors Chamber Again

This Friday is not the 13th day of the month, but it might as well be that symbol of bad luck for financially beleaguered New York City.

The municipal bill is expected to be short of $21 million towards meeting a bi-weekly payroll account.

By March 15th the cash shortage is forecasted to go up to $177 million when non-payroll bills come due.

Then a matter of weeks there is the question of how to start paying off $1 billion in short term notes already in default. The state's highest court ordered this deadline. The notes are part of an emergency funding forced upon the city two years to meet an accumulation of the short term liabilities of the type first described.

Mayor Abraham Beame already has been to Washington for help.

The White House reply thus far has been evasive.

It is not the clearest turnaround which Gerald Ford first announced and then later reversed partially.

Neither is it the fraternity of a Democratic president shaking the hand of a Democratic mayor.

Rather, said Carter a few days ago, the problem is one for the city, the state, the bankers and the city's labor unions to work out together.

The response is double talk without being a 100 per cent speaking from both sides of the mouth.

Carter is repeating Ford's view that Uncle Sam should not be put in the light of banking distressed municipal budgets nor operating a domestic version of the Marshall Plan.

The President does, however, obscure the fact of the state, the bankers and the labor unions already coming to the rescue in the 1975 crisis.

The state created the legal machinery to float the $1 billion note issue which the banks and many union pension funds purchased.

The state government's leg in the triangle is an Emergency Financial Control Board, dominated by Governor Hugh Carey, which is due to terminate next year. Its function is to oversee but not control the city's budgeting process.

The 11-member consortium of New York banks propose a three-member review board to replace Emergency Financial Control.

In return for lending the money to pay off the delinquent notes the city would have to budget itself within the Review Board's dictates.

The bankers contend until the city balances its budget its credibility in the money markets already at zero will be permanently destroyed.

Since the Review Board would consist of Mayor Beame facing two appointees by Carey, the city's destiny in substantial measure would lie outside city hall.

The unions reject it because the Review Board would be an obstacle to future enrichment of their already enriched labor contracts.

Beame decries the proposal as flying in the face of the democratic process.

Since Sunday he and the unions have been huddling on fashioning a new lifeline not of banker design.

Just the thought of America's largest city being unable to meet its payroll is enough to suggest that some scheme will be hatched to tide Gotham over the latest precipice.

The dreary prospect is it being a scheme rather than a solution.

To Beame's credit he is one of the few New Yorkers to admit there is more to the difficulty than the prospect of not being able to meet Friday's payroll, that it is deep seated, and its cure will be long and painful.

His constituents have yet to share his belief.

The feeling in the streets is there will always be a New York.

It was this sentiment which sustained the British during World War II's dark hours. It was repeated, however, in the face of the sacrifice assumed to insure the slogan would be a reality.

Since the war's end the English have forsaken the responsibility and listened only to the slogan.

England's position in the community of nations needs no restatement here. New Yorkers, though, might review it before time runs out.

The Outlook Does Change

Presidential Air Fleet Is Still Way Too Big

Although every taxpayer is painfully aware of how large the government overhead he has been carrying has become, talk of federal budgets approaching a half trillion dollars and annual deficits which are larger than the total budget for World War II years tends to leave him cold.

Such figures simply are not comprehensible. It is only when they are broken down into components that anyone can begin to catch the drift of the total picture. President Carter revealed one of those components when he announced the White House was reducing its presidential air fleet by 15 planes, in a move designed to save almost $7 million annually.

Many Americans would not have guessed the entire presidential fleet consisted of 15 aircraft, but after reducing the fleet by that number the President and his top aides will still have 44 aircraft — including 15 helicopters — at their disposal.

What can the White House possibly do with a private air force which is larger than the total air fleet of many smaller nations? That question is particularly puzzling in view of press secretary Jody Powell's assertion that while the President and the first lady would continue using Air Force planes, other members of the Carter family and the White House staff "will be traveling commercial to the maximum extent possible."

Lopping 15 planes off the presidential fleet is a good first step, but the White House has a long way to go before it can claim to be practicing austerity.

'Welfare Queen' Had Too Many ID Cards

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago police officer testified Monday that the discovery of multiple welfare identification cards led to the arrest of a woman prosecutors have termed the "Welfare Queen."

Linda Taylor, 49, charged with fraud for allegedly accepting multiple monthly welfare checks of $300 from 1969 to 1974, is thought to have used as many as 80 different names to obtain welfare and Social Security benefits.

In November, 1974, three months after the cards were discovered, Miss Taylor was indicted on 52 counts of perjury, theft by deception and bigamy.

Michigan state police at South Haven, Mich., hold a warrant charging the woman with welfare fraud in Van Buren county in 1972. The warrant is for Connie Green, who has been identified through fingerprinting as the same person as the Linda Taylor being tried in Chicago, according to police.

Joel Edelman, executive director of the Legislative Advisory Committee and former director of the Illinois Department of Public Aid, said Miss Taylor "is without a doubt the biggest welfare cheat of all time."

Her Circuit Court trial entered its second day Monday with Jack Sherwin, a Chicago policeman, describing how the cards were found in 1974.

Sherwin and fellow detective Jerry Kush had been called to Miss Taylor's South Side apartment in August 1974 to investigate a report by her that $14,000 in cash, jewelry and furs had been stolen, according to earlier accounts.

Sherwin told Judge Mark Jones on Monday that he and three other investigators saw three green welfare identity cards fall from a suitcase that Miss Taylor held. The cards later were found to have been falsified, testimony indicated.

Sherwin testified that when she opened the suitcase, which she allegedly said contained items for her children, he recalled saying: "I know you by the name of Connie Jarvis. I know you by the name Connie Walker. This card says you're named Linda Bennett and this driver's license says you're Linda Bennett ... Is that your name?"

Sherwin testified that the woman denied that two of the welfare identity cards were hers and said the driver's license was her daughter's.

The expression "Welfare Queen" was disputed by her attorney, Isaiah Grant, who said it was invented by the state Department of Public Aid "to cover up their own frailties."

Grant described Miss Taylor as "a fall guy."

The 1974 indictment indicated that Miss Taylor allegedly cheated the Illinois welfare department out of at least $7,600 between October, 1973 and November, 1974.

Cook County States Atty. Bernard Carey said at the time that Miss Taylor may have fraudulently collected $30,000 in Illinois from 1969-1974.

Shadow Cabinet

Phony Gimmick

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's never been any shortage of pretentious ideas in American politics, but some self-anointed conservative gurus have come up with a gimmick that is hard to surpass for sheer brass.

They've trotted forth their very own "citizens' cabinet," a dozen gentlemen who graciously consented to form a conservative "shadow government" as a counterweight to all those liberal Carter imposters who somehow seized power recently.

With straight faces and proper pomp, the members of this "cabinet" were duly introduced last week at a Washington press conference orchestrated by The Conservative Caucus, Inc., a lobby group which claims 200,000 members nationwide.

The introductions included a brief biography of each "secretary," which was certainly fortunate since names like Meldrim Thomson, Hans F. Sennholz, Henry Hazlitt, Larry McDonald, William A. Rusher, John Harmer, Ron Paul, Steve Symms, Robert Carleson, John McClaughry and Sam H. Husbands wouldn't mean much to the average citizen.

But that's really beside the point. Most Americans would be hard pressed to identify more than one or two members of the real cabinet in this or any other administration.

What is so breath-taking about the conservative "shadow government" is that it was conceived and assembled without recourse to anything so tacky and common as a popular election.

About 400 hard-core conservatives met in Chicago last December to brood about the plight of the right. They couldn't work up much interest in forming a new political party, so they dreamed up the next best thing: a "government" without a base.

Some of their peripatetic proselytizers such as direct mail whiz Richard A. Viguerie, beer magnate Joseph Coors, National Review publisher William Rusher and Conservative Caucus director Howard Phillips, scurried about recruiting a "cabinet."

The venture, they said last week, was patterned after the shadow governments formed in Great Britain by the party out of power — which sounds plausible enough until you take a closer look at the comparison.

First of all, this country doesn't have a parliamentary system of government. Secondly, if we did the Republican Party would form a shadow government — not the conservatives, who don't happen to constitute a political party.

But most importantly even shadow cabinets in Britain are comprised of elected members of Parliament.

Just imagine what the reaction would have been eight years ago if liberals like George McGovern, Bella Abzug, GM heir Stewart Mott or dump-Johnson organizer Allard Lowenstein had tried to form a "citizens' cabinet" to counter the duly elected Nixon administration.

Those very conservatives would have screamed to high heaven no doubt charging subversion of the American form of government. Everyone else would have just gawked and giggled.

If conservatives want more attention, they're going to have to win more elections. A public relations brainchild like the shadow cabinet is the product of a union without benefit of clergy; no matter how you describe it, the offspring is still illegitimate.

Jeffrey Hart

Clever Carter

Plays 'Symbols'

Showmanship is an important part of politics, and it would therefore be a mistake to underestimate the importance of President Jimmy Carter's attempt to project an image of "austerity" and "humility."

It is also highly unlikely, however, that Carter will really do much about the actual pretensions of government, and in particular about the vast sprawling Federal agencies that will have their hands deeply in your pocket on April 15.

Carter recently told an audience of bureaucrats, indeed, that not a single Federal job will be eliminated. Historically considered, the meaning of Carter's electoral victory may be that serious reform of the bureaucracy will be postponed and the programs and agencies we inherited from the Great Society given a lease on life of four more years.

On Inauguration Day, Carter walked to the White House. He has appeared on TV in a cardigan. He has eliminated some $12,000 in leased cars from the White House motor pool, dropped $40,000 worth of subscriptions to publications, and rid the offices of 250 TV sets and 175 radios. He has cut "Hail to the Chief" and other symbols of the so-called imperial presidency.

So far all this appears to have been received favorably by the public, but even at the symbolic level, before we ask the tough questions about substance, some of these gestures may finally backfire.

"Hail to the Chief," after all, is a pretty stirring tune. The aura of the presidency was one of the major things Gerald Ford had going for him in his struggle with Ronald Reagan, and because of it he was finally able to squeak through in Kansas City.

The president, after all, is the chief executive of the strongest and most important nation in the free world, and I suspect that people desire some stylistic signs of that specialness. Ford's famous English muffin and Carter's cardigans, though initially welcomed, may not accord with our deeper sense of the importance of the presidency, and Carter's cosmetic Common Manism may end up by biding more irritating than refreshing.

But stylistic touches and cuts in the limousine service and not what people have in mind when they talk about the pretensions of government and of "Washington." They have in mind rising taxes and bureaucratic intrusion upon everyday life, and on those things Jimmy Carter is not likely to be forthcoming with solutions.

After Lyndon Johnson's 1964 landslide, the lopsidedly Democratic Congress enacted a cascade of social programs. Education, housing, and welfare expenditures soared.

Sometimes, to be sure, the programs sponsored by the "new class" of social concern careerists have been beneficial, but for the most part they have been boondoggles or disasters. They include, of course, busing, but also expensive programs of rehabilitation that show no results, elaborate compensatory schemes for the "poor" that do no good, Urban renewal and model cities schemes that are counter-productive, affirmative action and experimental textbook programs that outrage most people, and so on.

The academic-bureaucratic social concern sector has become a major economic interest and a powerful political lobby.

When he first emerged as a presidential candidate, Carter hinted that he might cut back the power of this vast interest group — but by the time he reached Madison Square Garden and selected Walter Mondale, it had become clear that new class interests were safe enough with Jimmy.

Enjoy the symbols Carter offers of Federal humility, if you like that sort of thing — enjoy the symbols, because that is about all you are going to get.

Mrs. Beryl W. (MaryLee) Bailey has been elected president of the Blossomland Garden club.

Other new officers are Mrs. Charles (June) Rollinger, vice president; Mrs. John (Betsy) Hammond, secretary; Mrs. Edward (Margaret) Risch, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar (Mary) Tichy, social chairman; Mrs. Edgar (Ruth Ann) Ross, historian-publicity; Mrs. Marvin (Jean) Waldenmaier, Garden Council representative, and Mrs. Robert (Ann) Lemons, Christmas project.

Blossomland Garden club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Inc., Twin Cities Area Garden Council, and is a charter member of the Grand Mere association.

Members of the club are active gardeners.

Among activities planned for the year will be a meeting and field trip to Love Creek. Members will present programs on "How to Dry Flowers for Arrangements" and "How to Take Care of Mums."

A trip to a flower shop is planned for members to learn how to take care of their house plants. Members make Christmas projects for their homes and a Christmas brunch concludes the club year.

In past years, the club has sponsored area teachers to the Higgins Lake Conservation School.

Mrs. Bailey holds a degree in interior design from Michigan State university and does freelance interior designing.

In addition to serving as president of Blossomland Garden club, Mrs. Bailey is also recording secretary of the Twin Cities Area Garden Council.

She is a member of the Christian Science church. Her hobbies include gardening, sewing and reading.

Mrs. Bailey and her husband are the parents of two children, Kristen, 7, and Kathy, 5. The family resides at 3315 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

Canvas Bags Click With The Consumer

Need Inside Pockets

By ELLIE GROSSMAN
NEW YORK — (NEA) — A handbag can be covered with gold braid, monograms and flashing lights that spell out "I Am Woman."

But if it doesn't have a hanging pocket inside, says Carmen Sugarman, it's not going to sell.

Mrs. Sugarman, who designs for Victoria handbags, the "most successful canvas bag house in the country," should know.

Working with a different weight of canvas, she creates two or three collections a year, 60 bags to a collection, and she thinks it's a snap.

"Actually, it's the little touches that change the color, the darting, striping the canvas which I'm doing for spring. After all, how different can you be with a handbag?"

Well, you can take a canvas tote bag and give it the look of a handbag. Make it a little shapelier, put a zipper on top, add gussets that expand, darting here and pockets there and maybe straps that snap in and out and change a shoulder bag into an attache case.

"That's what Mrs. Sugarman began doing for Victoria's tote bags when she joined the company three years ago, and she has been so successful, she says, that her styles are copied by the higher priced leather houses.

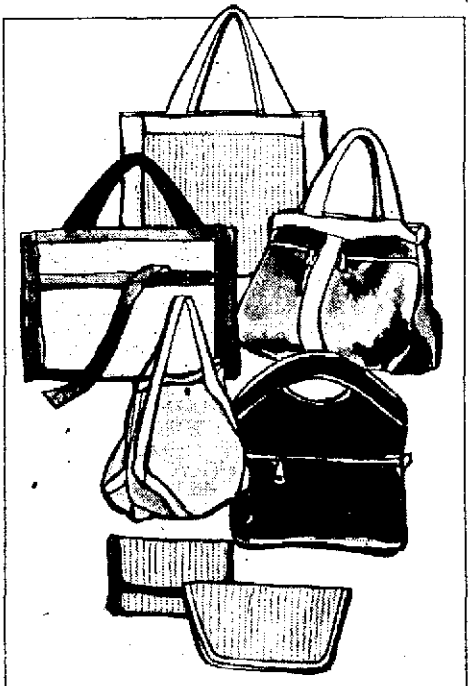

But there's little danger of their stealing her customer, who is generally 22 to 35 and used to schlepping a raggedy carryall with her jeans.

Now, she says, "that customer relates very well to fabric. She likes natural fiber. She doesn't want vinyl and she doesn't want to spend $50 for a leather handbag she may not want to wear next year."

She's content to get a year's wear out of one goodlooking canvas bag — or two or three — that she spent $13-23 for.

And if she takes care, it can live longer. "All our bags can be dry cleaned unless they have vinyl or jute in them. And a solid color bag can be washed with a brush and cold water wash. If there's a dark trim, however, the color will run."

"We're hoping to make bag tags in the future with cleaning instructions," she continues,

"but it's very costly right now and the consumer would ultimately pay. Every bag is different, you see, so we can't use one standard tag. But in time we might be able to absorb the cost."

"I have tremendous compassion for the consumer," she adds, "because she's clicked every which way and that's one reason I didn't want to be a fashion designer."

A couple of years on Seventh Avenue after graduating from the Traphagen School of Design in 1955 were enough for her. "I found the industry very difficult for my temperament and personality. I always felt as if I was walking on eggs, so I stopped designing and stayed home for eight years."

Then, three or four years ago, she designed some jute bags to match some hats she made, and decided it was time to enter another facet of the business.

"Joe Moskowitz, president of Victoria, liked what I'd done and I joined the company. The support I get from him is really vital, and the concern we give our bags is the concern a top fashion house might give to its merchandise."

Her concern and pride are personal as well as professional. Carmen Maria Rosario Irizarry (Sugarman) from Puerto Rico is a successful Puerto Rican in an industry where her people have done little more than push garment racks through the streets.

She's not sure if it's a case of discrimination or not. "I was always accepted on the surface because I'm very fair skinned and I didn't cause any problems. So it wasn't bad for me. But I'm Puerto Rican inside and out and I did feel insecure — whether that was something I created or there was a reason for it, I don't know."

Things are better now, she says. "If you're professional and hardworking and well prepared, there shouldn't be any problem anymore."

And if you're a woman to boot, you've got it made in handbags.

"Most of the designers in the business are men and they're looking for women handbag designers because a woman will incorporate something a little more feminine in her styles."

Take, for example, the adjustable straps that snap in and out of some of her bags. "If you're going to use the bag as a shoulder bag, you have to allow room under the straps for a coat. That's why most straps are too short. A man doesn't carry a shoulder bag, so how would he know?"

How, indeed.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Name Judge For Exhibit

Annual AAUW Event

ILLINOIS ARTIST: David S. Burnside puts finishing touches to a mural in the Chicago area. He will be judge for the AAUW semi-juried art exhibition scheduled for March 19-23 at the Benton Harbor library.

David S. Burnside, Elmhurst, Ill., artist, has been announced as judge for the 30th annual American Association of University Women Art Exhibition.

Judge's tour for artists will be Saturday, March 19, at 10 a.m. at the Benton Harbor public library.

The exhibit, on the library's second floor, will open to the public March 19 at noon. Hours will be noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 23.

A judge's brunch will be held March 19 at 12:30 p.m. at the Captain's Table, Benton Harbor, by reservation only.

Burnside is a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of the Philadelphia Museum of Art with a bachelor's degree in illustration.

After serving in the United States Army, he began his professional career in the Chicago area with an advertising firm.

Since 1961, he has been freelancing as a mural artist and designer, specializing in commercial and institutional interiors. David Burnside murals are an integral part of the decor in many restaurants, department stores, banks, colleges, and other institutions in the Midwest.

He is presently pioneering in polyester and acrylic designs and has developed laminated stained glass and plastic decorative screens which have proved popular in commercial use.

In the fine art field, Burnside has had many one man shows in Philadelphia and in the Midwest, winning many awards, particularly in the watercolor field.

He also is a lecturer and demonstrator of fine arts techniques.

Burnside Studio is located in Elmhurst, Ill., where the artist and his wife, Shirley, reside with their three children.

In 1973 Burnside was the recipient of $9,000 for first place in the Illinois Bicentennial Commemorative Medallion competition sponsored by The Franklin Mint.

The artist recently completed a two-and-one-half year project of eight individual murals for Talman Federal Savings and Loan, Chicago.

Consciousness-Raising Groups To Begin March 17 At YWCA

Berrien County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) in conjunction with the YWCA is sponsoring consciousness-raising groups, starting Thursday, March 17, at the YWCA, St. Joseph, at 7:30 p.m.

There is no fee involved and all interested women are invited.

"In consciousness-raising groups women have an opportunity to learn to support each other, to gain new feeling of self-respect, to speak about what they are thinking and to respect other women," according to Barbara Miyata who will lead the group.

"Moving the kinds of programs forward upon which equality will depend is going to require not simply changed laws and upgraded salaries but changed attitudes that feminine conditioning normally precludes: a feeling of purposefulness and commitment, an ability to take ourselves seriously, the realization of self-confidence, and, above all, a determination to exercise our will," Mrs. Miyata says.

Further information may be secured by calling Mrs. Miyata or the YWCA, a participating member of Blossomland United Way.

Little Girls Like Ruffles

NEW YORK — (NEA) — She can't sketch well, she doesn't drape and she wouldn't know what to do with a pattern.

For 10 years now, Ruth Scharf has been nondesigning childrenswear and making quite a success of it.

"I was sales manager for a children's sweater firm," she explains, "but I really styled the line for them, which meant picking and choosing the trends and colors I thought would do well. It's really designing without having a design background."

When the sweater firm "began to go downhill, people said why don't you look for another job, but there was that drive and desire to do something on my own so I took whatever money I had and opened my own business." She raps on the table and says, "It's worked."

Every season she and her designer — "I have one girl now right out of design school" — sit down "and we say we need so many groups and I think we need netting and plastic pockets in the line," or some such detail.

The fishnet look and the plastic accountments will appear this spring in the tennis group, part of the middle-to-better priced clothes. Ruth Scharf, Ltd., makes for girls sized toddler to 14.

The white lingerie look shows up in ruffled pants, camisoles tops and eyelet sundresses which "we did in kettle cloth which has the look of linen but is machine washable and performs much better than linen. That's one thing you have to consider in childrenswear."

And there'll be lots of bibbed and tucked peasant clothes with elasticized tops, and calico rompers, skirts and blouses. Plus vivid Hawaiian prints.

If all this is suspiciously similar to what's appearing elsewhere and in womenswear for spring '77, Scharf has an explanation.

"Let's face it," she says, "we all go through the magazines, everybody shops the fabric markets and we all get our feelings through the same things. I don't know any designer except Pauline Trigere, whom I have great respect for, who does their own thing, who are true designers."

"I feel most of them are copyists but then it depends on how you interpret a trend."

And where do the trends

begin? "I think a lot of them start with the fabric and yarn houses in Europe. I subscribe to three fashion services in Europe that work with the fabric people there who get together and say, it's time to change our colors. To spur the economy."

They "predict colors, give you sketches and determine where the looks are going."

And as long as Ruth Scharf can nondesign those looks as attractively as she does, she can keep on knocking on wood.

Manager's Job Created In Township

BY NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Isadore DiMaggio will become St. Joseph township's first manager on April 1, the township board decided last night. DiMaggio, now township treasurer, will take over the management functions now carried out by Supervisor Orval L. Benson.

Benson is paid $13,500 annually as supervisor. He said last night "the complexity of St. Joseph township government operations has increased tremendously over the past few years." He asked to be relieved of most of the management chores, but will continue to conduct board meetings.

DiMaggio said his salary for the newly-created position will be around $21,000 a year. He abstained from the vote to hire him, and the resolution passed 5-0 with one member absent.

Benson said DiMaggio's exact salary will be announced at the annual township meeting April 2. Within six months after DiMaggio becomes township manager, Benson's salary will be reduced commensurate with his reduced duties, Benson said.

St. Joseph township will be the only township in Berrien county to have a township manager.

Last night, the board also voted to appoint Trustee Robert H. DeVries Sr. treasurer to replace DiMaggio. Ernest Knauf, chairman of the township planning commission, will give up that position and fill DeVries' term as a trustee.

Knauf will be appointed as the board's member on the planning commission, a slot formerly held by DeVries. That change means DeVries will no longer be a member of the planners. That vacancy will be filled by appointment by the township board, Benson said. All changes will be effective on April 1.

The appointments of DeVries and Knauf run until the next election in 1978. DiMaggio will serve at the pleasure of the township board.

Benson said township officials have been working on the changes for about a year. He reminded board members that before last election he said it would be his last term in office. He has been supervisor for 17 years, he said.

Benson, 64, told DiMaggio, 30: "It's time to pass the torch to a new generation, and I say, I have a daughter about your age."

Benson's duties as supervisor have kept him so busy this year "that I practically never hunt or fish or take trips," he said. He hopes the reduction in duties will correct that.

DiMaggio said he will resign from his current job as director of career education and summer youth employment at the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce effective April 1.

SJ TOWNSHIP REORGANIZATION: Orval Benson (left), St. Joseph township supervisor for 17 years, asked the township board last night to hand most of his duties over to a full-time township manager, a new position to be filled by Isadore DiMaggio (beside Benson). Robert H. DeVries, Sr. (beside DiMaggio), was appointed township treasurer, a job now held by DiMaggio. Ernest Knauf (right), was appointed township trustee to fill DeVries' trustee seat. All changes will be effective April 1. (Staff photo)

Audit Shows BH Is $343,795 In Red

The City of Benton Harbor spent $343,795 more than it took in during the last fiscal year, according to an audit presented to Benton Harbor city commissioners last night.

The audit, prepared by the Benton Harbor certified public accounting firm of Herkner, the audit, the general fund had revenues of $2,702,588 and spent $2,936,745.

The deficit spending wiped out a $67,928 surplus carried over from the general fund of the previous 1974-1975 fiscal year and resulted in the borrowing from the pension funds.

positive steps to improve the situation."

During the early part of the current 1976-1977 fiscal year — after new commissioners filled recalled seats and several personnel changes occurred — the city began several programs to crack down on people with delinquent personal property taxes and water bills. In the general fund, departments that overspent the amount budgeted for them included (amount budgeted followed by amount spent in parentheses): city attorney, $43,492 ($89,941); mayor-commissioner office, $20,992 ($31,463); city manager, $66,747 ($77,512); highways and streets, $60,998 ($96,914); and street lighting, $102,000 ($119,687).

Other expenditures beyond the amount planned in the original budget included $42,689 more in uncollectible taxes, a $95,320 increase in general administration, and $49,960 the city paid out for the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program that was not reimbursed by the federal CETA agency.

Outside of the general fund, the city recorded a total deficit of $109,638 for other operations. In other matters last night, the city commission approved application for three state grants, totaling $115,678, to make landscaping improvements along the St. Joseph river in the Riverview drive area and to add recreational equipment at Broadway, Hall and Union parks.

The city is requesting funds from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources and will provide 30 per cent of the money for the three grants from the city's third-year Community Development program, according to City Manager Melvin Farmer Jr.

A $62,218 grant would provide for grading and landscaping and building a parking lot across Riverview drive from K-mart near the former Penn Central railroad tracks.

Another $33,460 would be used for grading and landscaping an area south of the present boat ramp and adding playground equipment and benches.

Playground equipment, a softball field, and a park shelter would be built at the city's three parks with the $20,000 grant.

The commission also approved the appointment of 13 people to serve as the board of directors of the newly-organized Economic Development corporation created to foster business and industrial growth in Benton Harbor.

Appointed to the board of the quasi-public corporation were Mayor Joel Patterson, Commissioner Michael Govatos, Maurice Bishop, owner of All Time Pest Control; Percy Carr, Johnny's Fashion; Don Clark, Gardner's Sports and Marine; Dick Gates, Ned Gates Chevrolet; Leon Gideon, Barentsen Candy Co.; Robert Gillespie, Gillespie Drugs; Victor Greer, Durable Products; Vic McKinney, Discount Furniture and Appliances; John Rowady, manager of K-mart; Robert Small, Inter-City bank; and Richard Whiteman, Farmers and Merchants National bank.

The commission also appointed Frank Lahr, representative of the First of Michigan brokerage firm in St. Joseph; Terry Hartlerode, representative from Inter-City bank; and Commissioner Tommie Parks to the recently-established investment advisory committee to help recommend how the city should invest its funds.

Neglect Of Baby Charged

A 19-year-old Benton Harbor woman pleaded innocent Monday in Berrien Fifth District court to contributing to the neglect of a child — leaving an infant boy home alone while she attended a dance.

Sharon Wallace, of 554 East Main street, was released on $1,000 bond after she was arraigned before Judge Ronald J. Taylor. She waived a jury trial and petitioned for a court appointed attorney.

She is accused in a warrant of leaving 10-month-old Andre Bushay Wallace, 18 months, in her apartment alone while she went to a dance Saturday night.

Sgt. Charles Harrison and Patrolman James Spalo reported they went to 554 East Main Saturday after receiving a complaint, pried open the door of a locked apartment and found an infant boy asleep.

The officers said Sharon Wallace was arrested after she appeared at the police station about 12:30 a.m. Sunday. Harrison and Spalo quoted Ms. Wallace as saying she had engaged a babysitter and had left a key in a vacant apartment in the house, but the sitter apparently failed to appear.

Police said the boy was turned over to the Berrien county department of social services' protective services unit which placed him with a relative of Ms. Wallace.

Marina Plan Cleared For Bond Issue

A public hearing to determine if construction of a proposed marina in St. Joseph township would help the township's economy drew complaints last night from people who live near the proposed site. Two people were opposed to the diversion of a small stream that they said will be part of the project, and two other said they were concerned about the appearance of the planned 240-slip marina. It would be built on the east side of the St. Joseph river, just south of the Benton Harbor city limits.

However, last night's hearing before the township board did not concern approval of the project. Supervisor Orval Benson told the audience. The hearing only involved designating the marina as a "project area."

Board members voted 6-0 to designate the marina project, which means financing could be through issuing tax exempt bonds rather than a commercial bank loan. The board's recommendation will be considered by the county planning commission, whose approval is also needed before the bonds can be issued, according to Charles Schrenk, county economic developer for the Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce.

Schrenk said from two to four more public hearings on the matter will be needed. Under the plan, revenue bonds for $1.2 million would be issued through Berrien county, he said.

Benson said the board action in no way is an approval for the construction, only for the financing method that will be used if the board later approves the plans for the marina.

The planning commission last week gave tentative approval to partial plans for the marina, and the matter will come before the board at a later meeting. A group of private investors wants to build the estimated $1.5 million marina, which would be private. Bonds would finance about $1.2 million of the project.

The designation was granted with provisions: that owners not seek a tax exemption for the property and that the stream running west into the marina area and the St. Joseph river be kept open for boats.

Roger Huelsberg, of 560 West May, said he favors the marina plan but opposes any diversion of the stream that would bar access to the river. Huelsberg said he keeps a boat in the stream channel.

Walter Clements, one of the eight new owners of the 17-acre site, told the board that the channel won't be closed off.

Also at last night's meeting the board voted 3-1 to turn down a request by Nye's Orchards to rezone land to allow smaller lots in the Highlands Estates subdivision.

Atty. Jerrold Nye was before the board appealing a vote against the rezoning by the township planning commission last week. The request by Nye's Orchards, involving the subdivision just north of I-94 and east of Niles avenue, drew protests from residents of the subdivision.

Nye wanted the board to allow lots of at least 12,000 square feet in an area now zoned for lots of a minimum size of 20,000 square feet. Before the board turned down his appeal last night, he indicated that if he lost the appeal he might redesign the section of the subdivision for 20,000-square-foot lots.

The board also approved plans for two new subdivisions in the township.

Approved were the Meadowdale Manor subdivision, to be located south of Nelson road between Washington and Cleveland avenues, an 89-lot development, and Hillview Downs 2, a nine-lot subdivision planned for an area north of Hickory creek between Cleveland and Washington avenues.

A building permit for a medical building near the corner of Lincoln avenue and Niles road was also approved last night. The building will be used by Drs. H.K. Mariyappa and J.S. Judge.

Board members voted to issue a building permit to Robert Pozniwko, who plans to construct a building on property he owns at Cleveland and Hawthorne avenues. The building will house specialty shops, he said.

It was also announced that a hearing on ways to spend the township's annual $41,000 revenue sharing budget will be held March 21 at 8 p.m. at Fairplain West school.

ROBERT QUEVILLON, M.D.
Heads Berrien Society

Robert Quevillon, M.D., has been elected to serve as President of the Berrien County Medical Society. Dr. Quevillon has his practice in Benton Harbor in the specialty of internal medicine.

He is a diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine and a member of the American Society of Internal Medicine, the Michigan State Medical Society, the American Medical Association, and the Michigan Association of Physicians.

He resides with his wife and two children, Joel and Melissa in Fairplain. He is on the board of trustees at the First Baptist church of St. Joseph.

Dr. Quevillon graduated from the Stritch Loyola School of Medicine in Chicago. His internship was served at Northwestern University of Chicago Wesley Memorial hospital. He held a residency in internal medicine at University of Mississippi in Jackson, Miss.

He is past chief of medicine and past chief of coronary care unit at Mercy hospital. He holds a courtesy staff membership at Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

High Grades

Monica Naines, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Naines, 314 Murphy court, St. Joseph, has been named to the dean's list for high grades received during the fall term at Samford university, Birmingham, Ala. Miss Naines is a biology major.

Three Stevensville Races Uncontested

Two incumbents and one newcomer will go unopposed when they seek trustee posts on the Stevensville village council in the annual election Monday, March 14.

Seeking two-year terms at B.W. Yaslick and Charles "Bud" Kerlikowski, both incumbents, and Carl H. Kolb. All are Republicans.

Yaslick, 80, 5513 St. Joseph avenue, has served as trustee and mayor pro-tem the past 29 years. He is retired superintendent of the village public works department and presently serves as its advisor.

Kerlikowski, 52, 5787 Mill street, owner of Bud Kerly Sales, Inc., Stevensville, is seeking his fourth term in office. Kolb, 54, 3017 Johnson road, is employed at Whirlpool Corp., St. Joseph.

The audit reports the city borrowed $500,000 from the city and firemen's pension fund and $590,000 from the general employees pension fund during the 1975-1976 fiscal year.

Berrien Circuit Court Judge Chester Byrns ordered the city to add six mills to its property tax rolls to help pay off the $500,000 borrowed from the police and firemen's pension fund. The order requires that three assessments of two mills each are to be added to the December, 1976, and the June and December, 1977, tax rolls to pay off the loan.

The audit also indicates the general employees pension board has asked the city to propose a repayment plan after receiving the current audit report.

While noting that "a critical financial situation exists," William E. Smits, a partner in the firm which presented the audit to city commissioners, said the city has been taking some steps recently to improve the city's financial outlook.

"We realize that some of the deficiencies or problems are a result of the political unrest and personnel turnover (during that period)," Smits said. "We feel that the city has, subsequent to our examination, taken some

USE OF TESTIMONY IN DISPUTE

Purnell Retrial May Face Delay

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The murder trial for David Jordan Purnell had been scheduled to begin next Monday in Eaton county on a charge of venue from Berrien county.

But whether the trial will actually start then is up to the state appellate court because of complications which arose yesterday during a hearing for Purnell before Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White.

White upheld prosecution plans to use Purnell's testimony from the first trial in the new trial. Purnell's testimony then included an admission he killed

Janet Uland. Defense attorneys said they will appeal yesterday's ruling the testimony could be used in the second trial.

White in January ordered Purnell's trial changed to Charlotte, the county seat of Eaton county. He held that Purnell's confession during the first trial, held in Berrien county, that he murdered Miss Uland and his second degree murder conviction were widely-known facts.

Purnell, 28, was sentenced to life in prison by White in 1972 for the 1971 slaying of Miss Uland, of St. Joseph, but he won a reversal of the conviction and is to have a new trial.

Purnell's confession during the first trial was a subject of yesterday's hearing. The prosecution had filed a notice of intent to use Purnell's testimony from the first trial as actual evidence in the new trial and the defense objected.

White noted there was no case law in Michigan governing such a matter, and held that since Purnell had taken the stand voluntarily during his trial, the confession he made was of his own free will and therefore the prosecution could introduce it as evidence in the new trial.

Defense Attys. Roman Plaszczak and James Bauhof of Kalamazoo said they would appeal White's ruling to the Michigan Court of Appeals. Court officials noted an appeal of that nature would usually take months before a decision is reached and the trial would have to be rescheduled.

But White said he was informed late Monday afternoon by the prosecutor's office that the appellate court said it may grant an emergency leave to appeal, meaning the appeals court would consider the matter immediately and possibly have a ruling before the scheduled start of trial.

He added he did not know when the appeals court would announce whether or not it would grant the emergency leave.

Purnell's 1972 conviction was overturned by the state appellate court because the court held White did not instruct the jury they could find Purnell "not guilty." That instruction was not required at the time of the trial because Purnell based his defense on insanity, but the appellate court held it should be applied retroactively.

Today's Wedding Reception Traditional And Informal

MIDLAND — Today's wedding receptions are likely to be large, fun gatherings where guests eat, drink, dance and have a merry time — with the bride's family still picking up the tab in most cases, according to Kathy Clouse, manager of NADA Center and catering services at Northwood Institute.

Mrs. Clouse schedules wedding receptions, meetings and other functions held at Northwood facilities and offers her observations on the latest trends in area weddings.

Probably because today's bride is a busy working woman, the bride's mother is likely to be the one doing the reception planning, she observes. "Often we don't see the bride until the actual day of the wedding."

A main concern is providing a good meal for the guests, she says. No punch and dainty sandwiches for today's bridal celebrations. Large, hot buffets featuring roast beef, chicken and ham with all the salads, vegetables and trimmings are the most popular. With a plentifulness of beverages, she adds. And the guests anxiously anticipate the hearty fest put on for them. "Sometimes, the bride and groom don't even go through the line first."

Flowers and cake are important considerations in the planning of the wedding, Mrs. Clouse says. Although floral decorations are still desired, there are not the luxurious sprays of color and green that have prevailed in the past. However, the bridal party is still bedecked with bouquets and boutonnieres and the parents and grandparents with corsages, also.

The most popular wedding cake recipe, according to Mrs. Clouse, is a fruitcake, instead of the smooth white cake.

And the little plastic bride and groom standing at attention at the top of the cake have been replaced by flowers — real ones or icing products of the cake decorator. Baked pieces of the groom's cake, usually chocolate, are for the guests to take home.

Large bridal parties with many attendants, ushers, flower girls and ringbearers are the rule, rather than the exception. And second weddings are also celebrated with a flourish.

"We're arranging more outdoor summer weddings than ever," Mrs. Clouse said. "Sometimes with the reception being held outdoors, too. The indoor facilities on campus provide convenient back-up alternatives, so inclement weather is not a major problem."

"Etiquette is becoming more relaxed," says Mrs. Clouse. "The traditional receiving line outside the reception area is quickly fading away. Instead an informal camaraderie prevails. Everyone just mixes with everyone else. And the best man doesn't always make the traditional toast.

Music and dancing are "a must" for local weddings hosted at Northwood facilities, she says, with family and friends of the bride and groom dancing late into the night. And the newlyweds usually stay around to mingle and enjoy their big celebration. They're likely to stay as late as the guests do, she added.

The tradition of the bridal bouquet toss is still intact. "But I don't know what ever happened to the removing and tossing of the bride's garter," Mrs. Clouse said. "That's quite uncommon, we've noticed. And when the guests of honor do depart, the groom is not likely to sweep his new wife up into his arms and carry her off into the night. They make simple departures."

The wedding reception is still a tradition in that it is still an integral part of the wedding day. But many of old formalities within the party have been looked over in favor of a relaxed, merry atmosphere.

"As long as everyone has a good time — that's what's important. After all, the wedding day is one of celebration."

Musical At Lakeshore

FUNNY GIRL: Lakeshore high school will present the musical, "Funny Girl," Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets are $2 and are available at the high school and at the door before each performance. Teach Children To Guard Health

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Will that smiling baby in your arms grow up to suffer heart disease, cancer or a stroke? The answer may lie in your baby's body now. No longer must we wait for years to know. Medical science has discovered ways to predict these physical illnesses.

As they grow older, children should be taught the impact of smoking, the danger of being overweight, having a high cholesterol level and failing to exercise regularly. That is the opinion of Christine W. Williams, M.D., of the American Health Foundation of New York, a no-profit organization for prevention of heart disease, cancer and stroke.

"With 40 per cent of our caloric consumption made up of fats, a three to one ratio of saturated fat, to unsaturated fats, and a high intake of cholesterol and calories from junk foods, our children have higher cholesterol levels and greater risk of coronary disease later in life than children in almost any other country in the world," says Dr. Williams.

She and the head of the American Health Foundation wrote an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association in which they warned that cholesterol levels of the average American child at age three is equal to a middle-aged man in countries such as Japan, where coronary heart disease still is low.

Dr. Williams, who works largely with school children between the ages of 11 and 14, believes it is possible to make them aware of their bodies and convince them of the value of eating sensibly.

"Children are intelligent. When very young, screen them for hidden threats to future health. Get the parents interested, too, and create a community of inquiry. Don't wait until they grow older. Extreme youth is the time to prevent later breakdown. It can be done — with patience, knowledge and examples," she explains.

Pediatricians should be warned that future medical examinations of small children should include registering of family history of early heart disease, blood pressure and testing for cholesterol. If threats of future heart disease are shown, preventive measures can begin at once.

Here are some tips from "Valuable Hints From the American Heart Association Cookbook":

Use lean meats and trim off excess fat. In roasting meats, use low temperatures (about 350 degrees) to increase the fat drip-off. High temperatures sear the meat, sealing in fat.

Select fat-free or low-fat dairy products such as skim milk, cheeses made from skim milk which is low in fat and high in protein — such as low-fat cottage cheese, Parmesan, ricotta, mozzarella — and use polyunsaturated oils — corn, peanut, safflower — for cooking and salad dressing.

Thinking About Thinking

EAST LANSING— Even the trained professional may become so ensnared in outworn and outdated ideas that he or she cannot accept innovations or think in fresh new ways.

This is the belief of Dr. D. Gordon Rohman of Michigan State university's lifelong education programs who revealed a method he has devised to persuade people to examine their thinking.

Dr. Rohman keynoted a conference, Interpersonal Communications in the World of Work, at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

"Thinking About Thinking" was his topic as he addressed 200 women and a few men attending the educational session sponsored by the MSU Business Women's club.

Rohman, a charismatic six-footer, used cartoons and their captions to show in hilarious ways "how people think or — more often — don't think about problems."

"You, too, may be a victim of 'concept prisons,'" he counseled his audience.

Concept prisons, the educator explained, are ways of thinking that trap people in outworn or inadequate ideas and prevent them from having new ideas when they are needed.

For instance, he showed a caveman proudly exhibiting to a contemporary, his latest invention — a wheel chipped out of stone.

"But how are you going to hit people with it," responded the friend, trapped in the idea of a stone as a weapon.

The caveman, caught up in a concept prison so that he could not see the stone as a wheel, is not unlike some of today's administrators, Rohman said.

He showed a cartoon of an office boss angrily commanding an employee, "Get to work! Think on your own time!"

Strange as it may seem, he said, "Today's idea of work frequently precludes the idea of thinking."

Work, therefore, becomes a concept prison that prevents thinking on the job.

Other cartoons revealed ways which individuals . . . and institutions . . . may escape from the mind-forged manacles which imprison.

"Just as with improving the golf swing or the tennis serve, the first step is to think about what you are doing," he advised.

"Think before you think!"

Dr. Rohman, professor of English and former dean of Justin Morrill college, Michigan State university, is a special consultant to the president of MSU for lifelong education.

Club Elects New Officers

Garden Group

Mrs. Beryl W. (MaryLee) Bailey has been elected president of the Blossomland Garden club.

Other new officers are Mrs. Charles (June) Rollinger, vice president; Mrs. John (Betsy) Hammond, secretary; Mrs. Edward (Margaret) Risch, treasurer; Mrs. Oscar (Mary) Tichy, social chairman; Mrs. Edgar (Ruth Ann) Ross, historian-publicity; Mrs. Marvin (Jean) Waldenmaier, Garden Council representative, and Mrs. Robert (Ann) Lemons, Christmas project.

Blossomland Garden club is a member of the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Inc., Twin Cities Area Garden Council, and is a charter member of the Grand Mere association.

Members of the club are active gardeners.

Among activities planned for the year will be a meeting and field trip to Love Creek. Members will present programs on "How to Dry Flowers for Arrangements" and "How to Take Care of Mums."

A trip to a flower shop is planned for members to learn how to take care of their house plants. Members make Christmas projects for their homes and a Christmas brunch concludes the club year.

In past years, the club has sponsored area teachers to the Higgins Lake Conservation School.

Mrs. Bailey holds a degree in interior design from Michigan State university and does free lance interior designing.

In addition to serving as president of Blossomland Garden club, Mrs. Bailey is also recording secretary of the Twin Cities Area Garden Council.

She is a member of the Christian Science church. Her hobbies include gardening, sewing and reading.

Mrs. Bailey and her husband are the parents of two children, Kristen, 7, and Kathy, 5. The family resides at 3315 Lake Shore drive, St. Joseph.

ATTENTION! Future Brides

Brides-to-be planning engagement announcements and wedding stories in this newspaper are asked to observe the following rules:

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Annual AAUW Event

ILLINOIS ARTIST: David S. Burnside puts finishing touches to a mural in the Chicago area. He will be judge for the AAUW semi-annual art exhibition scheduled for March 19-23 at the Benton Harbor library.

David S. Burnside, Elmhurst, Ill., artist, has been announced as judge for the 30th annual American Association of University Women Art Exhibition.

Judge's tour for artists will be Saturday, March 19, at 10 a.m. at the Benton Harbor public library.

The exhibit, on the library's second floor, will open to the public March 19 at noon. Hours will be noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, 9 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 23.

A judge's brunch will be held March 19 at 12:30 p.m. at the Captain's Table, Benton Harbor, by reservation only.

Burnside is a native of Philadelphia and a graduate of the Philadelphia Museum of Art with a bachelor's degree in illustration.

After serving in the United States Army, he began his professional career in the Chicago area with an advertising firm.

Since 1961, he has been freelancing as a mural artist and designer, specializing in commercial and institutional interiors. David Burnside murals are an integral part of the decor in many restaurants, department stores, banks, colleges, and other institutions in the Midwest.

He is presently pioneering in polyester and acrylic designs and has developed laminated stained glass and plastic decorative screens which have proved popular in commercial use.

In the fine art field, Burnside has had many one man shows in Philadelphia and in the Midwest, winning many awards, particularly in the watercolor field.

He also is a lecturer and demonstrator of fine arts techniques.

Burnside Studio is located in Elmhurst, Ill., where the artist and his wife, Shirley, reside with their three children.

In 1973 Burnside was the recipient of $9,000 for first place in the Illinois Bicentennial Commemorative Medallion competition sponsored by The Franklin Mint.

The artist recently completed a two-and-one-half year project of eight individual murals for Talman Federal Savings and Loan, Chicago.

Consciousness-Raising Groups To Begin March 17 At YWCA

Berrien County Chapter of the National Organization for Women (NOW) in conjunction with the YWCA is sponsoring consciousness-raising groups, starting Thursday, March 17, at the YWCA, St. Joseph, at 7:30 p.m.

There is no fee involved and all interested women are invited.

"In consciousness-raising groups women have an opportunity to learn to support each other, to gain new feeling of self-respect, to speak about what they are thinking and to respect other women," according to Barbara Miyata who will lead the group.

"Moving the kinds of programs forward upon which equality will depend is going to require not simply changed laws and upgraded salaries but changed attitudes that feminine conditioning normally precludes; a feeling of purposefulness and commitment, an ability to take ourselves seriously, the realization of self-confidence, and, above all, a determination to exercise our will," Mrs. Miyata says.

Further information may be secured by calling Mrs. Miyata or the YWCA, a participating member of Blossomland United Way.

Little Girls Like Ruffles

NEW YORK — (NEA) — She can't sketch well, she doesn't drape and she wouldn't know what to do with a pattern.

For 10 years now, Ruth Scharf has been non-designing childrenswear and making quite a success of it.

"I was sales manager for a children's sweater firm," she explains, "but I really styled the line for them, which meant picking and choosing the trends and colors I thought would do well. It's really designing without having a design background."

When the sweater firm "began to go downhill, people said why don't you look for another job, but there was that drive and desire to do something on my own so I took whatever money I had and opened my own business." She raps on the table and says, "It's worked."

Every season she and her designer — "I have one girl now right out of design school" — sit down "and we say we need so many groups and I think we need netting and plastic pockets in the line," or some such detail.

The fishnet look and the plastic accouterments will appear this spring in the tennis group, part of the middle-to-better-priced clothes Ruth Scharf, Ltd., makes for girls sized toddler to 14.

The white lingerie look shows up in ruffled pants, camisole tops and eyelet sundresses which "we did in kettle cloth which has the look of linen but is machine washable and performs much better than linen. That's one thing you have to consider in childrenswear."

And there'll be lots of bibbed and tucked peasant clothes with elasticized tops, and calico rompers, skirts and blouses. Plus vivid Hawaiian prints.

If all this is suspiciously similar to what's appearing elsewhere and in womenswear for spring '77, Scharf has an explanation.

"Let's face it," she says, "we all go through the magazines, everybody shops the fabric markets and we all get our feelings through the same things. I don't know any designer except Pauline Trigere, whom I have great respect for, who does their own thing, who are true designers."

"I feel most of them are copyists but then it depends on how you interpret a trend."

And where do the trends

begin? "I think a lot of them start with the fabric and yarn houses in Europe. I subscribe to three fashion services in Europe that work with the fabric people there who get together and say, it's time to change our colors. To spur the economy."

They "predict colors, give you sketches and determine where the looks are going."

And as long as Ruth Scharf can non-design those looks as attractively as she does, she can keep on knocking on wood.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Insensitive Bridal Couple

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter and future son-in-law have asked us to exclude her sister and her husband from their wedding ceremony and the reception following because she is a white woman who married a black.

My husband and I have accepted our black son-in-law and believe he and our daughter would be terribly offended if they were not invited to the wedding.

The bridal couple insists they will not have a church wedding or reception unless we respect their wishes. Please advise at once. — N.Y. Bird

Dear N.Y.: A bride who would ask her parents to exclude her sister from a family wedding for any reason deserves to be told, "Sorry. There will be NO wedding or reception. We refuse to leave your sister and her husband off the guest list."

Eyes Appreciated

Dear Miss Landers: We appreciated the letter from "Sam Bernardino Mother."

When her 21-year-old son died in an accident, she wished someone had mentioned donating his eyes or kidneys. Knowing he had helped give sight or added years would have helped her accept the loss.

We at the Florida Lions Eye Bank occasionally get to speak to families in this situation. Even though they are extremely upset, they derive sustaining comfort and strength from the knowledge that someone has benefited from their loss.

We keep a permanent registry of eye donors on file and would feel most fortunate if the "immediate world" would sign a donor form prior to expiration. Please tell your readers, Ann, that even though a person has not made such a provision, the next of kin can, at the time of his or her death, sign permission for the donation of eyes or kidneys.

Through the letter from the bereaved mother which you ran in your column, the family of a 19-year-old boy donated his eyes to the eye bank the following day, when he died in an accident. Bless you. — Sol Widener, Florida Lions Eye

Dear S.W.: Thanks for letting me know. Again I suggest that anyone who wants to will his eyes, kidneys, or heart can do so by writing for a Uniform Organ Donor Card. The address is the National Kidney Foundation, Box 800, New York, New York 10010.

Drop Lover

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and Jerry is 21. He says he loves me and I thought he did. For Christmas he gave me a raccoon jacket. Jerry started to get cozy with my 13-year-old sister behind my back. When I saw him kiss her, he said he was being "brotherly." Yesterday he confessed he likes her a lot and wants to take us both out. I talked to my sister and she confessed they have kissed "several times" and he tried to go further.

If my parents knew they wouldn't let him in the house. Sis isn't even allowed to date. I'm not blaming her. She doesn't know what it's all about. I thought Jerry loved me and I'm heart sick. What should I do? — Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear F.W.: Give him the air so fast he'll catch pneumonia from the breeze. Return the raccoon jacket as a final gesture. And for heaven's sake, tell your little sister the score. She needs guidance from an older and wiser head. P.S. Don't be heart sick, honey, a bargain he wasn't.

Don't miss Ann Landers' article, "What I Know Now That I Didn't Know Then" in the April 5 issue of Family Circle — available on March 8.

Men's Swimwear Look

TOUCH OF HOLLYWOOD: Probably no connection whatsoever exists between the sleeper sensation of writer-star Sylvester Stallone (the Italian Stallion in his movie "Rocky") and the sudden emergence (minus boxing gloves) of trunks as the hardest-hitting men's swimwear look for resort vacations and for poolside this summer. But there is a touch of Hollywood in it, since the critically acclaimed trunks trend started in golden California. Along with the boxer revival, swimwear is also going au naturel. Not in the buff, but in the natural fibers that also are becoming so popular for this spring and summer. At left, this swimwear ensemble — the cabana set of the past — is in 100 per cent cotton canvas. Beige pullover beach shirt with spread collar is teamed with tailored zip-front swim trunks with slash pockets. At right are drawstring terry, single-pocketed trunks worn with a hooded, drawstring waisted parka with pouch pockets.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's no doubt you can make gains today, but you may not enjoy what you accumulate. There are too many problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may face a potentially serious disagreement between you and your mate today. It can be prevented with unselfish compromise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The route to your goals is fraught with many obstacles today. If you are singular of purpose you will not be easily dissuaded.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't put your usual faith in those you trust if buying or investing today. Though their intentions are good, they could lead you astray.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ordinarily you'd not do things for others just to feather your nest. Today, however, such motives could guide your actions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a tendency to treat people too sternly at first today. Once you become more compassionate, you'll fare better.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Money matters are a mixed bag for you today. The elation of a windfall could be offset when an old debt rears its head.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to use others to further your ambitions today. It's far better to enjoy them as friends or individuals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's folly to cling to archaic ideas that you know won't work. Use your nimble mind to select timely alternatives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's probable persons you can usually depend upon won't be there when you need them today. Figure how to get along without them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Safeguard your own interests today. The only person you can really count upon is you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't try to delegate authority today. If you want something done right, do it yourself.

Today's Wedding Reception Traditional And Informal

MIDLAND — Today's wedding receptions are likely to be large, fun gatherings where guests eat, drink, dance and have a merry time — with the bride's family still picking up the tab in most cases, according to Kathy Clouse, manager of NADA Center and catering services at Northwood Institute.

Mrs. Clouse schedules wedding receptions, meetings and other functions held at Northwood facilities and offers her observations on the latest trends in area weddings.

Probably because today's bride is a busy working woman, the bride's mother is likely to be the one doing the reception planning, she observes. "Often we don't see the bride until the actual day of the wedding."

A main concern is providing a good meal for the guests, she says. No punch and dainty sandwiches for today's bridal celebrations. Large, hot buffets featuring roast beef, chicken and ham with all the salads, vegetables and trimmings are the most popular. With a plen-tifulness of beverages, she adds. And the guests anxiously anticipate the hearty fest put on for them. "Sometimes, the bride and groom don't even go through the line first."

Flowers and cake are important considerations in the planning of the wedding, Mrs. Clouse says. Although floral decorations are still desired, there are not the luxurious sprays of color and green that have prevailed in the past. However, the bridal party is still bedecked with bouquets and boutonnieres and the parents and grandparents with corsages, also.

The most popular wedding cake recipe, according to Mrs. Clouse, is a fruitcake, instead of the smooth white cake.

And the little plastic bride and groom standing at attention at the top of the cake have been replaced by flowers — real ones or icing products of the cake decorator. Boxed pieces of the groom's cake, usually chocolate, are for the guests to take home.

Large bridal parties with many attendants, ushers, flower girls and ringbearers are the rule, rather than the exception. And second weddings are also celebrated with a flourish.

"We're arranging more outdoor summer weddings than ever," Mrs. Clouse said. "Sometimes with the reception being held outdoors, too. The indoor facilities on campus provide convenient back-up alternatives, so inclement weather is not a major problem."

"Etiquette is becoming more relaxed," says Mrs. Clouse. "The traditional receiving line outside the reception area is quickly fading away. Instead an informal camaraderie prevails. Everyone just mixes with everyone else. And the best man doesn't always make the traditional toast."

Music and dancing are "a must" for local weddings hosted at Northwood facilities, she says, with family and friends of the bride and groom dancing late into the night. And the newlyweds usually stay around to mingle and enjoy their big celebration. They're likely to stay as late as the guests do, she added.

The tradition of the bridal bouquet toss is still intact. "But I don't know what ever happened to the removing and tossing of the bride's garter," Mrs. Clouse said. "That's quite uncommon, we've noticed. And when the guests of honor do depart, the groom is not likely to sweep his new wife up into his arms and carry her off into the night. They make simple departures."

The wedding reception is still a tradition in that it is still an integral part of the wedding day. But many of old formalities within the party have been looked over in favor of a relaxed, merry atmosphere.

"As long as everyone has a good time — that's what's important. After all, the wedding day is one of celebration."

Musical At Lakeshore

FUNNY GIRL: Lakeshore high school will present the musical, "Funny Girl," Friday and Saturday, March 11 and 12, at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Tickets are $2 and are available at the high school and at the door before each performance. Songs from the popular musical include "Sadie, Sadie," "I'm the Greatest Star," "Don't Rain On My Parade" and "People." Directors are Dennis Lundgren and Cliff ford Herron. Tonda Bian is choreographer. At left are Peggy Swishelm and Buddy Frenzel as Fanny Brice, the Ziegfeld star, and Nick Arnstein, her handsome gambler husband. At right are Julie Belonger as Mrs. Brice; Craig Steenbergh as Eddie Stokes, who transforms the awkward young Fanny into a talented actress, and Paul Wesner as Mrs. Strakosh, Mrs. Brice's best friend and gossip. Teach Children To Guard Health

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Will that smiling baby in your arms grow up to suffer heart disease, cancer or a stroke? The answer may lie in your baby's body now. No longer must we wait for years to know. Medical science has discovered ways to predict these physical illnesses.

As they grow older, children should be taught the impact of smoking, the danger of being overweight, having a high cholesterol level and failing to exercise regularly. That is the opinion of Christine W. Williams, M.D., of the American Health Foundation of New York, a no-profit organization for prevention of heart disease, cancer and stroke.

"With 40 per cent of our caloric consumption made up of fats, a three to one ratio of saturated fat, to unsaturated fats, and a high intake of cholesterol and calories from junk foods, our children have higher cholesterol levels and greater risk of coronary disease later in life than children in almost any other country in the world," says Dr. Williams.

She and the head of the American Heart Association wrote an article in the Journal of the American Medical Association in which they warned that cholesterol levels of the average American child at age three is equal to a middle-aged man in countries such as Japan, where coronary heart disease still is low.

Dr. Williams, who works largely with school children between the ages of 11 and 14, believes it is possible to make them aware of their bodies and convince them of the value of eating sensibly.

"Children are intelligent. When very young, screen them for hidden threats to future health. Get the parents interested, too, and create a community of inquiry. Don't wait until they grow older. Extreme youth is the time to prevent later breakdown. It can be done — with patience, knowledge and examples," she explains.

Pediatricians should be warned that future medical examinations of small children should include registering of family history of early heart disease, blood pressure and testing for cholesterol. If threats of future heart disease are shown, preventive measures can begin at once.

Here are some tips from "Valuable Hints From the American Heart Association Cookbook":

Use lean meats and trim off excess fat. In roasting meats, use low temperatures (about 350 degrees) to increase the fat drip-off. High temperatures sear the meat, sealing in fat.

Select fat-free or low-fat dairy products such as skim milk, cheeses made from skim milk which is low in fat and high in protein — such as low-fat cottage cheese, Parmesan, ricotta, mozzarella — and use polyunsaturated oils — corn, peanut, safflower — for cooking and salad dressing.

Club Circuit

ALGONQUIN CHAPTER. Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10, at the First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan, 4000 Red Arrow Highway, St. Joseph. Donald Stuck will speak on "Remove Not Our Family Tree." There will be an ingathering of clothing for the American Indians. Winners of the American History Essay contest will be guests. Mrs. Thomas Gillespie is chairman of the hostess committee.

Thinking About Thinking

EAST LANSING — Even the trained professional may become so ensnared in outworn and outdated ideas that he or she cannot accept innovations or think in fresh new ways.

This is the belief of Dr. D. Gordon Rohman of Michigan State university's lifelong education programs who revealed a method he has devised to persuade people to examine their thinking.

Dr. Rohman keynoted a conference, Interpersonal Communications in the World of Work, at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

"Thinking About Thinking" was his topic as he addressed 200 women and a few men attending the educational session sponsored by the MSU Business Women's club.

Rohman, a charismatic six-footer, used cartoons and their captions to show in hilarious ways "how people think or — more often — don't think about problems."

"You, too, may be a victim of 'concept prisons,'" he counseled his audience.

Concept prisons, the educator explained, are ways of thinking that trap people in outworn or inadequate ideas and prevent them from having new ideas when they are needed.

For instance, he showed a caveman proudly exhibiting to a contemporary, his latest invention — a wheel chipped out of stone.

"But how are you going to hit people with it," responded the friend, trapped in the idea of a stone as a weapon.

The caveman, caught up in a concept prison so that he could not see the stone as a wheel, is not unlike some of today's administrators, Rohman said.

He showed a cartoon of an office boss angrily commanding an employee. "Get to work! Think on your own time!"

Strange as it may seem, he said, "Today's idea of work frequently precludes the idea of thinking."

Work, therefore, becomes a concept prison that prevents thinking on the job.

Other cartoons revealed ways which individuals . . . and institutions . . . may escape from the mind-forged manacles which imprison.

"Just as with improving the golf swing or the tennis serve, the first step is to think about what you are doing," he advised.

"Think before you think!"

Dr. Rohman, professor of English and former dean of Justin Morrill college, Michigan State university, is a special consultant to the president of MSU for lifelong education.

FAIRPLAIN PLAZA

Juvenile Defendant Identified Court Strikes Down Gag Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday struck down a decision by Oklahoma courts barring three Oklahoma City newspapers from publishing the name and picture of an 11-year-old boy charged in a shooting death.

The court's unsigned opinion was the first free-press decision since it ruled last June that prior restraints on reporting rarely could be justified and that judges must take all other available measures to insure fair trials before resorting to so-called "gag orders."

The high court said that an Oklahoma judge abridged freedom of the press by issuing his gag order. The court said the information barred from publication was obtained in a public hearing and could not be suppressed.

The gag order challenge by the Oklahoma Publishing Co.

took on added significance when the American Newspaper Publishers Association, in a friend-of-the-court brief, urged the justices to use the case to establish "perimeters within which courts may issue prior restraints upon the press, if there be any such."

The court Monday did not go that far.

The justices last November temporarily struck down the effects of the gag order issued by Oklahoma County Judge Charles E. Halley, allowing the three newspapers owned by the Oklahoma Publishing Co. to report fully on the young boy's trial and sentencing.

The publishing firms own the Daily Oklahoman, the Oklahoma City Times and the Sunday Oklahoman.

Larry Donnell Brewer, 11, was arrested last July and charged in the shooting death of an Oklahoma railroad switchman. The boy's name and picture were widely displayed by the local news media after reporters attended a preliminary hearing.

Halley then issued a pretrial order prohibiting further display, ruling that the boy's right to rehabilitation outweighed any freedom of the press considerations or the public's right to know.

The youngster was later convicted of delinquency by second-degree manslaughter.

The Supreme Court is passing up an opportunity to decide whether the death penalty is valid for someone who took part in a crime leading to murder but didn't actually kill anyone.

That question was a key issue in an appeal by a condemned Texas inmate, Ernest Benjamin Smith Jr. The court refused to consider his case Monday. Only three of nine justices voted to hear his arguments, one vote short.

Smith, 29, a resident of the state's death row at Huntsville, was convicted in the 1973 armed robbery of a Dallas convenience store in which clerk William Moon was shot and killed. Testimony at Smith's trial established that his criminal partner, Howie Robinson, shot Moon as the clerk appeared to be reaching for a hidden gun.

In other matters Monday, the court:

—Refused to review a Kentucky Supreme Court decision that landowners who sell mineral rights may prohibit strip mining of coal under certain circumstances. The landowners' attorney said the ruling would make coal companies careful to disclose if strip mining was contemplated when purchasing mineral rights.

—Ruled states may collect taxes from out-of-state companies for the privilege of doing business within that state. The decision, reversing a 28-year-old ruling by the high court, could open the way for many states to collect millions in new tax revenues.

JUDGE CHARLES HALLEY

—Agreed to decide whether states can refuse to permit large trucks on interstate highways within their borders. The justices agreed to review a decision by a three-judge federal court in Wisconsin that such laws are unconstitutional and do not unnecessarily burden interstate commerce.

Parents' Rights Stressed In Contraceptive Ruling

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Dispensing contraceptives to children without notifying their parents is an unconstitutional interference with parental rights and family values, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Noel Fox made the ruling Monday while issuing an injunction forbidding several individuals and organizations from distributing contraceptives to minors without notifying their parents.

They included a Lansing clinic, Tri-County Family Planning Center, five members of the Ingham County Board of Health, and the county's acting health director.

The injunction will take effect in 10 days unless it is appealed, the judge said.

Fox lashed out at a defense argument that notifying parents could change the behavior of the minor involved as assuming "that the rule of the parents is contrary to the best interests of the minor."

He added, "this assumption destroys the very foundation of all society and when the conflicting interests of the government and the family collide, courts must exercise every precaution in protecting parental and familial values."

At the end of 1975, there were 26 states which allowed minors to receive contraceptives on their own. But Michigan has no law specifically permitting or barring prescriptions of contraceptives to minors.

The suit was filed in 1975 by

Thoms and Cora Grost of Lansing and several other Lansing-area parents as a class action. The parents contended giving birth control materials without informing parents violated the parents' constitutional rights.

Fox called the case "a classic confrontation between the rights of parents, the rights of their minor, unemancipated children, the rights of the family, and the interests of the State."

He noted the U.S. Supreme Court has not ruled in depth upon the relationship between parents' rights and the rights of their minor children.

In this case, the parents argued that clinic and health officials acted under state laws or regulations. They noted the clinic obtains some state funds. One set of parents, identified only as John and Jane Doe, contended the center gave their minor daughter contraceptives without telling them.

"The State's exclusion of parents from the knowledge of their children's use of contraceptives is a jolting, deceptive, destructive impact upon the very integrity and stability of the family unit in this society," the judge contended.

He added decisions about sexual activity and contraception for minors are so complex they require "the loving and supportive involvement of the minor's parents rather than the passing concern of a state-funded and state-controlled public health or social worker."

Detroit Integration Case Set March 22

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments in Detroit's school integration case on March 22.

Gov. William Milliken and other top state officials are to appear before the high court to explain why the state should not have to pay half the cost of educational improvements that were ordered as part of Detroit's busing plan.

It will be the second time the city's school desegregation plan has been before the Supreme Court.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Insensitive Bridal Couple

Dear Ann Landers: My daughter and future son-in-law have asked us to exclude her sister and her husband from their wedding ceremony and the reception following because she is a white woman who married a black.

My husband and I have accepted our black son-in-law and believe he and our daughter would be terribly offended if they were not invited to the wedding.

The bridal couple insists they will not have a church wedding or reception unless we respect their wishes. Please advise at once. — N.Y. Bind

Dear N.Y.: A bride who would ask her parents to exclude her sister from a family wedding for any reason deserves to be told, "Sorry. There will be NO wedding or reception. We refuse to leave your sister and her husband off the guest list."

Eyes Appreciated

Dear Miss Landers: We appreciated the letter from "San Bernardino Mother."

When her 21-year-old son died in an accident, she wished someone had mentioned donating his eyes or kidneys. Knowing he had helped give sight or added years would have helped her accept the loss.

We at the Florida Lions Eye Bank occasionally get to speak to families in this situation. Even though they are extremely upset, they derive sustaining comfort and strength from the knowledge that someone has benefited from their loss.

We keep a permanent registry of eye donors on file and would feel most fortunate if the "immediate world" would sign a donor form prior to expiration. Please tell your readers, Ann, that even though a person has not made such a provision, the next of kin can, at the time of his or her death, sign permission for the donation of eyes or kidneys.

Through the letter from the bereaved mother which you ran in your column, the family of a 19-year-old boy donated his eyes to the eye bank the following day, when he died in an accident. Bless you. — Sol Widener, Florida Lions Eye Bank

Dear S.W.: Thanks for letting me know. Again I suggest that anyone who wants to will his eyes, kidneys, or heart can do so by writing for a Uniform Organ Donor Card. The address is the National Kidney Foundation, Box 800, New York, New York 10010.

Drop Lover

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and Jerry is 20. He says he loves me and I thought he did. For Christmas he gave me a raccoon jacket.

Jerry started to get cozy with my 13-year-old sister behind my back. When I saw him kiss her, he said he was being "brotherly." Yesterday he confessed he likes her a lot and wants to take us both out. I talked to my sister and she confessed they have kissed "several times" and he tried to go further.

If my parents knew they wouldn't let him in the house. Sis isn't even allowed to date. I'm not blaming her. She doesn't know what it's all about. I thought Jerry loved me and I'm heart sick. What should I do? — Fort Wayne, Ind.

Dear F.W.: Give him the air so fast he'll catch pneumonia from the breeze. Return the raccoon jacket as a final gesture. And for heaven's sake, tell your little sister the score. She needs guidance from an older and wiser head. P.S. Don't be heart sick, honey, a bargain he wasn't.

Don't miss Ann Landers' article, "What I Know Now That I Didn't Know Then" in the April 5 issue of Family Circle — available on March 8.

Men's Swimwear Look

TOUCH OF HOLLYWOOD: Probably no connection whatsoever exists between the sleeper sensation of writer-star Sylvester Stallone (the Italian Stallion in his movie "Rocky") and the sudden emergence (minus boxing gloves) of trunks as the hardest-hitting men's swimwear look for resort vacations and for poolside this summer. But there is a touch of Hollywood in it, since the critically acclaimed trunks trend started in golden California. Along with the boxer revival, swimwear is also going au naturel. Not in the buff, but in the natural fibers that also are becoming so popular for this spring and summer. At left, this swimwear ensemble — the cabana set of the past — is in 100 per cent cotton canvas. Beige pullover beach shirt with spread collar is teamed with tailored zip-front swim trunks with slash pockets. At right are drawstring terry, single-pocketed trunks worn with a hooded, drawstring waisted parka with pouch pockets.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There's no doubt you can make gains today, but you may not enjoy what you accumulate. There are too many problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may face a potentially serious disagreement between you and your mate today. It can be prevented with unselfish compromise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The route to your goals is fraught with many obstacles today. If you are singular of purpose you will not be easily dissuaded.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't put your usual faith in those you trust if buying or investing today. Though their intentions are good, they could lead you astray.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Ordinarily you'd not do things for others just to feather your nest. Today, however, such motives could guide your actions.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have a tendency to treat people too sternly at first today. Once you become more compassionate, you'll fare better.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Money matters are a mixed bag for you today. The elation of a windfall could be offset when an old debt rears its head.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to use others to further your ambitions today. It's far better to enjoy them as friends or individuals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's folly to cling to archaic ideas that you know won't work. Use your nimble mind to select timely alternatives.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's probable persons you can usually depend upon won't be there when you need them today. Figure how to get along without them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Safeguard your own interests today. The only person you can really count upon is you.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't try to delegate authority today. If you want something done right, do it yourself.

March 9, 1977

It would be a big mistake this year to pass up any chance you have to add to knowledge in your chosen field. What you'll learn governs what you'll get.

Many people owe their lives to

I've had two attacks of stomach ulcers. Now my doctor wants to put a tube down my stomach to examine it. He says if I have another attack he will do it. I'm so frightened. Is this always necessary? — Mrs. K.R., Ga.

Dear Mrs. R.: I'm certain that your doctor explained this procedure to you. Perhaps, in your terror, you did not hear the reassurance that the procedure is a safe and painless one.

The gastroscope is a brilliantly conceived device. When the gastroscope is painlessly passed into the stomach almost every part of the lining of the stomach can be seen.

Pictures can be taken of the lining of the stomach which, when later studied, can make an excellent contribution to the diagnosis of any existing disease.

When necessary, small pieces of tissue can be removed (biopsy) for microscopic examination. The contents of the stomach can be withdrawn. The fluid is then studied for the presence of bile, blood, digestive juices and hydrochloric acid.

With this technique, much valuable information is added to that already accumulated by X-ray studies of the stomach and the upper intestines.

Many people owe their lives to the early recognition of existing conditions of the stomach that might otherwise have been missed, without the use of the gastroscope.

My husband finally gave up smoking cigarettes and has switched to a pipe. I hope you can tell me that pipe tobacco is as bad as cigarette tobacco. I'm about ready to lose my mind with the accidental burns and the smoke. — Mrs. E.W., Mich.

Dear Mrs. W.: The toxic effects of pipe tobacco are considered somewhat less than those of cigarettes. But even if we disregard toxicity, there still is the adverse effect on the lungs caused by the smoke itself.

All smoke is a pollutant and, as such, affects the free and easy exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the lungs.

Pipe smokers and cigar smokers fill a room with smoke and odors that are becoming more and more intolerable to non-smokers. Public Health officials warn that all smoke from all tobacco can, over a long period of time, be hazardous not only to the smoker, but to those who are exposed to it.

California May Be Forced To Ration Water

By STEPHEN FOX
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Statewide water rationing may be imposed if voluntary conservation efforts fail, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. warned at the opening of a two-day conference here on California's devastating drought.

The state faces a "disaster of immeasurable magnitude," he said.

"Conservation is an absolute necessity for the continued economic viability of much of this state," Brown said Monday. "I'm asking you to conserve, to ration when necessary, to allocate where appropriate, but above all, to make do."

He told the meeting of about 800 state water officials, agriculture and industry executives and community representatives that he has the power to impose rationing if he declares a state of emergency.

He did not say at what point he might decide to impose rationing.

Ron Robie, director of the state Department of Water Resources, warned that while "the situation in 1976 was bad, 1977 will be much worse."

"This year, everyone in California will be affected," he said.

Robie said many Californians face "either limited or severe water rationing" and cited Marin County as an example of "how tough it can get." That northern California county has already limited daily water consumption to 40 gallons per person, compared to the statewide urban average of approximately 200 gallons a day per person.

Even without rationing, Robie said, "Everyone will be impacted by less agricultural production, higher food prices, energy shortage problems and the general economic problems the drought will cause."

He estimated that generation of hydroelectric power from shrunken reservoirs would be down by 83 per cent this year, although electricity will be available from other sources.

Carter, Rabin Meet In Third Session

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is meeting for a third, originally unscheduled session with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel, who is asking Carter to guarantee Israel's strength to stand alone against its adversaries.

Rabin is meeting with Carter today at the White House. He was invited to lunch with members of Congress and scheduled a news conference later in the day at Blair House, the government guest residence across from the White House.

The prime minister said he was gratified by Carter's endorsement Monday of "defensible borders" for Israel. But Rabin asked the President during a "working dinner" Monday night to "make sure that Israel's strength will allow it to defend itself by itself."

Rabin attended the dinner after meeting with Defense Secretary Harold Brown. The prime minister wants 250 F-16 air combat fighters and assurance the Carter administration will honor former President Gerald R. Ford's promise of new see-in-the-dark devices for airplanes.

The Air Force has been reluctant to grant Israel's request to supply some of the F-16s and has been equally reluctant to run the risk of letting the nightvision technology fall into adversary hands on a captured Israeli jet.

Balkan Quake Toll Tops 1,000; Relief Supplies Begin Arriving

By ALEXANDER G. HIGGINS
Associated Press Writer
BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — As rescue teams press their increasingly futile search for survivors amid the rubble, the official toll in the earthquake that battered the Balkans last weekend has risen to 1,085 dead and 6,405 injured.

Asopress, the official Romanian news agency, reported 810 confirmed dead in Bucharest, the Romanian capital, 234 elsewhere in the country, and 5,185 injured. Officials in neighboring Bulgaria reported 50 deaths in the quake last Friday night and 120 injured, while one death and 100 injured were reported in Yugoslavia.

Officials have said 5,185 persons were injured in Romania, and at least 120 in Bulgaria and 100 in Yugoslavia.

Western diplomats estimate that the dead in Bucharest could total 4,000 by the time the work teams finish digging through the ruins of 32 apartment buildings and other structures that were leveled. Medicine, food and other relief supplies from the United States, Bulgaria, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and East Germany arrived by plane Monday.

Britain, Canada, Denmark and West Germany announced they were planning airlifts. The International Red Cross appealed for funds and supplies. The American and Danish Red Cross and Israel's Magen David Adom announced large donations of money or equipment. Agepress reported 195 businesses destroyed and production halted at many other factories by damage to gas, water and electrical lines. The oil center of Ploesti, devastated by Allied bombing in World War II, was reported especially hard hit. Drilling rigs and other equipment were reported wrecked.

In Bucharest, as rescue workers carefully picked at the rubble, police with loudspeakers kept crowds moving near the crumbled buildings. A long line of people waited to enter the city morgue to look for the bodies of relatives or friends.

Juvenile Defendant Identified Court Strikes Down Gag Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday struck down a decision by Oklahoma courts barring three Oklahoma City newspapers from publishing the name and picture of an 11-year-old boy charged in a shooting death.

The court's unsigned opinion was the first free-press decision since it ruled last June that prior restraints on reporting rarely could be justified and that judges must take all other available measures to insure fair trials before resorting to so-called "gag orders."

The high court said that an Oklahoma judge abridged freedom of the press by issuing his gag order. The court said the information barred from publication was obtained in a public hearing and could not be suppressed.

The gag order challenge by the Oklahoma Publishing Co.

took on added significance when the American Newspaper Publishers Association, in a friend-of-the-court brief, urged the justices to use the case to establish "perimeters within which courts may issue prior restraints upon the press, if there be any such."

The court Monday did not go that far.

The justices last November temporarily struck down the effects of the gag order issued by Oklahoma County Judge Charles E. Halley, allowing the three newspapers owned by the Oklahoma Publishing Co. to report fully on the young boy's trial and sentencing.

The publishing firm owns the Daily Oklahoman, the Oklahoma City Times and the Sunday Oklahoman.

Larry Donnell Brewer, 11, was arrested last July and charged in the shooting death of an Oklahoma railroad switchman. The boy's name and picture were widely displayed by the local news media after reporters attended a preliminary hearing.

Halley then issued a pretrial order prohibiting further display, ruling that the boy's right to rehabilitation outweighed any freedom of the press considerations or the public's right to know.

The youngster was later convicted of delinquency by second-degree manslaughter.

The Supreme Court is passing up an opportunity to decide whether the death penalty is valid for someone who took part in a crime leading to murder but didn't actually kill anyone.

That question was a key issue in an appeal by a condemned Texas inmate, Ernest Benjamin Smith Jr. The court refused to consider his case Monday. Only three of nine justices voted to hear his arguments, one vote short.

Smith, 29, a resident of the state's death row at Huntsville, was convicted in the 1973 armed robbery of a Dallas convenience store in which clerk William Moon was shot and killed. Testimony at Smith's trial established that his criminal partner, Howie Robinson, shot Moon as the clerk appeared to be reaching for a hidden gun.

In other matters Monday, the court:

—Refused to review a Kentucky Supreme Court decision that landowners who sell mineral rights may prohibit strip mining of coal under certain circumstances. The landowners' attorney said the ruling would make coal companies careful to disclose if strip mining was contemplated when purchasing mineral rights.

—Ruled states may collect taxes from out-of-state companies for the privilege of doing business within that state. The decision, reversing a 26-year-old ruling by the high court, could open the way for many states to collect millions in new tax

His order overturned

Parents' Rights Stressed In Contraceptive Ruling

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Dispensing contraceptives to children without notifying their parents is an unconstitutional interference with parental rights and family values, a federal judge has ruled.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Noel Fox made the ruling Monday while issuing an injunction forbidding several individuals and organizations from distributing contraceptives to minors without notifying their parents.

They included a Lansing clinic, Tri-County Family Planning Center, five members of the Ingham County Board of Health, and the county's acting health director.

The injunction will take effect in 10 days unless it is appealed, the judge said.

Fox lashed out at a defense argument that notifying parents could change the behavior of the minor involved as assuming "that the role of the parents is contrary to the best interests of the minor."

He added, "this assumption destroys the very foundation of all society and when the conflicting interests of the government and the family collide, courts must exercise every precaution in protecting parental and familial values."

At the end of 1975, there were 26 states which allowed minors to receive contraceptives on their own. But Michigan has no law specifically permitting or barring prescriptions of contraceptives to minors.

The suit was filed in 1975 by

Thoms and Cora Grost of Lansing and several other Lansing-area parents as a class action. The parents contended giving birth control materials without informing parents violated the parents' constitutional rights.

Fox called the case "a classic confrontation between the rights of parents, the rights of their minor, unemancipated children, the rights of the family and the interests of the State."

He noted the U.S. Supreme Court has not ruled in depth upon the relationship between parents' rights and the rights of their minor children.

In this case, the parents argued that clinic and health officials acted under state laws or regulations. They noted the clinic obtains some state funds. One set of parents, identified only as John and Jane Doe, contended the center gave their minor daughter contraceptives without telling them.

"The State's exclusion of

sexual activity and contraception for minors are so complex they require "the loving and supportive involvement of the minor's parents rather than the passing concern of a state-funded and state-controlled public health or social worker."

Detroit Integration Case Set March 22

DETROIT (AP) — The U.S. Supreme Court is scheduled to hear arguments in Detroit's school integration case on March 22.

Gov. William Milliken and other top state officials are to appear before the high court to explain why the state should not have to pay half the cost of educational improvements that were ordered as part of Detroit's desegregation plan.

It will be the second time the city's school desegregation plan has been before the Supreme Court.

Berrien Springs Project Approved For Grant Bid

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Leslie Cripps, consultant on federal community development funds, told the Berrien Springs village council last night that part of the village's pre-application for funds had been approved.

Cripps, of Cripps and Associates of Berrien Springs, said the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department had approved $242,000 of the $400,000 pre-application. The rest, he said, had been disallowed.

The HUD action means that the village may submit a final application for the $242,000. Cripps said the deadline for the final application was June 8.

A letter from HUD regarding the acceptance said the village's pre-application was "one of the highest priority ones submitted."

The village had requested the funds for rehabilitation, acquisition of property, relocation of families and businesses from purchased property, demolition of substandard structures, public works including a new storm drain at Hamilton street and US-31, construction of a senior citizens center, administrative costs, and architectural services for design of a low-income housing project for senior citizens.

HUD said it would not approve funds for the housing development, the senior citizens center, and the new storm drain.

One condition of the final application for the federal funds was that the village submit by May 8 a performance report on the 1975-76 grant.

In other areas, the council approved a $2,000 contract with architect Victor Hogg of Lansing for the first phase of renovation on the old office building at 213 West Madison street. The building is part of the courthouse square restoration project. The first phase of renovation includes inspection, evaluation, and report preparation.

The council announced that it will make the final payment Thursday, March 10, on the $110,000 water bond issued December 4, 1956.

Bids for a truck were referred to the public property committee. It instructions to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder. Bids were: Ashley Ford, Benton Harbor, $10,087; Don Sprung Chevrolet,

Baroda Council Eyes New Bridge

BARODA — Baroda village council last night agreed to investigate selling bonds to pay approximately 28 per cent of construction costs for a new Lake street bridge. The remaining 72 per cent would be paid with state and federal funds. Cost for the new span has not yet been determined.

Trustee Larry Nye, in making the proposal, stated it was necessary to replace the bridge before it collapses and before federal and state assistance is no longer available.

The council had planned to use federal community development funds for its share of construction costs but was notified at last night's meeting the pre-application for a $100,000 grant had not been accepted by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The village's second bridge crossing Hickory creek on Church street collapsed in July, 1975. The Lake street span was on the state's critical bridge list at that time and funds earmarked for the Lake street bridge replacement were used to construct a new span on Church street.

President Jerry Pilley reported public hearings and an election would be required on the bonding issue.

In other business, the council voted to take bids on the demolition of all buildings located at 9120 Second street, the first of such projects using HUD funds. Costs for demolition will be added to the tax bill of the owner, Charles Dykema of Blackhawk Realty, Inc., Chicago, Ill., as previously arranged by the council. Bids will be opened at the council's next regular meeting on April 4.

The council approved a contract with Emil Streffling of Streffling Real Estate as appraiser for all HUD demolition projects. Streffling will be paid $250 for each appraisal, as established by HUD as an "average" salary for such work. Dan Deja, village attorney, stated the salary was not excessive because HUD appraisals are much more detailed than those required by lending institutions. His fee will be paid with HUD funds.

Deja reported a court hearing regarding a pending law suit against the village, its president and trustees is scheduled for March 30 at 1:30 p.m. The suit was filed by five

Hartford OKs Late License Application

HARTFORD — The Hartford city council last night agreed to let the operator of the Hartford House make a late application for renewal of an amusement license for the business.

Council action during the special city council meeting came after Nick Fuller, who told the council he operates the former hotel on Main street, reported he never got a letter from the city informing him that his amusement license had to be renewed by a certain date.

Mayor Wayne Nelson told Fuller that once an application for renewal is filed, necessary inspections will be conducted before license renewal is granted.

Fuller needs the amusement license in order to legally operate pinball and other games in the building.

In other business, the council delayed action on whether to recognize a Fraternal Order of Police lodge as bargaining agent for six Hartford police officers.

Police Sgt. Victor Bunce told the council that unless there is council recognition, a state department of labor official will supervise a formal election

Slaying Suspect Pleads Innocent

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Coloma man pleaded innocent Monday in Van Buren circuit court to a charge of first degree murder stemming from the 1971 stabbing death of a Covert township businessman.

Leo Raymond Terslinger, 29, 97 Church street, was arrested in January after police uncovered new evidence in the May 2, 1971 slaying of Joseph Swetay.

Swetay's body was found in the living room of his combination grocery store-tavern. Police have said they believe he was killed after he refused to open a safe during a robbery attempt.

A second suspect, James Wayne Wilson, 30, 48th street, Coloma, is currently awaiting circuit court arraignment on a charge of first degree murder.

In other cases, Kim Alan Pond, 18, route 2, Dowagiac, was sentenced by Judge Meyer Warshawsky to serve from 18 months to years in prison on a charge of felonious assault.

The charge, to which Pond had pleaded no contest, stems from a shooting melee in Decatur last Aug. 10. Tpr. Dennis Reinisch of the Paw Paw post said he was fired on by a man armed with a shotgun while chasing a vehicle.

Also sentenced as a result of earlier guilty pleas to charges were:

Tommy Earl Simpson, 17, 34th avenue, Bangor, from 2½ to 5 years in prison, with 2½ days credit, attempted armed robbery at a Bangor gas station last Aug. 7.

Duncan Eric Grays, 18, South Haven, 14 months to 5 years in prison, attempted breaking and entering of Seiler Auto Sales, South Haven, on July 10.

Michael Smith, 22, route 5, 103rd avenue, South Haven, from 1½ to 10 years in prison, breaking and entering Harding's Market, South Haven, on Jan. 2.

Thomas Reginald Brown, 55, Kalamazoo, from 2 to 7½ years in prison, carrying a concealed weapon, a knife, in Bloomington last May 11.

In arraignments, Julius Bowden, 28, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of larceny by conversion, $668 in cash from the Bi-Lo gas station, South Haven, last Sept. 23, where he was formerly employed.

Randall Routheaux, 17, route 1, Hartford, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building, liquor from Bishop's Inn, Sister Lakes, on Dec. 5.

Bessie Tyler, 51, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to a charge of felonious assault against Mrs. Francis Ranek in Paw Paw on Feb. 10.

Philip Boyer Jr., 17, Mattawan, pleaded guilty to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile from Paw Paw on Nov. 19.

California May Be Forced To Ration Water

By STEPHEN FOX
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Statewide water rationing may be imposed if voluntary conservation efforts fail, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. warned at the opening of a two-day conference here on California's devastating drought.

The state faces a "disaster of immeasurable magnitude," he said.

"Conservation is an absolute necessity for the continued economic viability of much of this state," Brown said Monday. "I'm asking you to conserve, to ration when necessary, to allocate where appropriate, but above all, to make do."

He told the meeting of about 800 state water officials, agriculture and industry executives and community representatives that he has the power to impose rationing if he declares a state of emergency.

He did not say at what point he might decide to impose rationing.

Ron Robie, director of the state Department of Water Resources, warned that while "the situation in 1976 was bad, 1977 will be much worse."

"This year, everyone in California will be affected," he said.

Robie said many Californians face "either limited or severe water rationing" and cited Marin County as an example of "how tough it can get." That northern California county has already limited daily water consumption to 40 gallons per person, compared to the statewide urban average of approximately 200 gallons a day per person.

Even without rationing, Robie said, "Everyone will be impacted by less agricultural production, higher food prices, energy shortage problems and the general economic problems the drought will cause."

He estimated that generation of hydroelectric power from shrunk reservoirs would be down by 63 per cent this year, although electricity will be available from other sources.

Carter, Rabin Meet In Third Session

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

President Carter is meeting for a third, originally unscheduled session with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel, who is asking Carter to guarantee Israel's strength to stand alone against its adversaries.

Rabin is meeting with Carter today at the White House. He was invited to lunch with members of Congress and scheduled a news conference later in the day at Blair House, the government guest residence across from the White House.

The prime minister said he was gratified by Carter's endorsement Monday of "defensible borders" for Israel. But Rabin asked the President during a "working dinner" Monday night to "make sure that Israel's strength will allow it to defend itself by itself."

Rabin attended the dinner after meeting with Defense Secretary Harold Brown. The prime minister wants 250 F-16 air combat fighters and assurance the Carter administration will honor former President Gerald R. Ford's promise of new see-in-the-dark devices for airplanes.

The Air Force has been reluctant to grant Israel's request to supply some of the F-16s and has been equally reluctant to run the risk of let-

By ALEXANDER G. HIGGINS
Associate Press Writer

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — As rescue teams press their increasingly futile search for survivors amid the rubble, the official toll in the earthquake that battered the Balkans last weekend has risen to 1,085 dead and 6,405 injured.

Agerpress, the official Romanian news agency, reported 810 confirmed dead in Bucharest, the Romanian capital, 224 elsewhere in the country, and 6,185 injured. Officials in neighboring Bulgaria reported 50 deaths in the quake last Friday night and 120 injured, while one death and 100 injured were reported in Yugoslavia.

Officials have said 6,185 persons were injured in Romania, and at least 120 in Bulgaria and 100 in Yugoslavia.

Western diplomats estimate that the dead in Bucharest could total 4,000 by the time the work teams finish digging through the ruins of 32 apartment buildings and other structures that were leveled. Medicine, food and other relief supplies from the United States, Bulgaria, Switzerland, Yugoslavia and East Germany arrived by plane Monday.

Britain, Canada, Denmark and West Germany announced they were planning airlifts. The International Red Cross appealed for funds and supplies. The American and Danish Red Cross and Israel's Magen David Adom announced large donations of money or equipment. Agerpress reported 195 businesses destroyed and production halted at many other factories by damage to gas, water and electrical lines. The oil center of Ploesti, devastated by Allied bombing in World War II, was reported especially hard hit. Drilling rigs and other equipment were reported wrecked.

In Bucharest, as rescue workers carefully picked at the rubble, police with loudspeakers kept crowds moving near the crumbled buildings. A long line of people waited to enter the city morgue to look for the bodies of relatives or friends.

Lake Township Garage Project Triggers Fight

BRIDGMAN — The Lake township board last night voted to recommend that the township planning commission seek a court injunction against a resident's garage construction project.

The board's recommendation stemmed from one of three courses of possible action outlined by the township's attorney, John H. Spelman of the St. Joseph law firm of Spelman, Taglia, Meek, Lagoni and Sauer, in a letter to the board.

According to Wade Shuler, township supervisor, the garage being constructed by Derrol E. Lee, 3865 Shawnee road, has an upper level while the township's uniform building code specifies garages may be only one story.

The injunction would seek a court order for removal of the second level. The other two alternatives included granting a variance allowing completion of the garage or seeking prosecution in Berrien Fifth District court for a misdemeanor violation of the building code.

Board members were in agreement in seeking action to have the top portion of the garage eliminated rather than seeking only prosecution which Spelman said would not necessarily result in the top portion of the garage being taken down.

Spelman, in his letter to the board, said that when Lee obtained the building permit it only specified a garage and no drawings or plans were included.

In other action, the board voted unanimously to use the Berrien county planning commission as consultant in the township planning commission for a land use development plan. The county planning commission fee is $1,200 for the 12 months it will act as consultant. Trustee Lefroy Gast, who is also a member of the township planning commission, claimed that the county planners would be assisting with wording and technical aspects and that "we can put in what we want."

The board formally accepted the township's water pumping and filtration plant. The township's engineering firm, Consoer, Townsend & Associates, Flint, asked that the completed plant be accepted from the general contractor, Holland Construction company, St. Joseph. The filtration and pumping facility has been in operation since last October.

In related action, the board approved a revision in the construction contract that made the final total cost of the project $2,189,099, down just over $25,000 from the last estimated project cost of $2,214,394. Shuler said the $2,189,099 represented actual construction costs while the earlier figures were estimated costs, according to the engineering firm.

Township Clerk Elsie Reck told the board that the board's application for Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds had been turned down by the Berrien CETA office. Mrs. Reck said the application asked for $17,875 for projects such as a township trash clean-up campaign. She said the office said the project was "potentially eligible," but not of high enough priority.

Bainbridge Mulls Wastewater Study

The Bainbridge township board last night received a proposal to include part of the township in a wastewater sewage facilities study.

The study is currently being conducted in the Indian lake and Sister Lakes area in Cass county.

Board action on the proposal was postponed until after Supervisor Leonard Smith, Jr., and residents around Pipestone lake meet with the Cass board of public works today. The six sections around Pipestone lake made up the area in the township which was suggested for inclusion.

If approved, the township's request would have to be first sent to the Berrien county board of public works and then to the Cass BWP.

Berrien Springs Project Approved For Grant Bid

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Leslie Cripps, consultant on federal community development funds, told the Berrien Springs village council last night that part of the village's pre-application for funds had been approved.

Cripps, of Cripps and Associates of Berrien Springs, said the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department had approved $242,000 of the $400,000 pre-application. The rest, he said, had been disallowed.

The HUD action means that the village may submit a final application for the $242,000. Cripps said the deadline for the final application was June 6.

A letter from HUD regarding the acceptance said the village's pre-application was "one of the highest priority ones submitted."

The village had requested the funds for rehabilitation, acquisition of property, relocation of families and businesses from purchased property, demolition of substandard structures, public works including a new storm drain at Hamilton street and US-31, construction of a senior citizens center, administrative costs, and architectural services for design of a low-income housing project for senior citizens.

HUD said it would not approve funds for the housing development, the senior citizens center, and the new storm drain.

One condition of the final application for the federal funds was that the village submit by May 6 a performance report on the 1975-76 grant.

In other areas, the council approved a $2,000 contract with architect Victor Hogg of Lansing for the first phase of renovation on the old office building at 213 West Madison street. The building is part of the courthouse square restoration project. The first phase of renovation includes inspection, evaluation, and report preparation.

The council announced that it will make the final payment Thursday, March 10, on the $110,000 water bond issued December 4, 1956.

Bids for a truck were referred to the public property committee. It has instructions to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder. Bids were: Ashley Ford, Benton Harbor, $10,087; Don Sprung Chevrolet, Berrien Springs, $10,285; Zerbel GMC, Benton Harbor, $9,247; West Motor Sales, International, Niles, $9,735, and Sink Ford, Berrien Springs, $10,453.

On the recommendation of trustee Dale Moon, reporting for the fire board, the council authorized the fire chief to purchase additional fire equipment at an estimated cost to the village of $1,250. To be bought are a door opener, air packs (breathing apparatus), and a used tank truck for refilling fire engines at the scene of outlying fires. The tank truck is to be purchased from C.A. Tobias Oil Co., Benton Harbor, for $500.

Moon also proposed that the budget for purchase of fire equipment be raised to $3,000 for 1977-78.

The Central County Senior Citizens Center requested a subsidy from the village for 1977-78 of $1,500. The request will be considered when the budget is drawn up.

Cleon Reitz, public works manager, was reappointed street administrator, to conduct business between the village and the state highway department.

Trustee August Lange, council representative to Community Emergency Service corp., told the council that since Rampart Ambulance is still in operation, the Berrien sheriff's department will alternate in dispatching the CES Medic 1 and Rampart ambulances. When one ambulance is significantly closer to the call, however, that service will be dispatched. Medic 1 can also be called directly at the headquarters in the old Empire street fire station, Benton Harbor.

It was announced that the mobile office of Congressman David Stockman (R-St. Joseph) will be in Berrien Springs from 1 to 3 p.m. Monday, March 14.

Baroda Council Eyes New Bridge

BARODA — Baroda village council last night agreed to investigate selling bonds to pay approximately 28 per cent of construction costs for a new Lake street bridge. The remaining 72 per cent would be paid with state and federal funds. Cost for the new span has not yet been determined.

Trustee Larry Nye, in making the proposal, stated it was necessary to replace the bridge before it collapses and before federal and state assistance is no longer available.

The council had planned to use federal community development funds for its share of construction costs but was notified at last night's meeting the pre-application for a $400,000 grant had not been accepted by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The village's second bridge crossing Hickory creek on Church street collapsed in July, 1975. The Lake street span was on the state's critical bridge list at that time and funds earmarked for the Lake street bridge replacement were used to construct a new span on Church street.

President Jerry Philey reported public hearings and an election would be required on the bonding issue.

In other business, the council voted to take bids on the demolition of all buildings located at 9120 Second street, the first of such projects using HUD funds. Costs for demolition will be added to the tax bill of the owner, Charles Dykema of Blackhawk Realty, Inc., Chicago, Ill., as previously arranged by the council. Bids will be opened at the council's next regular meeting on April 4.

The council approved a contract with Emil Streffling of Streffling Real Estate as appraiser for all HUD demolition projects. Streffling will be paid $250 for each appraisal, as established by HUD as an "average" salary for such work. Dan Deja, village attorney, stated the salary was not excessive because HUD appraisals are much more detailed than those required by lending institutions. His fee will be paid with HUD funds.

Deja reported a court hearing regarding a pending law suit against the village, its president and trustees is scheduled for March 30 at 1:30 p.m. The suit was filed by five village residents in an attempt to block construction of a mobile home park in the village. Rudi Eichendorf, developer, is also a defendant. Trustee Ronald Miller reported the police board has authorized the local police department to tow away all unlicensed vehicles parked in the village.

The council adopted amendments to the uniform traffic code used in the village which will go into effect in 40 days. The amendments and code are available for public inspection at the clerk's home.

Nye was appointed street administrator. It was reported Dennis Brunke will be the new water meter reader.

The 1977 budget hearing and a public hearing on the proposed planning commission ordinance will be held at the April 4 meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

NEW JOB: William L. Kucera, a native of New Buffalo, has been named vice president of North American Precip Syndicate, Inc., in charge of the public relations firm's new office in Washington, D.C. He most recently was communication director at Electronic Industries Association in Washington and formerly was manager of marketing communications for Whirlpool Corp.

Hartford OKs Late License Application

HARTFORD — The Hartford city council last night agreed to let the operator of the Hartford House make a late application for renewal of an amusement license for the business.

Council action during the special city council meeting came after Nick Fuller, who told the council he operates the former hotel on Main street, reported he never got a letter from the city informing him that his amusement license had to be renewed by a certain date.

Mayor Wayne Nelson told Fuller that once an application for renewal is filed, necessary inspections will be conducted before license renewal is granted.

Fuller needs the amusement license in order to legally operate pinball and other games in the building.

In other business, the council delayed action on whether to recognize a Fraternal Order of Police lodge as bargaining agent for six Hartford police officers.

Police Sgt. Victor Bunce told the council that unless there is council recognition, a state department of labor official will supervise a formal election on whether the officers want the FOP as a bargaining representative.

In a final action, the council voted to transfer some $50,000 to the general fund or payroll account to pay January and February bills and the March payroll.

The council had delayed paying bills from the previous two months until an accurate treasurer's statement could be determined.

Slaying Suspect Pleads Innocent

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Coloma man pleaded innocent Monday in Van Buren circuit court to a charge of first degree murder stemming from the 1971 stabbing death of a Covert township businessman.

Leo Raymond Tersinger, 29, 97 Church street, was arrested in January after police uncovered new evidence in the May 2, 1971 slaying of Joseph Swetay.

Swetay's body was found in the living room of his combination grocery store-tavern. Police have said they believe he was killed after he refused to open a safe during a robbery attempt.

A second suspect, James Wayne Wilson, 30, 48th street, Coloma, is currently awaiting circuit court arraignment on a charge of first degree murder.

In other cases, Kim Alan Pond, 18, route 2, Dowagiac, was sentenced by Judge Meyer Warshawsky to serve from 18 months to years in prison on a charge of felonious assault.

The charge, to which Pond had pleaded no contest, stems from a shooting melee in Decatur last Aug. 10. Tpr. Dennis Reinsch of the Paw Paw post said he was fired on by a man armed with a shotgun while chasing a vehicle.

Also sentenced as a result of earlier guilty pleas to charges were:

Tommy Earl Simpson, 17, 34th avenue, Bangor, from 2½ to 5 years in prison, with 213 days credit, attempted armed robbery at a Bangor gas station last Aug. 7.

Duncan Eric Grays, 18, South Haven, 14 months to 5 years in prison, attempted breaking and entering of Seiler Auto Sales, South Haven, on July 10.

Michael Smith, 22, route 5, 103rd avenue, South Haven, from 1½ to 10 years in prison, breaking and entering Harding's Market, South Haven, on Jan. 2.

Thomas Reginald Brown, 55, Kalamazoo, from 2 to 7½ years in prison, carrying a concealed weapon, a knife, in Bloomingdale last May 11.

In arraignments, Julius Bowden, 28, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of larceny by conversion, $668 in cash from the Bi-Lo gas station, South Haven, last Sept. 23, where he was formerly employed.

Randall Routhaux, 17, route 1, Hartford, pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted larceny in a building, liquor from Bishop's Inn, Sister Lakes, on Dec. 5.

Bessie Tyler, 51, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to a charge of felonious assault against Mrs. Francis Ranck in Paw Paw on Feb. 10.

Philip Boyer Jr., 17, Mattawan, pleaded innocent to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile from Paw Paw on Nov. 19.

Thomas Roy Carpita, 29, Park Forest, Ill., pleaded innocent to a charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a pistol, in a pickup truck in Paw Paw township Dec. 12.

Rezoning For SJ Real Estate Office Delayed

UNHAPPY: Senator Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., a member of the Senate since January, doesn't like what he finds and almost quit but his wife talked him out of it. Zorinsky complained about the Senate's voting procedures, "self-serving statements" by other senators, the failure to eliminate scheduling conflicts and what he says have been efforts to persuade him to trade votes. The St. Joseph city commission last night postponed for two weeks a decision on a request to rezone for commercial use lots at 222 and 224 Vail court.

The rezoning is sought by Florian Beles of Berrien Real Estate who has proposed to build an 8,000 square foot, two-story office building and adjoining parking lot on the presently vacant lots. Both are zoned single-family.

The planning commission last week recommended that the request be denied.

Mayor Franklin Smith said the two-week delay will allow Beles time to present his plans to the city commission and to nearby residents who have objected to the proposed rezoning.

The decision was postponed last night after a resident who lives nearby told commissioners he believes many of the 21 people who signed a petition opposing the rezoning did not understand what type of project was planned for those lots.

The resident, John Gessert, of 2206 Old Lake Shore road, said he believes that if the plans are shown to those 21 people, all of whom own property nearby, some would withdraw their objections.

The two lots are located on the southwest corner of Vail and Lake Shore drive. They face the Bavaria Haus on the northwest corner which is already zoned commercial.

According to plans previously submitted to the planning commission, the building would house a trophy sales and engraving service and a real estate office.

Gessert said that if the proposed building would lower property values, he had as much to lose as anyone. He said his house had the highest valuation in the area.

He said he estimated that the city had lost some $100,000 to $150,000 of assessed valuation within the past year because of city commission decisions against proposed rezonings.

Smith told Gessert he would have to rally some support for the project among nearby residents before the commission would approve the proposed rezoning.

In other areas last night, City Manager Jerry Hepler said he expected the proposed new city zoning ordinance would be taken up for consideration by the city commission within the next week or two. He said the planning commission, which voted last week to recommend its adoption, is now having copies printed.

Hepler said the city will publish advance notice of upcoming hearings on the ordinance.

Commissioners approved one-year leases with two firms that use city-owned land in their businesses. The land is part of what used to be Penn Central railroad right-of-way along the St. Joseph river. It was purchased about 14 years ago by the city.

Under the leases, Speidel Foundation & Marine Contractors, Inc., 1223 Broad street, will pay $380 for use of 16,670 square feet.

The Garey Roofing Co., 1119 Broad street, will pay $475 for use of 18,900 square feet.

Thieves Strike At Four Places

A stereo tape player and a radio were among items reported stolen from a home on Blue Star highway, Hagar township, Berrien county sheriff's officers said.

Deputies said the house, which is owned by Jack Jacobs, 51, of Chicago, was broken into between 6 p.m. last Friday and noon yesterday. Deputies said Jacobs reported the house also had been looted of clothing and frozen meat. The value of the goods reported stolen was undetermined, deputies said.

Other thefts reported to Berrien county deputies were:

— A chain saw, tool box and over 150 small tools from the shop area of the Old Saw Mill, 383 North Branch road, Bainbridge township, between 2 p.m. last Friday and 7 a.m. Monday.

— Two tires and wheel valued at $190 from a car owned by Seymour Flamm, 55, of 4595 Hipps Hollow road, Berrien township, while the car was parked near Flamm's house.

— A safe, the contents of which were undetermined, from Aunt Lettie's Catering, Route 1 Linea road, Royalton township.

Energy Agency Bill Is Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a congressional committee considering President Carter's proposal for a new Department of Energy hopes the Senate can approve the bill by April 20.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., suggested the target date Monday as his Governmental Affairs Committee heard testimony from two administration energy experts in support of the measure.

Sewer Studied At Three Oaks

THREE OAKS — The Three Oaks township board last night took no action on a report from an engineering firm on a possible method for providing sanitary sewer service to part of the township.

The report, presented by Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, covered expansion needed by the Three Oaks village system to provide the service. It was submitted to the village council March 3.

Under the proposal, a third lagoon would have to be added to the village system.

The board indicated it wanted to confer with village officials about the report before considering action.

Thomas Deneau, of the engineering firm, submitted the report.

Involved in the township would be the area along Kruger road north of the village and eight homes off Chamberlain avenue.

Deneau said an alternate to adding another lagoon and making corrections to existing problems in the present sewer system would be for the township to build an interceptor to hook into the New Buffalo city system.

In other areas, the board discussed at some length a court suit which it filed and lost last week against Robert Fultz of Three Oaks, who raises pigs on a small acreage just south of Three Oaks.

Some of the neighbors living close to the area used for the pig raising operation and who have complained of the smell and noise were present at last night's meeting to inquire into what further action they might take. Atty. Chalmer Ackerman gave three suggestions including appeal of last week's verdict; seek a temporary restraining order against Fultz; or seek a nuisance action.

The annual township meeting will be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, April 2 at the township hall. Annual settlement day was set for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 22 and the zoning board will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 23.

The board approved donating $100 to the Three Oaks summer softball league and approved payment of $110 to Beryl Hinman, Forest Lawn cemetery sexton, for snow removal during the winter using his own equipment.

RECEPTION TONIGHT

Olivet Team Will Talk With Students

Students interested in learning more about Olivet college will be able to talk with Olivet students, faculty and staff members at a St. Joseph-Benton Harbor regional admissions reception at 8 o'clock tonight at Win Schuler's, Stevensville.

The program will include a short color videotape presentation on the college, brief reports on some of Olivet's special departments, projects and services, and an opportunity for informal visiting over refreshments.

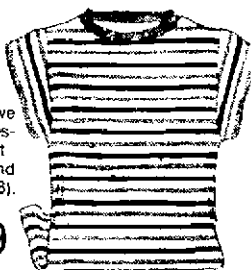

Taking part in the St. Joseph reception will be John Lomaz of St. Joseph and Gayl Sanborn of Alpena, both students at Olivet college. In addition, Ray B. Loeschner, president of Olivet, Andy Zeran, professor of music, and Gary Morrison, athletic director, will also participate in the reception.

Olivet is a small liberal arts college located between Marshall and Lansing. Founded in 1844, it is celebrating its largest enrollment this year since its founding.

Man Killed; Driver Held

A 58-year-old man was killed when struck by a car as he attempted to cross a downtown street Monday night, and the alleged driver of the car was arrested on a charge of negligent homicide, according to Benton Harbor police.

Murvin T. Tipton, of 481 Packard street, Benton Harbor, was dead on arrival at 9:13 p.m. at Mercy hospital after he was found lying in the middle of East Main street near Third street in Benton Harbor by Benton township Patrolman Gary Ruhl.

Benton Harbor police said Ralph D. Reed, 28, of 8465 East Napier road, Bainbridge township, was arrested at the accident scene and booked at Berrien county jail on a charge of negligent homicide.

Ruhl said he was driving through Benton Harbor when he saw a body on Main street about 75 feet west of the Third street intersection. Ruhl said he radioed Benton Harbor police to take over investigation of the accident.

Benton Harbor Patrolman Ken Webster reported witnesses said Tipton was walking alone across Main street when he was struck by a car going east on Main.

Tipton's death was the fourth this year as a result of a traffic accident in Berrien county. The county's traffic fatality toll also was four at the same time last year.

The last death in Benton Harbor in a traffic accident was Nov. 15, 1976.

Mr. Tipton was born April 15, 1918, in Senatobia, Miss., and had resided in this community for 12 years. He was employed as a custodian for Benton Harbor Area schools until being disabled a year ago, a member of the family said.

Survivors include three sons, Jimmie, Marvin (Skip) and Johnnie of Benton Harbor; two daughters, Mrs. Roy (Linda) Scarbrough and Mrs. Ralph (Bonnie) Blakeman of Benton Harbor; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Pearl of Hayti, Mo.; a brother, Edward Tipton of Benton Harbor, and six grandchildren.

The body has been set to the Smith funeral home in

Juvenile Experts To Speak Here

Two special education specialists from the Washtenaw county intermediate school district will be the speakers at the sixth court-school seminar sponsored by the Berrien county juvenile court from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., tomorrow, at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Kittie Joyner, special program coordinator for the county juvenile court, said Paul Helber and Ken Burnley will speak on "Strategies for Working with Problematic Youth."

Administrators from all county school districts and some parochial schools and representatives from nine local law enforcement and social service agencies are invited to attend the in-service training program, she said.

Teamster Organizer Eyes Police

they evaluate it that I am in the international," complains Valenti. "You tell me how many Local 214 officials have been indicted. None."

Valenti's clean record has enabled him to obtain a permit to carry a gun, which he says he needs because he sometimes carries a lot of money for union business.

Valenti says he never will urge his police members to strike and that Teamster officials keep hands off department investigations.

"I don't even want to know what they're investigating," he says.

Yet Valenti fights hard against the re-election campaigns of county sheriffs who oppose him. He sued Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill, who suggested Valenti was linked to underworld figures. A Teamsters-backed candidate defeated Postill on election day.

Police officers in the Detroit suburb of Farmington Hills belong to Valenti's local and eagerly await a court ruling on a contested wage package that would raise annual pay to $21,182 per officer. That would be the highest for law enforcement officers in Michigan.

Valenti has a no-raid policy with the more than 4,000-member Detroit Police Officers Association, the state's largest police organization. But recently the DPOA got a new director and Valenti is eyeing the group for possible Teamsters membership.

Grateful cops once gave him a silver-plated cigar box engraved with the words, "The Blue Messiah." His foes on the other side of the bargaining table call him the "the creep with the big mouth."

Demotions Attacked

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A group of state employees has filed suit in an attempt to block the Michigan Department of Mental Health from demoting workers at a Plymouth facility. The Michigan State Employees Association said it is seeking a restraining order in Ingham County Circuit Court to prevent the demotion of nursing services supervisors at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and their replacement with mental retardation program assistants, who have a higher job classification. The complaint charges the state arbitrarily imposed academic degree requirements for tasks which have been performed for years by nursing service supervisors without degrees.

CONTAMINATION 'INSIGNIFICANT' No PBB Crisis, Scientists Say

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — There is no PBB crisis in Michigan, scientists from the federal Food and Drug Administration told state legislators Monday.

Albert C. Kolbye Jr. of the FDA's Bureau of Foods told the House Public Health Committee that PBB contamination of cattle in the state is insignificant and is gradually diminishing.

The scientists said it's unnecessary to lower the amount of PBB allowed in Michigan food, despite a plea to the FDA by Gov. William Milliken last week and a new call by the state Department of Public Health for lowered PBB levels.

The government scientists were testifying on a bill before the legislature that would drastically reduce the level of PBB now allowed by the FDA in Michigan food.

Kolbye said the federal agency won't fight local action to set stiffer guidelines on PBB, but he insisted the FDA guidelines are adequate to protect public health.

Asked by a lawmaker whether there is a PBB "crisis" in the state, Kolbye said, "No, I would say not."

The FDA set its present permitted level of 300 parts per billion of PBB (polybrominated biphenyl) shortly after the discovery in 1974 that the toxic chemical was accidentally mixed in Michigan cattle feed.

Since then, thousands of animals that tested above the level have been destroyed, and nearly $38 million has been paid out in settlements to farmers by the firms responsible for making the PBB and mixing it in the feed.

However, a preliminary study in January cited possible links between PBB and human health problems, touching off renewed cries for reducing the amount of the chemical allowed in food.

Though some farmers contaminated with PBB through their livestock have suffered various illnesses, others report no ill effects. There has been no conclusive link between the chemical and health problems.

The FDA scientists acknowledged that nobody yet knows the long-term effects of PBB on humans, but Kolbye repeatedly urged legislators to "put this thing in perspective."

"We feel that current exposures (to PBB) are so insignificant that no further federal action is warranted at this time," he said.

He also warned against misinterpreting results of the study by New York Dr. Irving Selikoff that found possible links between human health problems and PBB. Kolbye noted it was a preliminary report.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

BH Man's Body Found At Home; Autopsy Slated

WILLIAM C. JOHNSON

A man found lying on the floor of his home with foot burning on the stove was pronounced dead on arrival Monday afternoon at Benton Harbor Mercy hospital.

Benton Harbor police said William C. Johnson, 45, was found on the floor of his home at 727 Riverside drive, Benton Harbor, by a neighbor, Fannie Warren, 729 Riverside, told officers she had not seen the man for more than a day and went to the house to check on him.

Mr. Johnson had a history of a heart ailment, and Dr. Richard Lininger, county medical examiner, reported the man had undergone open heart surgery several years ago. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 3:50 p.m.

An autopsy was to be performed, although the medical examiner indicated the man apparently died of natural causes.

Mr. Johnson was born April 12, 1931, in Henderson, Tenn., and had resided in Benton Harbor 42 years. He was formerly employed as a security guard for Scope Security Service. He was a veteran of the Army and Air Force, serving in the Korean Conflict. Mr. Johnson was a member of Progressive Baptist church.

Surviving are his father, Howard Johnson, Benton Harbor; a son, Adam, Benton Harbor; and two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Norwood and Mrs. Bertha Ford, both of Benton Harbor.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at Finch funeral home, Benton Harbor.

Delmar Hallock

Delmar A. Hallock, 67, of Sunset Village, Bradenton, Fla., formerly of the Glen Aire Trailer Park, St. Joseph, died Monday in Bradenton, of an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Hallock was born Dec. 8, 1908, in Danville, Ill., and had been employed by Coca Cola Bottling Works, St. Joseph, 30 years before moving to Florida. While residing in Florida he was employed by the City of Bradenton.

Surviving are his widow Mildred; a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Marlene) Toth, Bridgman; a son, Thomas, Columbus, Ga.; five step daughters, Mrs. Wayne (Phyllis) Johnson, Mrs. Burl (Joanne) Jones, both of Hartford, Mrs. Clyde (Janet) Milam, Coloma, Mrs. Dave (Judy) Hamner, Benton Harbor, Mrs. Robert (Kathy) Leamon, Niles; two step sons, Robert E. Rogers, Downers Grove, Ill., and David A. Rogers, Benton Harbor; six grandchildren.

Mr. Hallock was an Army veteran of World War II.

Rezoning For SJ Real Estate Office Delayed

The St. Joseph city commission last night postponed for two weeks a decision on a request to rezone for commercial use lots at 222 and 224 Vail court.

The rezoning is sought by Florian Beles of Berrien Real Estate who has proposed to build an 8,000 square foot, two-story office building and adjoining parking lot on the presently vacant lots. Both are zoned single-family.

The planning commission last week recommended that the request be denied.

Mayor Franklin Smith said the two-week delay will allow Beles time to present his plans to the city commission and to nearby residents who have objected to the proposed rezoning.

The decision was postponed last night after a resident who lives nearby told commissioners he believes many of the 21 people who signed a petition opposing the rezoning did not understand what type of project was planned for those lots.

The resident, John Gessert, of 2606 Old Lake Shore road, said he believes that if the plans are shown to those 21 people, all of whom own property nearby, some would withdraw their objections.

The two lots are located on the southwest corner of Vail and Lake Shore drive. They face the Bavaria Haus on the northwest corner which is already zoned commercial.

According to plans previously submitted to the planning commission, the building would house a trophy sales and engraving service and a real estate office.

Gessert said that if the proposed building would lower property values, he had as much to lose as anyone. He said his house had the highest valuation in the area.

He said he estimated that the city had lost some $100,000 to $150,000 of assessed valuation within the past year because of city commission decisions against proposed rezonings.

Smith told Gessert he would have to rally some support for the project among nearby residents before the commission would approve the proposed rezoning.

In other areas last night, City Manager Jerry Hepler said he expected the proposed new city zoning ordinance would be taken up for consideration by the city commission within the next week or two. He said the planning commission, which voted last week to recommend its adoption, is now having copies printed.

Hepler said the city will publish advance notice of upcoming hearings on the ordinance.

Commissioners approved one-year leases with two firms that use city-owned land in their businesses. The land is part of what used to be Penn Central railroad right-of-way along the St. Joseph river. It was purchased about 1½ years ago by the city.

Under the leases, Speidel Foundation & Marine Contractors, Inc., 1223 Broad street, will pay $380 for use of 16,670 square feet.

The Garey Roofing Co., 1119 Broad street, will pay $475 for use of 18,900 square feet.

The commission voted to allow the Easter Seal Society to hold a lily tag day in the downtown area on Good Friday, April 8.

UNHAPPY: Senator Edward Zorinsky, D-Neb., a member of the Senate since January, doesn't like what he finds and almost quit but his wife talked him out of it. Zorinsky complained about the Senate's voting procedures, "self-serving statements" by other senators, the failure to eliminate scheduling conflicts and what he says have been efforts to persuade him to trade votes. Thieves Strike At Four Places

A stereo tape player and a radio were among items reported stolen from a home on Blue Star highway, Hagar township, Berrien county sheriff's officers said.

Deputies said the house, which is owned by Jack Jacobs, 51, of Chicago, was broken into between 6 p.m. last Friday and noon yesterday. Deputies said Jacobs reported the house also had been looted of clothing and frozen meat. The value of the goods reported stolen was undetermined, deputies said.

Other thefts reported to Berrien county deputies were:

— A chain saw, tool box and over 150 small tools from the shop area of the Old Saw Mill, 383 North Branch road, Bainbridge township, between 2 p.m. last Friday and 7 a.m. Monday.

— Two tires and wheel valued at $190 from a car owned by Seymour Flamm, 55, of 4595 Hipps Hollow road, Berrien township, while the car was parked near Flamm's house.

— A safe, the contents of which were undetermined, from Aunt Lettie's Catering, Route 1 Linco road, Royalton township.

Energy Agency Bill Is Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of a congressional committee considering President Carter's proposal for a new Department of Energy hopes the Senate can approve the bill by April 20.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., suggested the target date Monday as his Governmental Affairs Committee heard testimony from two administration energy experts in support of the measure.

Sewer Studied At Three Oaks

THREE OAKS — The Three Oaks township board last night took no action on a report from an engineering firm on a possible method for providing sanitary sewer service to part of the township.

The report, presented by Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, covered expansion needed by the Three Oaks village system to provide the service. It was submitted to the village council March 3.

Under the proposal, a third lagoon would have to be added to the village system.

The board indicated it wanted to confer with village officials about the report before considering action.

Thomas Deneau, of the engineering firm, submitted the report.

Involved in the township would be the area along Kruger road north of the village and eight homes off Chamberlain avenue.

Deneau said an alternate to adding another lagoon and making corrections to existing problems in the present sewer system would be for the township to build an interceptor to hook into the New Buffalo city system.

In other areas, the board discussed at some length a court suit which it filed and lost last week against Robert Fultz of Three Oaks, who raises pigs on a small acreage just south of Three Oaks.

Some of the neighbors living close to the area used for the pig raising operation and who have complained of the smell and noise were present at last night's meeting to inquire into what further action they might take. Atty. Chalmers Ackerman gave three suggestions including appeal of last week's verdict; seek a temporary restraining order against Fultz; or seek a nuisance action.

The annual township meeting will be held at 1 p.m., Saturday, April 2 at the township hall. Annual settlement day was set for 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 22 and the zoning board will meet at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday, March 23.

The board approved donating $100 to the Three Oaks summer softball league and approved payment of $110 to Beryl Hinman, Forest Lawn cemetery sexton, for snow removal during the winter using his own equipment.

RECEPTION TONIGHT

Olivet Team Will Talk With Students

Students interested in learning more about Olivet college will be able to talk with Olivet students, faculty and staff members at a St. Joseph-Benton Harbor regional admissions reception at 8 o'clock tonight at Win Schuler's, Stevensville.

The program will include a short color videotape presentation on the college, brief reports on some of Olivet's special departments, projects and services, and an opportunity for informal visiting over refreshments.

Taking part in the St. Joseph reception will be John Lomacz of St. Joseph and Gayl Sanborn of Alpena, both students at Olivet college. In addition, Ray B. Loeschner, president of Olivet, Andy Zerban, professor of music, and Gary Morrison, athletic director, will also participate in the reception.

Olivet is a small liberal arts college located between Marshall and Lansing. Founded in 1844, it is celebrating its largest enrollment this year since its founding.

Paw Paw Area Sewer Reaction Is Mixed

JAMES MSJAR
Outlines proposed project

Paw Paw Barren
PAW PAW — Reaction to plans for a proposed Paw Paw area sanitary sewer system was mixed during a 90-minute public hearing here last night. In general, the system would extend sewers to lake, subdivision, and other densely populated areas now served by septic tanks. Existing treatment plants at Paw Paw and Lawton would be upgraded to handle the additional flow. Included in the plan's study area are the villages of Lawton and Paw Paw, Paw Paw township, the southern third of Waverly township, and the eastern third of Antwerp township. Total project cost was estimated at roughly $9 million by James Mshar of the Grand Rapids engineering firm of Williams and Works. About 300 people attended the session. Mike McNellis, secretary of the Lake Brownwood association, said about 90 per cent of the lake's property owners had signed petitions favoring sewer construction. The lake has a weed problem caused largely by seepage from septic tanks. But Ray Morris of the Eagle Lake association, said 63 persons had signed a petition against the system there. Morris said he thought present septic systems were adequate and that many of the property owners on the lake only lived there part of the year. Among non-lake dwellers sentiment also varied. One man who said he lived on CR-643 said there were no pollution problems in his area. But another man complained that he'd had to have his septic tank pumped twice within the last 18 months, and this summer would have to install a new dry well. According to Mshar, about 65 per cent of the costs of the system would be eligible for state and federal grants. He cautioned, however, that the federal program for the funding expires next October, and that grants may not be as available if construction is put off. Paul Kaiser, Van Buren county road commission engineer-manager, said that as the county's agency for public works, the road commission could act as the fiscal agent in making any bond sales to pay for construction. "No one knows at this time what the cost would be to any individual," he said. Kaiser said assessments will probably be made on a benefit basis, with bonds for construction paid off over a period of 20-25 years. Final costs will be determined by what areas the municipalities involved decide to include in the plan, he added. Mshar estimated the average cost of bringing the sewer to the homeowner's property line at $2,500. Hookups to the home would run between $400 and $800. The average monthly fee for operation and maintenance of the system would be about $8 for a family of three, he said. Engineers at the meeting said one of the alternatives available is to take no action, placing continued reliance on septic tanks. However, James Richardson of R. W. Petrie and Associates, Benton Harbor, engineering consultant for the village of Lawton, said the village's treatment system must be altered. He pointed out that a permit which allows for surface discharge of wastes expires in 1978, and that the village will be required to switch to a land disposal system. Kaiser said that using the input from last night's hearing and other public meetings, local officials must now decide which areas will be included in the sewer plan. The next step would then be approval of a revised facility plan, followed by design plans, and finally construction.

MILLAGE FIGURE TO BE DETERMINED SOON

Buchanan School Tax Election April 18

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board last night set Monday, April 18, as the date for a special election on a yet undetermined school property tax proposal. In a session that lasted just 10 minutes, the board said it would establish how many mills would be sought in next month's balloting soon, perhaps at its regular March 21 meeting.

A 2.4 mill levy approved by school district voters last June was for just one year, and the board must decide whether to seek that amount or a higher or lower levy for school operations. In the same election last summer, two other levies, one for 47 mills for operating purposes and one for one mill for building repairs, both for a three-year period, were also approved. The 2.4 mill levy raised about $150,000 of that amount toward a budget just over $3 million. The board said the last day for registration to be able to vote next month is Monday, March 21. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

South Haven Eyes Residency Policy

South Haven Correspondent
SOUTH HAVEN — First ward alderman Wilbur Ingham proposed to fellow South Haven councilmen last night that the city require its future employees to live within the city as a condition of employment. Ingham introduced a resolution to that effect, but withdrew it after fellow aldermen begged more time to investigate the ramifications of the proposal. A recent survey of the city's employees revealed that nearly one-half (49 per cent) of the 85 full-time employees, including several key administrative heads, live outside the city. Ingham, who says he has been trying to get the policy adopted for three years, says that city employees should identify with the political, social and economic interests of the city. He also believes the employees should contribute directly to the city's taxes that pay their salaries. Most aldermen agreed with Ingham's basic philosophy, but questioned if the policy should at first be limited to department heads and other administrative personnel. City Manager Paul Sharon said he viewed the proposal with mixed emotions, noting that it might be hard to attract employees with specialized skills. The policy proposed by Ingham would give new employees six months to become residents of the city. Current employees would be exempt. In other matters, council approved a petition from Don Woodhams Ford agency to rezone a tract of land near his auto dealership on LaGrange street from residential to general business. There was no opposition from the public. The council agreed to advertise for bids to construct an additional 50 boat slips on the Black river near the sewage treatment plant. Second Ward Alderman Joseph Seiler was appointed the council representative to the Liberty Hyde Bailey museum board. Third Ward Alderman Matthew Goerg urged council consideration of a request from the South Haven Coil Co. to relocate its operations into a building on Williams street. The present plant is on Blue Star Memorial highway. It was reported that the move was triggered by economic conditions which caused the firm's work force to drop from 165 to 35. The Williams street property used to house the firm years ago. Under the firm's plan, the existing plant would be converted into a roller skating rink if the move is permitted. The property on Williams street is zoned central business district. The planning commission declined to consider rezoning the property for industrial use and suggested that the company seek permission for a special usage from the zoning board of appeals. Mayor Richard Lewis noted that a public hearing would be held should the firm seek a special usage permit. Third Ward Alderman Robert Warren asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance banning the sale of paraphernalia used by people consuming illegal drugs and marijuana. He also called for a crackdown on the alleged sale of cigarettes to minors by businesses in the community.

SH GUARDSMAN HONORED: Capt. James F. Montgomery, South Haven, (right) received Michigan Legion of Merit medal on retirement after 20 years of service with Michigan Army National Guard from Lt. Cmdr. Harman A. Stull, Dowagiac, in ceremony late last month. Award is third highest state can confer. Montgomery served as commanding officer of tank company in St. Joseph and of Troop C, 238th Cavalry in South Haven. His most recent assignment was as intelligence officer. Montgomery is an executive with Du-Wel Metal Products corporation, South Haven.

Township Defends Choice Of Assessor

South Berrien Barren
BUCHANAN — The Buchanan township board last night defended its hiring of former supervisor Ivan Price as township assessor. Township resident Fred Hanks, East River road, told the board "you made a bad decision," in hiring Price at a salary of $4,800 per year for a total of two years. He contended the board should have sought bids for the assessor's post and the job could have been filled at a lower salary. But Trustee Dale Nelson, acting as chairman in the absence of Supervisor Kenneth Jones, said Price was hired at a salary far lower than surrounding townships are paying for assessors. Nelson said a qualified assessor could have cost the township between $10,000 and $15,000 per year. Price is familiar with the township and qualified to perform the task, Nelson said. Price, who resigned as supervisor in February, 1976, after serving in the post since 1947, was hired as assessor by the board in January. Price had resigned his supervisor's post to accept the position of Berrien county drain commissioner. Two days after he accepted that position he resigned in the wake of a $13,965 Internal Revenue Service tax lien that had been filed against him the same day he was administered the oath of office. The Berrien Register of Deeds office said the IRS lien against Price was paid on May 19, 1976. In other areas, the board named John Deer, Elm Valley road, to the board of tax review. He will replace Melvin Phiscator, who informed the board he was unable to serve this year because of ill health. In a related area, Clerk Mrs. Donna Newsom announced the board of review would meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 14 and 15; at 7 p.m. on March 24, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 29. Mrs. Newsom said architect Norman Kellogg, of Kellogg Architects, Kalamazoo, would meet with the board at its Tuesday, March 15 meeting to discuss two alternative plans for a proposed addition to the township hall. At its Feb. 7 meeting, the board approved Kellogg drafting the plans at a cost of about $300. The board set 7:30 p.m. as the time for its April 2 annual meeting, to be held in the township hall. A request from the Southwest Michigan Community Ambulance Service board (SMCAS) to place donation canisters in township businesses for 60 days, beginning April 1, was approved by the board. Mrs. Newsom said SMCAS hopes to raise funds for a new headquarters being built west of Niles. The board instructed Mrs. Newsom to contact the Berrien county road commission about a complaint from William McIntosh, Niles-Buchanan road, that a creek on his property was blocked by a plugged culvert under the road east of Buchanan. Renewed membership in the Buchanan area Chamber of Commerce at a cost of $75, was approved by the board.

Body Of Woman Identified

South Berrien Barren
NILES — A woman whose body was found in the St. Joseph river near Niles Saturday was identified late yesterday afternoon by state police here as a South Bend, Ind., resident reported missing last October. Police said fingerprints led them to identify the woman as Mrs. Wilma Iris Simpson, a 48-year-old widowed mother of three daughters. Cause of the woman's death still remains uncertain, police said today. Police said earlier that while foul play was not suspected in her death, it had not been ruled out. State troopers and South Bend police said Mrs. Simpson was reported missing on Oct. 19, 1976, by relatives. Police said she was last seen three days earlier leaving a Niles township tavern near the state line with an unidentified man about 25 years old. South Bend police said they learned the woman was the widow of a soldier, with a sister living in South Bend. Sgt. Fred Odusich of South Bend police reported officers had been told Mrs. Simpson was despondent over the death of her husband. The woman's partially decomposed body was found floating in the river south of Niles in Niles township Saturday about 12:30 p.m. by two Niles teenagers, state police said. Dr. Richard Lininger, assistant Berrien county medical examiner, said yesterday the woman had been in the river "a long time," possibly as early as last fall. An injury found on the woman's head probably occurred, after death while she was in the river, and may have been sustained when striking a submerged object, police said. The woman was originally described at between the ages of 20 and 30, but police said that decomposition made pinpointing the age difficult.

Lake Michigan Catholic's Budget Meeting March 23

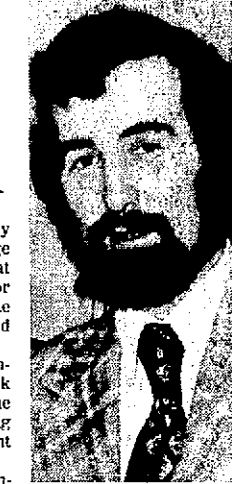

The Lake Michigan Catholic board of education will hold a public information meeting March 23 to explain school financing and the budget for the next fiscal year, board members announced last night. Raymond Jordan, executive director of Lake Michigan Catholic schools, said the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the high school will be open to parents and interested people and will concern budget plans for the 1977-1978 fiscal year which begins July 1. In other areas, Board President James O'Malley named board members to four newly-reorganized committees which will report to the board as a whole. Board members named to committees were Rev. Leroy White, James Bokhart, Ann Takacs, and Diane Lents, committee on instruction; Frank Hansen, O'Malley, William Bauman, and Bokhart, committee on administration; Eileen Globensky, Mrs. Takacs, Rev. White, and Mrs. Lents, committee on external relations, and Hansen, Bauman, O'Malley and Mrs. Globensky, committee on student activities. The board's committee structure was recently reorganized from about eight to four committees. Jordan said each committee will appoint a committee chairman. The regular April meeting of the board of education will be held at 7:30 p.m., March 30, instead of the first Wednesday in April because of spring recesses, Jordan said. In a related area, Clerk Mrs. Donna Newsom announced the board of review would meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 14 and 15; at 7 p.m. on March 24, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 29. Mittan 'Aide' May Run

A Cass county man, Harvey Hoffman, told the Bainbridge township board last night that he is considering running for the post of 44th District state representative, a post now held by Rep. Ray Mittan, H-Niles. Hoffman, who lives near Indian Lake in Silver Creek township, told the board and the audience at last night's meeting he is a volunteer staff assistant to Mittan. Mittan, contacted this morning said Hoffman was "a self-appointed" assistant. He said Hoffman contacted him last year and asked if he could work with youth in Cass county for the Republican party. Mittan said this morning he still has not yet made up his mind whether he will run for another two-year term when his present term expires in 1978.

Man Killed; Driver Held

A 58-year-old man was killed when struck by a car as he attempted to cross a downtown street Monday night, and the alleged driver of the car was arrested on a charge of negligent homicide, according to Benton Harbor police.

Marvin T. Tipton, of 481 Packard street, Benton Harbor, was dead on arrival at 9:13 p.m. at Mercy hospital after he was found lying in the middle of East Main street near Third street in Benton Harbor by Benton township Patrolman Gary Ruhle.

Benton Harbor police said Ralph D. Reed, 28, of 8465 East Napier road, Bainbridge township, was arrested at the accident scene and booked at Berrien county jail on a charge of negligent homicide.

Ruhle said he was driving through Benton Harbor when he saw a body on Main street about 75 feet west of the Third street intersection. Ruhle said he radioed Benton Harbor police to take over investigation of the accident. Benton Harbor Patrolman Ken Webster reported witnesses said Tipton was walking alone across Main street when he was struck by a car going east on Main.

Tipton's death was the fourth this year as a result of a traffic accident in Berrien county. The county's traffic fatality toll also was four at the same time last year.

The last death in Benton Harbor in a traffic accident was Nov. 15, 1976.

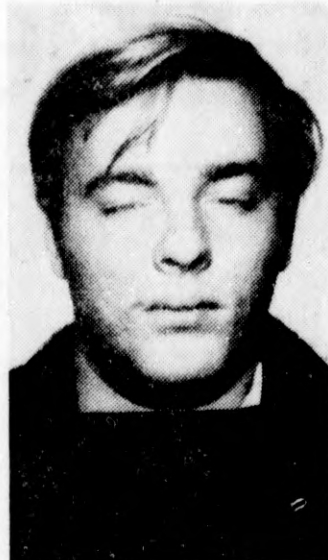

Mr. Tipton was born April 15, 1918, in Senatobia, Miss., and had resided in this community for 12 years. He was employed as a custodian for Benton Harbor Area schools until being disabled a year ago, a member of the family said.

Survivors include three sons, Jimmie, Marvin (Skip) and Johnnie of Benton Harbor; two daughters, Mrs. Roy (Linda) Scarbrough and Mrs. Ralph (Bonnie) Blackman of Benton Harbor; his mother, Mrs. Minnie Pearl of Hayti, Mo.; a brother, Edward Tipton of Benton Harbor, and six grandchildren.

Juvenile Experts To Speak Here

Two special education specialists from the Washtenaw county intermediate school district will be the speakers at the sixth court-school seminar sponsored by the Berrien county juvenile court from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., tomorrow, at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

Kittie Joyner, special program coordinator for the county juvenile court, said Paul Helber and Ken Burnley will speak on "Strategies for Working with Problematic Youth."

Administrators from all county school districts and some parochial schools and representatives from nine local law enforcement and social service agencies are invited to attend the in-service training program, she said.

they evaluate it that I am in the international," complains Valenti. "You tell me how many Local 214 officials have been indicted. None."

Valenti's clean record has enabled him to obtain a permit to carry a gun, which he says he needs because he sometimes carries a lot of money for union business.

Valenti says he never will urge his police members to strike and that Teamster officials keep hands off department investigations.

"I don't even want to know what they're investigating," he says.

Yet Valenti fights hard against the re-election campaigns of county sheriffs who oppose him. He sued Washtenaw County Sheriff Fred Postill, who suggested Valenti was linked to underworld figures. A Teamsters-backed candidate defeated Postill on election day.

Police officers in the Detroit suburb of Farmington Hills belong to Valenti's local and eagerly await a court ruling on a contested wage package that would raise annual pay to $21,192 per officer. That would be the highest for law enforcement officers in Michigan.

Valenti has a no-raid policy with the more than 4,000-member Detroit Police Officers Association, the state's largest police organization. But recently the DPOA got a new director and Valenti is eyeing the group for possible Teamsters membership.

Grateful cops once gave him a silver-plated cigar box engraved with the words, "The Blue Messiah." His foes on the other side of the bargaining table call him the "the creep with the big mouth."

Demotions Attacked

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A group of state employees has filed suit in an attempt to block the Michigan Department of Mental Health from demoting workers at a Plymouth facility. The Michigan State Employees Association said it is seeking a restraining order in Ingham County Circuit Court to prevent the demotion of nursing services supervisors at the Plymouth Center for Human Development and their replacement with mental retardation program assistants, who have a higher job classification. The complaint charges the state arbitrarily imposed academic degree requirements for tasks which have been performed for years by nursing service supervisors without degrees.

CONTAMINATION 'INSIGNIFICANT' No PBB Crisis, Scientists Say

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — There is no PBB crisis in Michigan, scientists from the federal Food and Drug Administration told state legislators Monday.

Albert C. Kolbye Jr. of the FDA's Bureau of Foods told the House Public Health Committee that PBB contamination of cattle in the state is insignificant and is gradually diminishing.

The scientists said it's unnecessary to lower the amount of PBB allowed in Michigan food, despite a plea to the FDA by Gov. William Milliken last week and a new call by the state Department of Public Health for lowered PBB levels.

The government scientists were testifying on a bill before the legislature that would drastically reduce the level of PBB now allowed by the FDA in Michigan food.

Kolbye said the federal agency won't fight local action to set stricter guidelines on PBB, but he insisted the FDA guidelines are adequate to protect public health.

Asked by a lawmaker whether there is a PBB "crisis" in the state, Kolbye said, "No, I would say not."

The FDA set its present permitted level of 300 parts per billion of PBB (polybrominated biphenyl) shortly after the discovery in 1974 that the toxic chemical was accidentally mixed in Michigan cattle feed.

Since then, thousands of animals that tested above the level have been destroyed, and nearly $38 million has been paid out in settlements to farmers by the firms responsible for making the PBB and mixing it in the feed.

However, a preliminary study in January cited possible links between PBB and human health problems, touching off renewed cries for reducing the amount of the chemical allowed in food.

Though some farmers contaminated with PBB through their livestock have suffered various illnesses, others report no ill effects. There has been no conclusive link between the chemical and health problems.

The FDA scientists acknowledged that nobody yet

knows the long-term effects of PBB on humans, but Kolbye repeatedly urged legislators to "put this thing in perspective."

"We feel that current exposures (to PBB) are so insignificant that no further federal action is warranted at this time," he said.

He also warned against misinterpreting results of the study by New York Dr. Irving Selkoff that found possible links between human health problems and PBB. Kolbye noted it was a preliminary report.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

WILLIAM C. JOHNSON

A man found lying on the floor of his home with food burning on the stove was pronounced dead on arrival Monday afternoon at Benton Harbor Mercy hospital.

Benton Harbor police said William C. Johnson, 45, was found on the floor of his home at 727 Riverside drive, Benton Harbor, by a neighbor, Fannie Warren, 729 Riverside, told officers she had not seen the man for more than a day and went to the house to check on him.

Mr. Johnson had a history of a heart ailment, and Dr. Richard Lininger, county medical examiner, reported the man had undergone open heart surgery several years ago. He was pronounced dead at the hospital at 3:50 p.m.

An autopsy was to be performed, although the medical examiner indicated the man apparently died of natural causes.

Mr. Johnson was born April 12, 1931, in Henderson, Tenn., and had resided in Benton Harbor 42 years. He was formerly employed as a security guard for Scope Security Service. He was a veteran of the Army and Air Force, serving in the Korean Conflict. Mr. Johnson was a member of Progressive Baptist church.

Surviving are his father, Howard Johnson, Benton Harbor; a son, Adam, Benton Harbor, and two sisters, Mrs. Gladys Norwood and Mrs. Bertha Ford, both of Benton Harbor.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete this forenoon at Finch funeral home, Benton Harbor.

Delmar Hallock

Delmar A. Hallock, 67, of Sunset Village, Bradenton, Fla., formerly of the Glen Aire Trailer Park, St. Joseph, died Monday in Bradenton, of an apparent heart attack.

Mr. Hallock was born Dec. 8, 1908, in Danville, Ill., and had been employed by Coca Cola Bottling Works, St. Joseph, 30 years before moving to Florida. While residing in Florida he was employed by the City of Bradenton.

Surviving are his widow Mildred; a daughter, Mrs. Charles (Marlene) Toth, Bridgman; a son, Thomas, Columbus, Ga.; five step daughters, Mrs. Wayne (Phyllis) Johnson, Mrs. Burl (Joanne) Jones, both of Hartford, Mrs. Clyde (Janet) Milam, Coloma, Mrs. Dave (Judy) Hanner, Benton Harbor, Mrs. Robert (Kathy) Leamon, Niles; two step sons, Robert E. Rogers, Downers Grove, Ill., and David A. Rogers, Benton Harbor; six grandchildren.

Mr. Hallock was an Army veteran of World War II.

Paw Paw Area Sewer Reaction Is Mixed

JAMES MSJAR
Outlines proposed projectBy DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Reaction to plans for a proposed Paw Paw area sanitary sewer system was mixed during a 90-minute public hearing here last night.

In general, the system would extend sewers to lake, subdivision, and other densely populated areas now served by septic tanks. Existing treatment plants at Paw Paw and Lawton would be upgraded to handle the additional flow.

Included in the plan's study area are the villages of Lawton and Paw Paw, Paw Paw township, the southern third of Waverly township, and the eastern third of Antwerp township. Total project cost was estimated at roughly $9 million by James Mshar of the Grand Rapids engineering firm of Williams and Works.

About 300 people attended the session.

Mike McNellis, secretary of the Lake Brownwood association, said about 90 per cent of the lake's property owners had signed petitions favoring sewer construction. The lake has a weed problem caused largely by seepage from septic tanks.

But Ray Morris of the Eagle Lake association, said 63 persons had signed a petition against the system there. Morris said he thought present septic systems were adequate and that many of the property owners on the lake only lived there part of the year.

Among non-lake dwellers sentiment also varied. One man who said he lived on CR-653 said there were no pollution problems in his area. But another man complained that he'd had to have his septic tank pumped twice within the last 18 months, and this summer would have to install a new dry well.

According to Mshar, about 65 per cent of the costs of the system would be eligible for state and federal grants. He cautioned, however, that the federal program for the funding expires next October, and that grants may not be as available if construction is put off.

Paul Kaiser, Van Buren county road commission engineer-manager, said that as the county's agency for public works, the road commission could act as the fiscal agent in making any bond sales to pay for construction.

"No one knows at this time what the cost would be to any individual," he said.

Kaiser said assessments will probably be made on a benefit basis, with bonds for construction paid off over a period of 20-25 years. Final costs will be determined by what areas the municipalities involved decide to include in the plan, he added.

Mshar estimated the average cost of bringing the sewer line to the homeowner's property line at $2,500. Hookups to the home would run between $400 and $800. The average monthly fee for operation and maintenance of the system would be about $8 for a family of three, he said.

Engineers at the meeting said one of the alternatives available is to take no action, placing continued reliance on septic tanks.

However, James Richardson of R. W. Petrie and Associates, Benton Harbor, engineering consultant for the village of Lawton, said the village's treatment system must be altered. He pointed out that a permit which allows for surface discharge of wastes expires in 1978, and that the village will be required to switch to a land disposal system.

Kaiser said that using the input from last night's hearing and other public meetings, local officials must now decide which areas will be included in the sewer plan. The next step would then be approval of a revised facility plan, followed by design plans, and finally construction.

MILLAGE FIGURE TO BE DETERMINED SOON

Buchanan School Tax Election April 18

BUCHANAN — The Buchanan school board last night set Monday, April 18, as the date for a special election on a yet undetermined school property tax proposal. In a session that lasted just 10 minutes, the board said it would establish how many mills would be sought in next month's balloting soon, perhaps at its regular March 21 meeting.

A 2.4 mill levy approved by school district voters last June was for just one year, and the board must decide whether to seek that amount or a higher or lower levy for school operations. In the same election last summer, two other levies, one for 17 mills for operating purposes and one for one mill for building repairs, both for a three-year period, were also approved.

The 2.4 mill levy raised about $150,000 of that amount toward a budget just over $3 million. The board said the last day for registration to be able to vote next month is Monday, March 21. Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

South Haven Eyes Residency Policy

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — First ward alderman Wilbur Ingham proposed to fellow South Haven councilmen last night that the city require its future employees to live within the city as a condition of employment.

Ingham introduced a resolution to that effect, but withdrew it after fellow aldermen begged more time to investigate the ramifications of the proposal.

A recent survey of the city's employees revealed that nearly one-half (49 per cent) of the 85 full-time employees, including several key administrative heads, live outside the city.

Ingham, who says he has been trying to get the policy adopted for three years, says that city employees should identify with the political, social and economic interests of the city. He also believes the employees should contribute directly to the city's taxes that pay their salaries.

Most aldermen agreed with Ingham's basic philosophy, but questioned if the policy should at first be limited to department heads and other administrative personnel.

City Manager Paul Sharon said he viewed the proposal with mixed emotions, noting that it might be hard to attract employees with specialized skills.

The policy proposed by Ingham would give new employees six months to become residents of the city. Current employees would be exempt.

In other matters, council approved a petition from Don Woodhams Ford agency to rezone a tract of land near his auto dealership on LaGrange street from residential to general business. There was no opposition from the public.

The council agreed to advertise for bids to construct an additional 50 boat slips on the Black River near the sewage treatment plant.

Second Ward Alderman Joseph Sellar was appointed the council representative to the Liberty Hyde Bailey museum board.

Third Ward Alderman Matthew Goerg urged council consideration of a request from the South Haven Coil Co. to relocate its operations into a building on Williams street. The present plant is on Blue Star Memorial highway.

It was reported that the move was triggered by economic conditions which caused the firm's work force to drop from 165 to 35. The Williams street property used to house the firm years ago.

Under the firm's plan, the existing plant would be converted into a roller skating rink if the move is permitted. The property on Williams street is zoned central business district. The planning commission declined to consider rezoning the property for industrial use and suggested that the company seek permission for a special usage from the zoning board of appeals. Mayor Richard Lewis noted that a public hearing would be held should the firm seek a special usage permit.

Third Ward Alderman Robert Warren asked the city attorney to prepare an ordinance banning the sale of paraphernalia used by people consuming illegal drugs and marijuana. He also called for a crackdown on the alleged sale of cigarettes to minors by businesses in the community.

SH GUARDSMAN HONORED: Capt. James F. Montgomery, South Haven, (right) received Michigan Legion of Merit medal on retirement after 20 years of service with Michigan Army National Guard from Lt. Cmdr. Harman A. Stull, Dowagiac, in ceremony late last month. Award is third highest state can confer. Montgomery served as commanding officer of tank company in St. Joseph and of Troop C, 238th Cavalry in South Haven. His most recent assignment was as intelligence officer. Montgomery is an executive with Du-Wel Metal Products corporation, South Haven.

Township Defends Choice Of Assessor

By JOHN DYE

SOUTH BERRIEN — The Buchanan township board last night defended its hiring of former supervisor Ivan Price as township assessor.

Township resident Fred Hankins, East River road, told the board "you made a bad decision," in hiring Price at a salary of $4,800 per year for a total of two years. He contended the board should have sought bids for the assessor's post and the job could have been filled at a lower salary.

But Trustee Dale Nelson, acting as chairman in the absence of Supervisor Kenneth Jones, said Price was hired at a salary far lower than surrounding townships are paying for assessors. Nelson said a qualified assessor could have cost the township between $10,000 and $15,000 per year.

Price is familiar with the township and qualified to perform the task, Nelson said. Price, who resigned as supervisor in February, 1976, after serving in the post since 1947, was hired as assessor by the board in January.

Price had resigned his supervisor's post to accept the position of Berrien county drain commissioner. Two days after he accepted that position he resigned in the wake of a $13,865 Internal Revenue Service tax lien that had been filed against him the same day he was administered the oath of office.

The Berrien Register of Deeds office said the IRS lien against Price was paid on May 19, 1976.

In other areas, the board named John Deer, Elm Valley road, to the board of tax review. He will replace Melvin Phisicator, who informed the board he was unable to serve this year because of ill health.

In a related area, Clerk Mrs. Donna Newsom announced the board of review would meet from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 14 and 15; at 7 p.m. on March 24, and from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 29.

Mrs. Newsom said architect Norman Kellogg, of Kellogg Architects, Kalamazoo, would meet with the board at its Tuesday, March 15 meeting to discuss two alternative plans for a proposed addition to the township hall. At its Feb. 7 meeting, the board approved Kellogg drafting the plans at a cost of about $300.

The board set 7:30 p.m. as the time for its April 2 annual meeting, to be held in the township hall.

A request from the Southwest Michigan Community Ambulance Service board (SMCAS) to place donation canisters in township businesses for 60 days, beginning April 1, was approved by the board. Mrs. Newsom said SMCAS hopes to raise funds for a new headquarters being built west of Niles.

The board instructed Mrs. Newsom to contact the Berrien county road commission about a complaint from William McIntosh, Niles-Buchanan road, that a creek on his property was blocked by a plugged culvert under the road east of Buchanan.

Renewed membership in the Buchanan area Chamber of Commerce at a cost of $75, was approved by the board.

Body Of Woman Identified

By JOHN DYE

NILES — A woman whose body was found in the St. Joseph river near Niles Saturday was identified last night by police as Mrs. Wilma Iris Simpson, a 48-year-old widow mother of three daughters.

Police said fingerprints led them to identify the woman as Mrs. Wilma Iris Simpson, a 48-year-old widow mother of three daughters.

Cause of the woman's death still remains uncertain, police said today. Police said earlier that while foul play was not suspected in her death, it had not been ruled out.

State troopers and South Bend police said Mrs. Simpson was reported missing on Oct. 19, 1976, by relatives. Police said she was last seen three days earlier leaving a Niles township tavern near the state line with an unidentified man about 25 years old.

South Bend police said they learned the woman was the widow of a soldier, with a sister living in South Bend. Sgt. Fred Odusich of South Bend police reported officers had been told Mrs. Simpson was despondent over the death of her husband.

The woman's partially decomposed body was found floating in the river south of Niles in Niles township Saturday about 12:30 p.m. by two Niles teenagers, state police said.

Dr. Richard Lininger, assistant Berrien county medical examiner, said yesterday the woman had been in the river "a long time," possibly as early as last fall.

An injury found on the woman's head probably occurred, after death while she was in the river, and may have been sustained when striking a submerged object, police said.

The woman was originally described at between the ages of 20 and 30, but police said that decomposition made pinpointing the age difficult.

Lake Michigan Catholic's Budget Meeting March 23

The Lake Michigan Catholic board of education will hold a public information meeting March 23 to explain school financing and the budget for the next fiscal year, board members announced last night.

Raymond Jordan, executive director of Lake Michigan Catholic schools, said the 7:30 p.m. meeting at the high school will be open to parents and interested people and will concern budget plans for the 1977-1978 fiscal year which begins July 1.

In other areas, Board President James O'Malley named board members to four newly-reorganized committees which will report to the board as a whole.

Board members named to committees were Rev. Leroy White, James Bokhart, Ann Takacs, and Diane Lents, committee on instruction; Frank Hansen, O'Malley, William Bauman, and Bokhart, committee on administration; Eileen Globensky, Mrs. Takacs, Rev. White, and Mrs. Lents, committee on external relations, and Hansen, Bauman, O'Malley and Mrs. Globensky, committee on student activities.

The board's committee structure was recently reorganized from about eight to four committees. Jordan said each committee will appoint a committee chairman.

The regular April meeting of the board of education will be held at 7:30 p.m., March 30, instead of the first Wednesday in April because of spring recesses, Jordan said.

Mittan 'Aide' May Run

HARVEY HOFFMAN
Considers seeking post

A Cass county man, Harvey Hoffman, told the Bainbridge township board last night that he is considering running for the post of 4th District state representative, a post now held by Rep. Ray Mittan, R-Niles.

Hoffman, who lives near Indian Lake in Silver Creek township, told the board and the audience at last night's meeting he is a volunteer staff assistant to Mittan.

Mittan, contacted this morning said Hoffman was "a self-appointed" assistant. He said Hoffman contacted him last year and asked if he could work with youth in Cass county for the Republican party.

Mittan said this morning he still has not yet made up his mind whether he will run for another two-year term when his present term expires in 1978.

UCLA Star Almost Turned Pro Johnson Player Of Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Marques Johnson sweated and fretted. "It was hell, I stayed up until three o'clock in the morning before I made a decision," he says.

The day was last June 7 and the decision was to turn down a professional basketball contract.

It proved to be a good decision — a fateful, in fact — because had Johnson turned pro last year, he would not have had the chance to become college basketball's most applauded player of 1976-77.

Johnson gained the Adolph Rupp Trophy Monday as the Associated Press Player of the Year, outscoring the rest of the field by a wide margin.

Johnson, facing a news conference at a midtown hotel, acknowledged that fate had played a significant hand in his prestigious award.

"No doubt about it, it was a major decision," Johnson said of his agonizing night before opting to remain at UCLA for his senior year. "I got advice from just about everyone. Coaches and friends came in to see me. And of course, I talked it over with my father and mother."

Finally, Johnson pulled his name off the hardship list in an 11th-hour decision.

"I called (assistant coach) Larry Farmer and told him about it about three o'clock," Johnson remembers. "I guess he wouldn't like being woken up at that time usually — but for this thing, I suppose he didn't mind."

Johnson's story not only resulted in a happy ending, but shows promise of lucrative spinoffs. The spectacular senior year will probably spell more money in contract negotiations with the pros, Johnson acknowledges.

Rupp, winningest basketball coach in college history with an 879-190 record before retiring at Kentucky, appeared along with Johnson and Bartow at Monday's conference. Rupp presented the trophy to Johnson.

"UCLA is not a one-man team and the players on my team helped me look good," Johnson said. "I'm accepting the award on behalf of my teammates."

The AP Player of the Year receives the Rupp Trophy, which is awarded by the Commonwealth Athletic Club of Kentucky, a non-profit organization dedicated to honoring the former Kentucky coach.

Super Mex Plans To Be Better Than Ever

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (AP)

— Lee Trevino still wakes up in the middle of the night in a cold sweat from imagined lightning bolts and claps of thunder, but golf's Super Mex is sure the nightmare will disappear.

"The doctors say I will be 100 per cent in a couple of months," said the 37-year-old one-time golf hustler from Santa Teresa, N.M. "Personally, I think I will be better than ever."

"Back when I was winning the big ones in 1971 and 1972 I was out of shape. I never trained. I stayed up half the night. My diet was beer. I weighed 190 pounds."

"Now to get my back in shape. I do 2 1/2 hours of exercises every morning. I'm down to 175 pounds. All I have to do is get strong again. I guarantee you, I will."

The garrulous gaucha, who won two U.S. and two British Opens in the space of four years and added the PGA title in 1974, saw his game go into virtual eclipse in mid-1975. He went 15 months without a tour victory before winning the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth last year and has played in only six tournaments since May.

Something popped in his back while he was moving a large pot of dirt last June. He missed nine tournaments, including the U.S. and British Opens, and underwent surgery in November to correct a herniated disc.

He has played in only two tournaments this year. He won $1,000 at Inverrary. In the Citrus Open last weekend at Orlando, he finished out of the money, tied for 75th.

Trevino thinks his miseries probably stem from the time he and two fellow pros were struck by lightning while playing in the Western Open in Chicago in 1975, the week after the U.S. Open at Medinah.

It is scary the way he tells it. "Jerry Heard, Bobby Nichols and I were playing the 13th hole at Butler," he related. "It was Friday the 13th. We were in the green close to the water. I had just nailed a six-iron almost dead to the pin."

"Then without warning — just like that — the sky got black and the storm struck suddenly. I have never seen anything like it."

Trevino woke up flat on his back, doctors applying artificial resuscitation. Heard, who was sitting on a bench with a golf club between his legs, was severely burned around the groin and legs.

Nichols received a big knot on his head — the least injured of all.

"I don't know whether the lightning was the cause of my back trouble, or not," Trevino said. "I was not cold. I had burn marks on my back as big as silver dollars. The muscle tone in my right thigh was shattered. I thought I was dying."

"Heard and Nichols have hardly won a dime since it happened. Heard is thinking about a back operation but he is avoiding it. I think he is in Houston, hiding in a closet."

Five years ago, Trevino was the one who could look Jack Nicklaus in the eye and beat him. He whipped the Golden Bear in a playoff for the 1971 U.S. Open at Merion and outdueled Big Jack in two British Opens.

"Nicklaus isn't the problem any more," Super Mex said. "It's them kids. They come out of college, turn pro, play all the time. It's tough for a man in his 30s to beat them."

Five Area Teams Await Regional Basketball Tests

Covert coach Rod DeYoung and Watervliet first-year mentor Gene Bednarowski hope their teams are peaking at just the right time.

Both head coaches will find out quickly as part of a five-team contingent of southwestern Michigan basketball teams heading into regional competition this week.

Covert takes on Climax-Scotts in a Class D game Wednesday night at Sturgis, while Watervliet tackles defending Class C champion Buchanan Thursday on its own floor.

In other contests involving area teams, Niles battles Battle Creek Central in Class A Wednesday at Western Michigan and Paw Paw faces Sturgis tonight in a Class B game at Western.

Covert, which upset Bridgman in the districts, will take a five-game winning streak into regional play. The Bulldogs, now 20-3 and ranked No. 5, are having their best season since the 1965-66 team won the state title with a 26-0 mark.

"I think we're playing good ball right now," DeYoung says.

"In fact, we're playing better than we have all year. (James) DeBoe is coming back as strong as he was before he was declared ineligible. (Robert) Maggard is also playing real good."

"Robert has been playing well since the first Bridgman game. He's kinda taken charge the way I was hoping he would at the beginning of the year."

"And our bench has really done the job for us. We have to get a lot of help from our bench and we are. Putting all that together has made us a tough team."

The Bulldog bench outscored the Bridgman subs 17-4 in Saturday's district win.

Covert, in fact, is topped in scoring by sub Jerry Starks, who sports a 17.7 scoring average. Maggard and DeBoe also boast double figure marks of 14.9 and 12.6, respectively.

Climax, now 14-7, is paced by 6-0 senior forward Don Ballock (22.0 points per game) and 6-0 senior guard John Hallasz (13.0). DeYoung has not scouted Climax this year but isn't worried.

"I feel if we play our game we can beat anybody," he says. "If we play our type of game we're going to be tough to beat. We're not overpowering so we can't dominate anybody unless we play our game, though."

Tekonsha (11-10) and Burr Oak (2-17) open the Class D tourney tonight.

The task at hand for Watervliet is much tougher. The Panthers, whose 20-3 record is the best in school history, will be competing in the regional for the first time in 23 years. And Buchanan does not exactly offer the easiest of competition.

"Being the defending state champion will give an added impetus to their team," Bednarowski says. "On the other hand, the lack of tournament experience will be a disadvantage to us."

Buchanan brings in the area's top offensive mark, scoring 78.6 points per game. Watervliet, on the other hand, has southwestern Michigan's fourth best defense (57.7).

Buck coach Jon Bohannon agrees that his team would like to return to Ann Arbor again for the state finals.

"The kids want it real bad," he says. "They just will not be denied. The will to win and the will to survive is a very strong force with these kids."

Buchanan brings an eight-game winning streak and 18-5 record into the game. Heading the Buck offensive machine is 6-4 forward Gerald Busby. Busby boasts a 26.2 scoring mark, including 89 points in three district games.

Forward Greg Frazier and guard Joe Kyles also are double digit scorers.

"To beat Buchanan you have to contain Busby and Frazier," Bednarowski says. "You have to keep them from shooting as much as they do and keep them away from the boards."

"They are equal to any team we've played thus far," added Bednarowski, whose team has faced the likes of Class C power Kalamazoo Hackett and Class D Bridgman. "We have to control their fast break and keep them off the boards."

Watervliet is paced by 6-4 center Jim Weaver, who sports a 14.8 scoring mark. Forwards Tom Hutchinson and Jon Hinkelman and guard Chuck Brock are also scoring in double figures.

Kalamazoo Hackett (20-3) and Bronson (11-9) open the Watervliet tourney tonight.

Paw Paw, with its 15-8 record, has to be the Cinderella team in the Class B tourney so far. The Redskins have finally put it all together according to coach Dave Anderson.

"We're playing awful well right now," he says. "We've played four good games in a row. In order to get through a district like we did, all the players have to do their job."

"We did a good job on defense and we've been clicking well on offense. I was really pleased with our board work in the district. We outrebounded both Lakeshore and South Haven. Rebounding has been one of our problems all year."

Paw Paw is led by the front line combination of sophomore Jon Ghasin (13.6) and Willie Gipson (14.3). Guard Howard Miller is also scoring in double figures.

Sturgis, now 18-5, is sparked by 6-8 center Steve Rambadt, who is scoring at a 24-point per game clip. Another double figure scorer is 6-3 Rob Sisson, son of former Edwardsburg coach Skip Sisson.

Hastings (9-12) and Comstock (17-5) are in the first game tonight.

Niles, which brings an 18-4 record and seven-game winning streak into the regional, won its three district games by a total of 11 points. And the competition does not get any easier.

Battle Creek Central sports a 19-4 record and boasts a pair of double figure scorers in Rick McGee (16.0) and 6-7 James Carter (13.0 points and 12.0 rebounds). Central is allowing just 34 points per game.

And should the Vikings get by Battle Creek, No. 1-ranked Lansing Everett should be waiting in the wings. Everett smothered Niles 97-53 in a regular season game. Everett plays Howell (18-4) Wednesday.

All-American candidate Earl Johnson leads Everett with a 35-point average, but scoring is not all he does. In an 81-45 district title win over Lansing Sexton, Johnson scored but 10 points, while dishing out 14 assists.

Niles is paced by forward Tim Garner, scoring 21.5 points per game.

AP Pollsters Agree With Orr

Wolverines No. 1!

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

"There shouldn't be any question in anyone's mind," said Michigan Coach Johnny Orr after his team defeated Marquette 69-68 Sunday. "We should be No. 1."

The majority of the 53 sports writers and broadcasters who voted in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll agreed with Orr.

The 23-3 Wolverines collected 29 first-place votes and 912 points and moved from third place to the top of the poll. The Big Ten Conference champions, who meet Holy Cross in an opening round NCAA tournament game Sunday, won three times last week, beating Illinois and Purdue in addition to Marquette.

Michigan replaced the San Francisco Dons as the top-ranked team in the nation. The Dons, 29-1, had their dreams of a perfect season spoiled by Notre Dame 93-82 Saturday and fell to No. 3 with 743 points and 10 first-place votes. San Francisco meets No. 5 Nevada-Las Vegas in a tough NCAA opening-round match Saturday.

UCLA was ranked second with 553 points and six No. 1 votes. The Bruins, 23-4 and the Pacific-8 Conference champion, also have a difficult first-round tournament game, against 14th-ranked Louisville.

North Carolina, 25-4, won the Atlantic Coast Conference post-season tournament last week and moved from sixth to fourth in the balloting. The Tar Heels, who open NCAA play against Purdue, received 688 points and three first-place votes.

Nevada-Las Vegas, 25-2, rounded out the top five with 564 points.

Kentucky fell from second to sixth in the poll after losing a crucial Southeastern Conference game at Tennessee 81-79. The Wildcats, 23-3, earned 562 points and one No. 1 vote, placing them ahead of the No. 7 Volunteers, who got 471 points and a No. 1 ballot. Both Tennessee, which advanced from No. 11, and Kentucky will be in the NCAA playoffs. The Vols face Syracuse in an opening-round game, while Kentucky faces Princeton.

Southwest Conference champion Arkansas was eighth in the poll on the strength of a 261 record. Arkansas meets Wake Forest in NCAA play Saturday.

Minnesota, 24-3, is on NCAA suspension and ineligible for postseason play, but the Gophers were ninth in the voting. Syracuse, 25-3, rounded out the Top Ten.

The second ten was headed by Cincinnati, the Metro 7 champion. Then came No. 12 Alabama.

13th-rated Providence, which took the biggest fall in the poll, dropping from eighth; Louisville; 15th-ranked Notre Dame, which returned to the Top 20 after upending San Francisco; No. 16 Marquette, which moved up three places despite the loss to Michigan; Detroit, 17th; 18th-ranked North Carolina-Charlotte, which was selected for its first NCAA tourney on the basis of a 23-3 record; No. 19 Utah, the Western Athletic Conference titlist, and No. 20 Arizona.

Tough Defense Puts Chips In NCAA Tourney

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Central Michigan and Miami of Ohio are both champions of the Mid-American Conference, but the Chippawags have an NCAA regional playoff berth by virtue of their two regular season wins over the Redskins.

Central Michigan acquired its share of the MAC crown Monday night by downing Ohio University 76-64 on the Bobcats' home court, finishing 13-3 in conference play, same as Miami.

Miami ended the year with a 67-57 nonconference win over Xavier. Miami Coach Darrell Hedric said "we wanted to some extent when we found out we weren't going to be selected by either the NCAA or the NIT, but the kids performed well."

In other MAC season finals action, Western Michigan outlasted Bowling Green 89-68 and Northern Illinois toppled Kent State 110-101.

Central Michigan Coach Dick Parfitt said the win over Ohio University was a product of the defense he will count on to make a good showing Sunday at 2 p.m. in the NCAA Midwest Regional Playoff game with North Carolina-Charlotte, 23-3, at Bloomington, Ind.

"I felt our tough defense was what won it for us. We made them work very hard on offense but they ran what we knew they would. But our strength on the boards for a while gives us a well balanced team," said Parfitt.

Looking to that playoff contest, Parfitt said, "I don't know what they (North Carolina) do, but we'll have a chance to see them in a tournament they are in Tuesday night."

"We have good balance on defense and enough quickness and muscle to hold our own," he said confidently.

Ohio University Coach Dale Bandy gave the winning Chippawags a boost after their contest. "Going into the game, we knew we were outmanned so we tried to slow the tempo down and control things in the first half. And except for one spurt by them, we did."

"But the second half they played defense very well — $s well as anyone in the league has done. I think they will make a very fine representative for our conference in the NCAA," said Bandy.

Central Michigan sophomore Dave Grauzer led the Chippawags with 18, and senior Ben Poquette had 17. High scorer was Ohio's Steve Skaggs with 25. Teammate Tim Joyce followed with 22.

Central Michigan finished the regular season 18-9 overall and 13-3 in the conference, while Ohio University finished 9-17 overall and 4-12 in the MAC.

With the victory over Bowling Green, Western Michigan ended the season with a 14-13 record and split evenly in 16 league games. Bowling Green closed its season at 9-18 overall and 5-11 in the conference.

Western Michigan's Rod Curry was high point man with a season-high 21 points.

Northern Illinois had a strong second half showing in the win over Kent State. Behind the 42-point effort of Mat Hicks, Northern Illinois finished fourth in the MAC with a 10-6 record, 13-14 for the year. Kent State was 8-18 over-all, 4-11 in conference to finish eighth. Sophomore Burrell McGhee led Kent State with 32 points.

SEC Powers Set For Tournaments

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Southeastern Conference, with three of the nation's top 12 college basketball teams, warmed up for postseason action Monday night and made a few believers along the way.

Sixth-ranked Kentucky and seventh-ranked Tennessee wound up tied for the SEC championship, but Tennessee will represent the conference in the NCAA Tournament's Midwest Regional by virtue of having defeated Kentucky twice.

While the Vols face 10th-ranked Syracuse during the weekend at Baton Rouge, La., Kentucky earned an at-large spot in the East Regional against Ivy League champion Princeton.

Monday night, Tennessee defeated Vanderbilt 65-55, with the help of a late scoring spree led by Mike Jackson, Ernie Grunfeld and Bernard King, while Kentucky blasted Georgia 72-54, behind Jack Givens and Rick Robey.

Since only two teams from a conference can go to the NCAA, 12th-ranked Alabama had to settle for the National Invitation Tournament. The Crimson Tide wound up 22-4 — Tennessee is 22-5, Kentucky 24-3 — by pulling away from Florida in the second half for an 83-70 triumph.

NCAA-bound Notre Dame, which returned to the Top Twenty — the Irish are 15th this week — by defeating previously unbeaten San Francisco Saturday, needed late scoring by Toby Knight and Duck Williams to hold off stubborn DePaul 76-68.

The last berth in the 32-team NCAA field was filled when Central Michigan downed Ohio University 76-64. The Chippawags actually tied for the Mid-American Conference crown, but beat co-champion Miami twice during the season.

Florida's John Lotz picked Alabama to capture the NIT, which begins tonight with the first of eight opening-round games — Illinois State at Creighton — around the country to produce an eight-team field for New York's Madison Square Garden next week.

"Alabama will be my personal favorite to win the NIT," Lotz said after Reginald King destroyed Florida with 26 points. The Crimson Tide plays Memphis State at Birmingham Thursday night for the right to go to New York.

Upset-minded DePaul held Notre Dame to a 66-66 tie with four minutes to go, but Knight scored five points and Williams three down the stretch. Williams took scoring honors with 26 points.

ALL-LEAGUE: Eastern Montana State's Russell Steele, a former Benton Harbor basketball standout, is the only freshman on this year's all-Frontier Conference first team. Steele averaged 19.5 points per game while leading the Yellowjackets to an overall 15-13 record and second place in the conference at 8-4.

Strangers Will Back Up Blue In Oakland Opener

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vida Blue will be on the mound when the Oakland A's open their exhibition season Thursday, but he should be excused if he does not relate to those other strangers in the familiar Fort Knox gold, kelly green and wedding gown white play suits.

Oh, he will recognize Claudell Washington in right field, but last year's infield of Gene Tenace, Phil Garner, Bert Campaneris and Sal Bando has given way to — ready now — Wayne Gross, Larry Lintz, Rob Picciolo and Tommy Sandt. Who?

In addition, Manny Sanguillen, who came from Pittsburgh in exchange for Manager Chuck Tanner, will be behind the plate, someone named Dennis Walling will be patrolling centerfield and Billy Conigliaro, out of baseball since 1973, will be in left.

"We want to see all the kids. The other guys have all season," said Jack McKeon. Charlie Finley's newest manager, explaining why his starting lineup will not include such holdovers as centerfielder Bill North or second baseman Phil Garner.

The first exhibition contest was played Monday and the heroes were more non-household names ... people like Mike Barlow, Mike Easler and Thad Bosley ... as the California Angels blanked Fullerton State, one of the nation's top college teams, 3-0.

Barlow pitched three perfect innings, striking out six. Easler walked and scored a run, and Bosley, who stole 90 bases last year at Salinas in the California League, tripled and later scored.

The names figured to be more familiar today in the first game between major league teams.

The Angels' Frank Tanana was to oppose Randy Jones of the San Diego Padres, the National League's Cy Young Award winner who is coming off shoulder surgery.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Cubs have settled on a successor to third baseman Bill Madlock, the two-time NL batting champion they traded to San Francisco. It will be Steve Ontiveros, who came from the Giants along with Bobby Murcer in that deal. "He looks terrific to me," Herman Franks, the Cubs' new skipper, said of Ontiveros, who batted only .176 with the Giants last season.

In the contract department, the Padres signed third baseman Doug Rader, the Cleveland Indians satisfied outfielder Charlie Spikes and the Texas Rangers ended a minor salary skirmish with rookie second baseman Bump Wills.

However, the Indians also in-

A Master Angler Derby patterned after the Department of Natural Resources' fishing contest is being sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders.

The area derby will include five species — coho, chinook, steelhead, brown trout and lake trout — with members of the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders eligible for prizes.

There is an entry fee of $5, which covers the entire family. Steelheaders plan to return 100 per cent of entry fees in prizes, with 20 per cent for the largest fish by weight in each category.

All catches must have certified weights, and entries must be photographed. There are also minimum weights for entries — coho 14 pounds, chinook 30 pounds, steelhead 14 pounds, brown trout 14 pounds and lake trout 16 pounds.

Interested anglers will be able to receive further information at the Steelheaders annual spring fishing show and clinic March 19 at the Shadowland Ballroom in St. Joseph.

Area steelheaders, other chapters in Michigan and the Hoosier Coho Club will also be sponsoring a series of fishing tournaments this year.

Dates and location are Michigan City (Ind.) April 29-30, St. Joseph May 13-14, South Haven May 20-21, Holland June 3-4, Frankfort June 10-11, Ludington June 17-18, Grand Haven June 24-25, Whitehall July 15-16, Muskegon Aug. 12-13 and Oscoda Aug. 19-20.

Joe Kimmerly of Niles (683-5760) is heading up the St. Joe event, while Don Goodwillie (637-2400) is in charge of the South Haven tournament. These derbies are also for Steelhead members, and additional information will be available at the St. Joseph show March 19.

A New Buffalo reader is upset over the format of some recent issues of the Michigan Natural Resources Magazine published bi-monthly by the DNR.

"I just received my copy and I don't like what they are doing one bit," writes the New Buffalo reader. "The January-February issue was all pictures and this issue is mostly pictures. According to an item on the next to the last page, the editor has five more all-picture issues in the works. I didn't subscribe for and I'm not going to pay 85 cents per issue ($1.25 news stands) for what now amounts to an art-camera club magazine."

If others feel the same way, they should complain to the editor of the magazine and the DNR director.

One of the largest great blue heron nesting grounds in Michigan is being saved through cooperative efforts.

A New Hudson logger has voluntarily agreed to suspend operations in the heron rookery in western Oakland county from the beginning of March until after the young birds have left their nests in the tall trees next August. And in the interim, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs will be exploring means of acquiring the rookery site for perpetual preservation.

"MUCC and all conservation-minded people in Michigan are indebted to Mr. Woods (the logger) for his environmental awareness and good judgment in sparing this important piece of wildlife habitat," says MUCC executive director Thomas L. Washington.

Officers of Lawson Industrial Park, the Southfield real estate firm that owns the land in which the rookery stands, also expressed concern for the heronry and are now negotiating with the MUCC over possible transfer of ownership of the property to protect the nesting grounds.

A coalition has been formed to raise funds to acquire the rookery and a buffer zone. Members of the coalition include representatives of the MUCC, Oakland County Audubon Society, Detroit Audubon Society, Michigan Audubon Society, Multi-Lakes Conservation Association, Michigan Natural Areas Council and Wixom City Council.

State Turkey Chapter Formed

A Michigan chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation has been organized, with a goal of expanding wild turkey populations in the state while increasing the recreational opportunity they offer.

The chapter's first project will be a seminar in early April to help the successful applicants for Michigan's spring gobbler season with calling, hunting technique, natural history of the bird and sportsmanship.

Persons wishing information on the new turkey organization should contact Dennis Fijalkowski in Lansing (517-371-4041) or Jim Parker in Saginaw (517-793-4882).

Area Steelhead Success Is Up

Steelhead success continues to improve on the St. Joseph River. Improving catches are being reported by the Department of Natural Resources when the water isn't too muddy.

A recent creel census below the Berrien Springs dam had 65 fishermen with 42 steelhead and seven brown trout. And warming weather is helping to lure more and more anglers.

Thawing temperatures are also making ice conditions hazardous on southwestern Michigan lakes, especially on the spring fed ones. The DNR is asking anglers to get their shanties off the ice "as soon as possible."

Some of the best bluegill catches during the last spurt of ice fishing activity were made on Dewey and Magician Lakes in Cass county.

Sportsmen Meet March 15

Talks on 1977 fish plants, perch fishing and Michigan's hatchery program will be featured at the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 15, meeting of the Whirlpool St. Joseph Division Sportsmen's Club at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

District Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson will speak on fish plants and perch, while Jim Copeland, manager of the DNR's Wolf Lake Fish Hatchery, will discuss the state hatchery program.

Meeting Tonight

District fisheries biologist Dave Johnson and charter boat captain Emil Dean will be guest speakers at tonight's meeting of the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn. The originally scheduled program on lake trout has been postponed.

$700,000 APARTMENT PLAN Fennville OKs Rezoning

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission last night approved rezoning requested by a developer who wants to build a $700,000 apartment project in the city.

Rezoned from agriculture to commercial (multiple dwellings) was a five-acre site on North Maple street.

The rezoning had been requested by American Dwellings, Inc., of Kalamazoo. David Chidester, a spokesman for the firm, said the company hopes to get Farmers Home administration financing for construction of 32 apartments.

The rezoning was approved despite some previous opposition from people who now own property or homes in the area where the apartments would be built.

Chidester pledged to contact property owners adjacent to the apartment construction site to work out details on suitable boundary structures.

"We will do it right. We'll put up something we can all be proud of and will work with neighbors to erect whatever barriers they want," Chidester told the commission.

Last night's rezoning action leaves for consideration two remaining rezoning requests linked to proposed apartment construction.

A March 21 rezoning hearing is slated for Steve Kiss, a local resident, who wants to build a yet unspecified number of apartments at North Maple street and Landsburg road, and an April 4 rezoning hearing is scheduled for Christian Dencker, a Battle Creek developer who wants to put 48, federally financed apartments on a 12-acre site at the end of Reynolds street.

City officials said it appears FHA will finance only one of the apartment projects and that whoever gets that contract will probably have to take over the Maple Lane apartments, a project the federal government had to reclaim after the developer went broke.

In other areas last night, the commission approved buying a 1968, one-ton truck for $1,000 to be used at the cemetery and for spreading salt.

Commissioner Ned Bale was ordered to get cost and engineering information from the county road commission for the proposed paving of 58th street north in the city.

The commission appointed Commissioner Charles Hiar to the community recreation advisory committee at the request of John Lancaster, director of Fennville community schools. Lancaster said appointment of governmental officials to the committee would make it easier to get state and federal recreational grants.

Mayor Robert McCracken announced that public hearings on the city's 1977-78 budget will be held during one of the May city commission meetings.

APPEALS: Eritrean Liberation Front leader Osman Saleh Sabhi, shown Monday at Beirut news conference, told newsmen he had "solid evidence" Ethiopia's military leaders have asked Fidel Castro to send Cuban troops to defeat Eritrean forces. Sabhi said he appealed to President Jimmy Carter to head off any such intervention. (AP Wirephoto)

Covert Township Seeks Architect For New Hall

COVERT — The Covert township board last night voted to seek an architect to develop preliminary plans for construction of a new township hall.

The preliminary plans must be completed, according to Jerry Sarno, township supervisor, in order to make application for $223,215 in federal funds under the public works employment act.

Under new federal guidelines just released, such plans must be ready for submission within 90 days, Sarno said. The township planning commission in November had recommended that funding be sought to build a new township hall and renovate the old hall for use by the township police department. The renovation aspect has been dropped.

In a related matter, only one bid was received to demolish the three-story Brown building owned by the township, corner of Main and Lake streets across from the library. The $800 bid was submitted by C. Donald and Son of Covert. The bid was accepted by the township with partial payment due when the demolition reaches the second story of the building.

The area would possibly be used for a parking lot for the proposed new township hall, if a site across the street on the southside is selected for the new hall.

In other areas, the board made numerous appointments to various township committees last night.

Fred Davis was named to board of appeals replacing the late Archie Elliott. Rev. Alvenc Grice and Donald Goldring were appointed to the planning commission, replacing Davis and William Brown. Albert Williams was named to the salary commission replacing Elliott.

Broadwell Smith and Clarence Merrill were re-appointed and Charles McGill was newly appointed all to two-year terms on the board of review. Mrs. Viola Logan, Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum and Mrs. Lurlean Tischer were named to serve on the summer recreation committee.

Mrs. Stuckum, township treasurer, reported 94.8 per cent of 1976 township property taxes had been collected totaling nearly $2 million, by the payment deadline Feb. 28.

Sarno said he would be at the township hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., today and Monday and Tuesday, March 14-15, to help senior citizens and veterans fill out tax exemption forms. The board of review will also be in session at the same dates and times.

LANDSLIDE: Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto's party today took a landslide lead in incomplete general election returns in Pakistan, and Bhutto put emergency restrictions back into effect. The 49-year-old prime minister's Pakistan People's party had won 119 of the 200 elected seats in Monday's election of a new Parliament, while its chief rival, the nine-party Pakistan National Alliance, had only 19. Decatur Eyes Revision Of Sewer Fees

DECATUR — The Decatur village council last night discussed the possibility of amending its sewer use fee ordinance so new users would pay an equitable share of bond debt retirement costs.

Council members agreed to ask Warren B. Grosvenor, village attorney, to look over the ordinance with an eye toward possible revisions.

The possibility came up during discussion of extending water and sewer lines to a new home. Some council members felt that new users would not be paying a fair share of the bond debt retirement which was built into the monthly sewer use charge when the system was constructed in 1970.

Of the $8.75 monthly charge, $8.25 was pegged for debt retirement and council members said that some subscribers have been paying for debt retirement for six years on the 14-year bonds. As new subscribers are added, council members said, they would pay a proportionately lower part of the debt retirement.

The system was built in 1970 at a cost of $1.3 million. It was financed by some $458,000 from grants and a $820,000 bond issue.

In other action, the council appointed Trustees Lyle Overton and Carl Keyes to review 12 applications received for a position in the village public works department. They will report their recommendations to the council in two weeks. The replacement will fill a vacancy being created with the retirement June 1 of Max Graham, a long-time employee.

The council was informed that 75 new parking meters have been installed in a two-block area of Phelps street. Money from the meters will be used to pay for the new meters and for purchase and improvement of offstreet parking facilities. The new meters replaced existing ones.

The council asked Mrs. Ann Gerardo, deputy village clerk, to review water costs over a two-year period for people who let their water faucets run to prevent water line freeze because of severe cold weather and make appropriate adjustments.

The council agreed to contact the Van Buren county dog warden and request more time be spent in the Decatur area picking up stray dogs.

Village President Blaine Rex told the council that a meeting with Conrail officials will be held March 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Decatur township hall. The meeting, postponed from an earlier date, is to inform people about the proposed closings of railroad crossings in the village and township, Rex said.

The council voted to raise the salary of village election workers from $80 to $85 per day. Five people will work on the village election from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. March 14.

The council was asked, but took no action, on a request from Miss May Kaplan, Decatur Bicentennial chairman for assistance in extending the Bicentennial into 1977. She said a meeting would be held March 21 for interested people.

Rex told the council that Decatur and Freesoil, near Ludington, have been paired for the annual Mayor's Exchange day.

The council voted to retain the engineering firm of Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, to draw up plans for sewer and water extension in the Gale subdivision off Greenbriar terrace.

In other business, the council gave the Decatur high school student council permission to collect money on Phelps street March 12.

Granted permission to Fourth District Congressman Dave Stockman to park a motor home office on Main street March 21.

Voted to advertise for bids to sell a 1974 Dodge police car.

Coloma Schools Add Bookkeeper

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night approved the addition of an assistant bookkeeper to the district's administrative staff.

The assistant bookkeeper will eliminate the need for one full-time and one part-time secretary, according to Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent.

Clark said the hourly rate ranges from $3.50 to $4 depending on experience.

In other areas, the board accepted a committee report to form two separate cheerleading teams, one for boys football and one for boys and girls basketball for the 1977-78 school year. The action was taken to comply with a federal law for equal rights for both boys and girls athletic activities.

The board approved sending a letter of congratulations to the Coloma junior high band for receiving a division one rating during a band festival Saturday.

Paw Paw Lake TV Franchise Fee $700

COLOMA — The Coloma township board last night received a check from the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV amounting to $700 as the franchise payment for operating in the township. The amount, according to Supervisor Ewald Eckblom, is $76 higher than last year's payment, based on a higher number of cable television hook-ups in the township.

In another area, a letter from Jacob Thar, a township resident, alleged that township taxpayers were paying for sewer lines in private subdivisions and for maintenance of private roads by the Berrien County road commission. Eckblom made no comment on the letter.

Coloma Approves Equipment Rental

COLOMA — The Coloma city commission approved a 90-day rental contract last night for a backhoe and front end loader.

The contract with Tractorland Sales, Eau Claire, calls for the city to pay $1,000 per month for the equipment through April 11.

The city, under the terms of the rental agreement, may purchase the unit after the contract expires.

In other areas, the commission approved a pay hike for Lawrence Thomas Jr., a public works employee, from $3 to $3.50 per hour, effective March 14.

The commission approved the selling of Tootsie Rolls by the Knights of Columbus, Watervliet, April 1-2 in the city limits.

The city received a check from the Paw Paw Area Cable TV, Inc., for $551, as franchise fees for cable television hook-ups in the city.

The flushing of fire hydrants will be conducted by public works department on March 28-29-30, beginning each evening at 7:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk.

Snowmobiler Calls It Off

HOUGHTON LAKE, Mich. (AP) — The last member of an ill-fated trans-Canada snowmobile expedition has returned to his home here after abandoning his plans to journey to Fairbanks, Alaska. Lester Wolfe called off his quest to set a new record for a continuous snowmobile trip near Reindeer Lake, Sask. on Friday. Wolfe said he and his Indian guide were forced to stop when they "ran out of snow" about 40 miles from the border of Canada's Northwest Territory. Wolfe said they attempted to detour but were stopped and finally gave up. Wolfe was one of six men who set out from Pickle Lake, Ont., on Jan. 5, in an attempt to ride 3,500 miles to Fairbanks. The others dropped out until Wolfe and the guide were the only ones left.

A Master Angler Derby patterned after the Department of Natural Resources' fishing contest is being sponsored by the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders.

The area derby will include five species — coho, chinook, steelhead, brown trout and lake trout — with members of the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders eligible for prizes.

There is an entry fee of $5, which covers the entire family. Steelheaders plan to return 100 per cent of entry fees in prizes, with 20 per cent for the largest fish by weight in each category.

All catches must have certified weights, and entries must be photographed. There are also minimum weights for entries — coho 14 pounds, chinook 30 pounds, steelhead 14 pounds, brown trout 14 pounds and lake trout 16 pounds.

Interested anglers will be able to receive further information at the Steelheaders annual spring fishing show and clinic March 19 at the Shadowland Ballroom in St. Joseph.

Area steelheaders, other chapters in Michigan and the Hoosier Coho Club will also be sponsoring a series of fishing tournaments this year.

Dates and location are Michigan City (Ind.) April 29-30, St. Joseph May 13-14, South Haven May 20-21, Holland June 3-4, Frankfort June 10-11, Ludington June 17-18, Grand Haven June 24-25, Whitehall July 15-16, Muskegon Aug. 12-13 and Oscoda Aug. 19-20.

Joe Kimmerly of Niles (683-5760) is heading up the St. Joe event, while Don Goodwillie (637-2400) is in charge of the South Haven tournament. These derbies are also for Steelhead members, and additional information will be available at the St. Joseph show March 19.

A New Buffalo reader is upset over the format of some recent issues of the Michigan Natural Resources Magazine published bi-monthly by the DNR.

"I just received my copy and I don't like what they are doing one bit," writes the New Buffalo reader. "The January-February issue was all pictures and this issue is mostly pictures. According to an item on the next to the last page, the editor has five more all-picture issues in the works. I didn't subscribe for and I'm not going to pay $3 cents per issue ($1.25 news stands) for what now amounts to an art-camera club magazine."

If others feel the same way, they should complain to the editor of the magazine and the DNR director.

One of the largest great blue heron nesting grounds in Michigan is being saved through cooperative efforts.

A New Hudson logger has voluntarily agreed to suspend operations in the heron rookery in western Oakland county from the beginning of March until after the young birds have left their nests in the tall trees next August. And in the interim, the Michigan United Conservation Clubs will be exploring means of acquiring the rookery site for perpetual preservation.

"MUCC and all conservation-minded people in Michigan are indebted to Mr. Woods (the logger) for his environmental awareness and good judgment in sparing this important piece of wildlife habitat," says MUCC executive director Thomas L. Washington.

Officers of Lawson Industrial Park, the Southfield real estate firm that owns the land in which the rookery stands, also expressed concern for the heronry and are now negotiating with the MUCC over possible transfer of ownership of the property to protect the nesting grounds.

A coalition has been formed to raise funds to acquire the rookery and a buffer zone. Members of the coalition include representatives of the MUCC, Oakland County Audubon Society, Detroit Audubon Society, Michigan Audubon Society, Multi-Lakes Conservation Association, Michigan Natural Areas Council and Wixom City Council.

State Turkey Chapter Formed

A Michigan chapter of the National Wild Turkey Federation has been organized, with a goal of expanding wild turkey populations in the state while increasing the recreational opportunity they offer.

The chapter's first project will be a seminar in early April to help the successful applicants for Michigan's spring gobbler season with calling, hunting technique, natural history of the bird and sportsmanship.

Persons wishing information on the new turkey organization should contact Dennis Fjalkowski in Lansing (1-517-371-1041) or Jim Parker in Saginaw (1-517-793-4882).

Area Steelhead Success Is Up

Steelhead success continues to improve on the St. Joseph River. Improving catches are being reported by the Department of Natural Resources when the water isn't too muddy.

A recent creel census below the Berrien Springs dam had 65 fishermen with 42 steelhead and seven brown trout. And warming weather is helping to lure more and more anglers.

Thawing temperatures are also making ice conditions hazardous on southwestern Michigan lakes, especially on the spring fed ones. The DNR is asking anglers to get their shanties off the ice "as soon as possible."

Some of the best bluegill catches during the last spurt of ice fishing activity were made on Dewey and Magician Lakes in Cass county.

Sportsmen Meet March 15

Talks on 1977 fish plants, perch fishing and Michigan's hatchery program will be featured at the 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 15, meeting of the Whirlpool St. Joseph Division Sportsmen's Club at the St. Joseph Holiday Inn.

District Department of Natural Resources fisheries biologist Dave Johnson will speak on fish plants and perch, while Jim Copeland, manager of the DNR's Wolf Lake Fish Hatchery, will discuss the state hatchery program.

Big Catch

Craig Rose of Watervliet recently caught a 39-pound, 83-inch sailfin on an angling outing off Florida. He received a citation from the Ft. Lauderdale fishing festival for his catch.

NOT RELATED

The ring-tailed cat is not related to the cats at all. It is a member of the raccoon family.

Meeting Tonight

District fisheries biologist Dave Johnson and charter boat captain Emil Dean will be guest speakers at tonight's meeting of the Southwestern Michigan Steelheaders at the Benton Harbor Holiday Inn. The originally scheduled program on lake trout has been postponed.

'Best Therapy Ever' Prof Wilderness Camper

By RICK SHERWOOD
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — Prof. Larry Badii has nothing to worry about if he's evicted from his apartment this winter.

Badii probably would just take his tent, sleeping bag and other camping gear and pitch a site until a new residence could be found.

The 38-year-old professor of mathematics, in his 12th year at Eastern Michigan University, is one of a hardy breed of camping enthusiasts who, during the winter of 1975, decided to test his equipment in 20-below weather.

It worked so well, Badii found it half open when he awoke the next morning.

Complete with cross-country skis and portable kitchen utensils, a compass and topography map and 30 to 40 pounds of additional equipment, Badii has searched Michigan for appropriate wilderness areas.

Though he does not limit his travels to winter months, Badii does find special satisfaction by pitting himself against the worst conditions Mother Nature can produce.

"It's the best therapy ever—going into the wilderness with a backpack," Badii said. "It's tremendous mental relaxation. If you want to be philosophical, you can really look deep within yourself. When you come back, you have a tremendous amount of energy."

Trying to figure out where Badii fits in the molds today's society has constructed is like trying to figure out why a research mathematician, whose idol is Einstein, likes nothing better than camping out in freezing weather.

The answer may be as difficult to fathom as his Ph.D. thesis on "Applications of Integral Transforms in Generating Summable Series Involving High Transcendental Functions," or as simple as Badii's own brief explanation: "I've always been unconventional."

Badii began straying from beaten paths long before hidden Michigan wilderness routes called. He doubletimed his way through school, read voraciously and generally began asking why when others were asking how.

Sometimes he found time to develop the diametrically opposed interests of weightlifting and mountain climbing and even later, tennis, handball and just plain running.

When he first arrived in Michigan, he tried downhill skiing but soon converted.

"I really didn't like alpine skiing," he recalled. "I made about eight runs at Boyne Mountain and found that I was not that athletic. So, I decided to go where the hills were not groomed."

He tried to find cross-country skiing equipment shortly after, but found that local stores didn't stock such gear. Five years ago, he was able to order a pair, and his hobbies of camping and cross-country skiing merged.

Now his weekdays are filled with his mathematical occupation, handball and running. His weekends are devoted to camping.

Despite the built-in dangers of such an avocation, Badii breaks the requirements down as easily as an equation.

"You know for sure you're not going to freeze," Badii noted, glancing at his downfilled sleeping bag and insulated tent. "The danger is suffocation."

Badii explained that body moisture freezes, sealing off conventional tent vents.

"Essentially you have a sheet of ice inside the tent," he said. "Most people suffocate while sleeping. I just leave the flaps open to insure proper ventilation."

Escaping body heat from the sleeping bag also causes problems. Badii inadvertently discovered the amount of heat dissipated in a night while camping in an area covered by more than a foot of snow.

"There was too much snow to brush away, so I just set up the tent on the snow," he said. "The next morning I woke up and I had sunk all the way to the ground. All that remained was bare ground with a thin sheet of ice covering it."

Badii stressed proper preparation is essential.

"I never go into an area without studying it completely," he said. "So, when I'm in there, I'm not a total stranger."

Badii's travels have taken him from coast to coast. He remembers journeys through the Appalachian Trail, the Great Smokey Mountains in Tennessee and the Shenandoah National Park in Virginia.

But his longest trip was a two-week, 120-mile hike around and through the Isle Royale National Park in Lake Superior.

Berrien Judges Throw Seven Criminals Into Prison

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A two-time sex offender, on parole from prison when he raped a 15-year-old girl, was one of seven people sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien Circuit court.

Judge William S. White imposed a 40 to 60-year prison term on William Sherman McCain, 34, of 504 Main street, Waterford, for first degree criminal sexual conduct.

McCain was convicted of raping a 15-year-old girl May 13 in Coloma township and being armed with a knife during the incident.

Court records show McCain was previously convicted in Berrien Circuit court of assault with intent to rape a 14-year-old girl and was sentenced to 8 to 10 years in prison in 1971. He was paroled in early 1976 and was still on parole at the time of last May's attack.

Sammy Gaudlin, 43, of Elgin, Ill., was sentenced to 7 to 15 years in prison by White for manslaughter. He was charged with the Jan. 13 stabbing death of Tolly Jones in Benton Harbor. White noted the victim was stabbed in the heart with a screwdriver.

White also sentenced Turner B. Marshall, 27, of 519 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, to two years probation, with the first 90 days in jail, and assessed $600 fine and costs for possession of heroin Sept. 3 in Benton township.

In sentences by Judge S. S. Burkholz:

Eugene A. Crawford, 49, of 963 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, drew consecutive 6 to 10-year prison sentences for two counts of breaking and entering. He broke into Chicken Ed's cafe in Coloma township on Aug. 26 and into Mr. Dee's food center in Chikaming township on Dec. 13.

Larry Johnson, 22, of 989 Edison street, Benton township, was sentenced to 40 months to 5 years in prison for assault with intent to commit second degree criminal sexual conduct — sexual contact with a 16-year-old girl using force June 5 in Benton township.

Dan Hunter, Jr., 27, of Sandusky, Ohio, was sentenced to 16 months to 2 years in prison for reckless use of a firearm resulting in the death of his uncle, Henry McAfee, April 3 at 389 Maple street, Benton Harbor.

Danny E. Jurek, 24, of Route 2, Coloma, drew a 5 to 5-year prison term for armed robbery — using a rifle to rob Georgianna Enders of cash Oct. 14 at Georgianna's tavern in Benton Harbor.

Junior F. Cheek, 24, of Covert, was sentenced to 20 months to 5 years in prison by Judge Chester J. Byrns for a probation violation — a conviction in district court in South Haven for fleeing and eluding a police officer. Cheek had been placed on two years probation by Byrns in October, 1975, for attempted forgery.

In other sentences by Judge Burkholz:

Melvin Powell, 17, of 856 Edgumbe avenue, Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation and assessed $50 costs for larceny in a building — the theft of stereo equipment and clothing from the residence of Erma F. Patton in Benton Harbor on Nov. 17. Powell was also ordered to make restitution of $371 by Nov. 30 or spend all of December in jail.

Quentin J. Long, 20, of 1773 Eastland avenue, Benton township, was placed on five years probation and ordered to make $600 restitution for breaking and entering the residence of Kenneth Heathcock in Benton township on Nov. 30.

In arrangements before Judge Burkholz:

Lawrence J. Taylor, 18, and James P. Durden, 17, both of 2088 East Empire avenue, Benton township, both pleaded guilty to attempted unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle, a snowmobile owned by Kermit Robinson Feb. 5 in Benton township.

James O. Matthews, 45, of 2175 Esther, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of second degree criminal sexual conduct — sexual contact with a 17-year-old girl Nov. 29 in Benton Heights.

Diane Portask, 24, of 232 Bellview, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and disrupting telephone service. He is accused of assaulting John Coburn with a bottle Feb. 9 at the Itanada Inn, Benton township, and breaking telephone equipment there.

In an arraignment before Judge Julian E. Hughes, Anthony Lee Postoli, 22, of 2892 Territorial road, Benton township, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob while armed — assaulting Leika Masters with a gun Oct. 21 at Roger's party store in Benton township.

Prison Warden Dies

ST. JOHNS, Mich. (AP) — Charles Epler, warden at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 48. Epler suffered a heart attack while he and his wife Gloria were driving back to Jackson from their cottage at Roscommon, prison officials said. He was pronounced dead at a hospital in St. Johns. Epler had been warden at the world's largest walled prison for the past five years. Funeral arrangements were pending, prison officials said. There was no word on an immediate successor to Epler.

Bank Suspect Faces 2 Courts

Michael G. Pemberton, 18, of Montrose, Mich., was arraigned Monday in U.S. District court in Grand Rapids on a charge of attempted bank robbery at the Sodus branch of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan.

Pemberton was remanded to the custody of the U.S. marshal in lieu of $20,000 bond after arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Stephen Karr in Grand Rapids. Preliminary examination was scheduled March 17.

The FBI said federal charges were filed against Pemberton after he was arrested Friday when Berrien sheriff's officers answered a bank alarm at the Sodus branch. Sheriff's officers arrested Pemberton on a state charge of carrying a concealed weapon outside the bank.

Police reported bank employees said they locked the doors after a car had gone by the bank several times, then stopped and a man with his face heavily bandaged approached the bank.

Pemberton demanded examination when arraigned Saturday in Berrien Fifth District court on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a cap and ball pistol. He also pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor charge of having a police radio scanner in a car.

Judge Ronald J. Taylor set bond at $25,000.

She'll Perform Next In Court

BAITMORE (AP) — Actress Carol Channing's next performance here will be in a court rather than on a stage.

Miss Channing agreed on Monday to testify at the May 3 trial of two Baltimore men charged with the December theft of her $30,000 mink coat.

When the actress failed to appear at a trial last Friday, Criminal Court Judge James Perrott issued a bench warrant for her and her husband, Charles Lowe.

Husband Faces Attack Charge

David (Randy) Lincoln, 31, of 1717 South State street, St. Joseph, demanded preliminary examination when arraigned in Berrien District court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Lincoln was accused of assaulting his wife, Linda, with a pastry rolling pin at their residence about 5 a.m. Feb. 27, according to St. Joseph police. Mrs. Lincoln required emergency treatment at Memorial hospital, officers said.

After the arraignment, Lincoln was returned to jail in lieu of $50,000 bond set by Judge John T. Hammond.

The warrant charging Lincoln was authorized Saturday by Special Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger following an extended police investigation, according to a spokesman for the prosecutor's office.

Others demanding preliminary examinations were: Joece Vance, 39, of 2482 Kurt road, Benton township, on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. She was accused of shooting and wounding Betty Jo Davis, 16, of 135 Apple street, Benton Harbor, Sunday.

William L. Cowser, 23, of Portage, Ind., on a charge of possession of cocaine in New Buffalo Monday.

Bobbie D. Rogers, 30, of 794 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering the housing commission office at 925 Buss avenue Saturday.

Alexander B. Zandarski, 24, route 1, Linco road, Berrien Springs, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Ronald D. Robaska at that address March 4.

Eske Bowles Jr., 19, of 932 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto — a 1969 Cadillac belonging to Willie L. Martin in Benton Harbor Saturday.

Sentenced were: Breck R. Hartline, 18, of 100 West Buffalo street, New Buffalo, 30 days for contempt — failing to pay $155 fine and costs overdue Aug. 9. The fine stemmed from an Aug. 2 conviction of entering without permission.

Dewey E. Story, 40, of 251 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, one year probation and $105 for disorderly person, nonsupport of a 2½-year-old son continuously from 1974. The probation includes a support order.

Larry M. Hardin 32, of 6148 Jackson road, Coloma, five days and $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants, second offense, in Benton township March 6.

Ossie Phillips, 52, of 1449 Highland avenue, Benton township, $155 or 30 days for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Benton township March 4.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Driving while license suspended — Joe P. Bradley, 45, of 428 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor, three days and $100 or another 30 days; and Mary Jane Rodgers, 45, of Trenton, Mich., three days and $65 or another 20 days.

Driving while impaired — William J. Fatter, 30, of 14851 Brown road, Three Oaks, $155 or 30 days; Ronald W. Zotsman, 38, of 178 Collins avenue, Benton township, $155; James A. Mashak, 35, of 5205 West Hagar Shore road, Coloma, $152 and six months probation; and Jesse W. Starke, 18, of 4670 Notre Dame road, Stevensville, $155.

No Drinking Vow Helps Death Crash Driver Win Probation

A young man who told the judge he had taken a vow "never to drink again" was placed in two years probation yesterday in Berrien Circuit court for negligent homicide. Sentenced to probation by Judge S. S. Burkholz was Alberto T. Gonzales, 18, of Haines City, Fla. Gonzales was the driver of a car which crossed the center line of US-31-33 in Niles township on Sept. 18 and crashed head-on into another auto, killing Marilee Walker, 24, of Benton township. Mrs. Walker was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, George Walker. Judge Burkholz noted Gonzales, 17 at the time of the accident, had "been drinking heavily" prior to the crash. He told her he was never going to consume alcohol again, and emphasized he could live up to his vow.

$700,000 APARTMENT PLAN Fennville OKs Rezoning

FENNVILLE — The Fennville city commission last night approved rezoning requested by a developer who wants to build a $700,000 apartment project in the city.

Rezoned from agricultural to commercial (multiple dwellings) was a five-acre site on North Maple street.

The rezoning had been requested by American Dwellings, Inc., of Kalamazoo. David Chidester, a spokesman for the firm, said the company hopes to get Farmers Home administration financing for construction of 32 apartments.

The rezoning was approved despite some previous opposition from people who now own property or homes in the area where the apartments would be built.

Chidester pledged to contact property owners adjacent to the apartment construction site to work out details on suitable boundary structures.

"We will do it right. We'll put up something we can all be proud of and will work with neighbors to erect whatever barriers they want," Chidester told the commission.

Last night's rezoning action leaves for consideration two remaining rezoning requests linked to proposed apartment construction.

A March 21 rezoning hearing is slated for Steve Kiss, a local resident, who wants to build a yet unspecified number of apartments at North Maple street and Landsburg road, and an April 4 rezoning hearing is scheduled for Christian Dencker, a Battle Creek developer who wants to put 48, federally financed apartments on a 12-acre site at the end of Reynolds street.

City officials said it appears FHA will finance only one of the apartment projects and that whoever gets that contract will probably have to take over the Maple Lane apartments, a project the federal government had to reclaim after the developer went broke.

In other areas last night, the commission approved buying a 1969, one-ton truck for $1,000 to be used at the cemetery and for spreading salt.

Commissioner Ned Bale was ordered to get cost and engineering information from the county road commission for the proposed paving of 58th street north in the city.

The commission appointed Commissioner Charles Hiar to the community recreation advisory committee at the request of John Lancaster, director of Fennville community schools. Lancaster said appointment of governmental officials to the committee would make it easier to get state and federal recreation grants.

Mayor Robert McCracken announced that public hearings on the city's 1977-78 budget will be held during one of the May city commission meetings.

APPEALS: Eritrean Liberation Front leader Osman Saleh Sabbi, shown Monday at Beirut news conference, told newsmen he had "solid evidence" Ethiopia's military leaders have asked Fidel Castro to send Cuban troops to defeat Eritrean forces. Covert Township Seeks Architect For New Hall

COVERT — The Covert township board last night voted to seek an architect to develop preliminary plans for construction of a new township hall.

The preliminary plans must be completed, according to Jerry Sarno, township supervisor, in order to make application for $223,215 in federal funds under the public works employment act.

Under new federal guidelines just released, such plans must be ready for submission within 90 days, Sarno said. The township planning commission in November had recommended that funding be sought to build a new township hall and renovate the old hall for use by the township police department. The renovation aspect has been dropped.

In a related matter, only one bid was received to demolish the three-story Brown building owned by the township, corner of Main and Lake streets across from the library. The $800 bid was submitted by C. Donald and Son of Covert. The bid was accepted by the township with partial payment due when the demolition reaches the second story of the building.

The area would possibly be used for a parking lot for the proposed new township hall, if a site across the street on the southside is selected for the new hall.

In other areas, the board made numerous appointments to various township committees last night.

Fred Davis was named to board of appeals replacing the late Archie Elliott. Rev. Alvene Grice and Donald Goldring were appointed to the planning commission, replacing Davis and William Brown. Albert Williams was named to the salary commission replacing Elliott.

Broadwell Smith and Clarence Merrill were re-appointed and Charles McGill was newly appointed all to two-year terms on the board of review. Mrs. Viola Logan, Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum and Mrs. Lurlean Tischler were named to serve on the summer recreation committee.

Mrs. Stuckum, township treasurer, reported 94.8 per cent of 1976 township property taxes had been collected totaling nearly $2 million, by the payment deadline Feb. 28.

Sarno said he would be at the township hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., today and Monday and Tuesday, March 14-15, to help senior citizens and veterans fill out tax exemption forms. The board of review will also be in session at the same dates and times.

Decatur Eyes Revision Of Sewer Fees

DECATUR — The Decatur village council last night discussed the possibility of amending its sewer use fee ordinance so new users would pay an equitable share of bond debt retirement costs.

Council members agreed to ask Warren B. Grosvenor, village attorney, to look over the ordinance with an eye toward possible revisions.

The possibility came up during discussion of extending water and sewer lines to a new home. Some council members felt that new users would not be paying a fair share of the bond debt retirement which was built into the monthly sewer use charge when the system was constructed in 1970.

Of the $9.75 monthly charge, $8.25 was pegged for debt retirement and council members said that some subscribers have been paying for debt retirement for six years on the 14-year bonds. As new subscribers are added, council members said, they would pay a proportionately lower part of the debt retirement.

The system was built in 1970 at a cost of $1.3 million. It was financed by some $458,000 from grants and a $920,000 bond issue.

In other action, the council appointed Trustees Lyle Overton and Carl Keyes to review 12 applications received for a position in the village public works department. They will report their recommendations to the council in two weeks. The replacement will fill a vacancy being created with the retirement June 1 of Max Graham, a long-time employee.

The council was informed that 75 new parking meters have been installed in a two-block area of Phelps street. Money from the meters will be used to pay for the new meters and for purchase and improvement of offstreet parking facilities. The new meters replaced existing ones.

The council asked Mrs. Ann Gerardo, deputy village clerk, to review water costs over a two-year period for people who let their water faucets run to prevent water line freeze because of severe cold weather and make appropriate adjustments.

The council agreed to contact the Van Buren county dog warden and request more time be spent in the Decatur area picking up stray dogs.

Village President Blaine Rex told the council that a meeting with Conrail officials will be held March 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Decatur township hall. The meeting, postponed from an earlier date, is to inform people about the proposed closings of railroad crossings in the village and township, Rex said.

The council voted to raise the salary of village election workers from $30 to $35 per day. Five people will work on the village election from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. March 14.

The council was asked, but took no action, on a request from Miss Mary Kaplan, Decatur Bicentennial chairman for assistance in extending the Bicentennial into 1977. She said a meeting would be held March 21 for interested people.

Rex told the council that Decatur and Freesoil, near Ludington, have been paired for the annual Mayor's Exchange day.

The council voted to retain the engineering firm of Wightman & Associates, St. Joseph, to draw up plans for sewer and water extension in the Gale subdivision off Greenbriar terrace.

In other business, the council gave the Decatur high school student council permission to collect money on Phelps street March 12.

Granted permission to Fourth District Congressman Dave Stockman to park a motor home office on Main street March 21.

Voted to advertise for bids to sell a 1974 Dodge police car.

Coloma Schools Add Bookkeeper

COLOMA — The Coloma school board last night approved the addition of an assistant bookkeeper to the district's administrative staff.

The assistant bookkeeper will eliminate the need for one full-time and one part-time secretary, according to Ronald Clark, assistant superintendent.

Clark said the hourly rate ranges from $3.50 to $4 depending on experience.

In other areas, the board accepted a committee report to form two separate cheerleading teams, one for boys football and one for boys and girls basketball for the 1977-78 school year. The action was taken to comply with a federal law for equal rights for both boys and girls athletic activities.

The board approved sending a letter of congratulations to the Coloma junior high band for receiving a division one rating during a band festival Saturday.

Paw Paw Lake TV Franchise Fee $700

COLOMA — The Coloma township board last night received a check from the Paw Paw Lake Area Cable TV amounting to $700 as the franchise payment for operating in the township. The amount, according to Supervisor Ewald Eckblom, is $76 higher than last year's payment, based on a higher number of cable television hook-ups in the township.

In another area, a letter from Jacob Thar, a township resident, alleged that township taxpayers were paying for sewer lines in private subdivisions and for maintenance of private roads by the Berrien County road commission. Eckblom made no comment on the letter.

Coloma Approves Equipment Rental

COLOMA — The Coloma city commission approved a 90-day rental contract last night for a backhoe and front end loader.

The contract with Tractorland Sales, Eau Claire, calls for the city to pay $1,000 per month for the equipment through April 11.

The city, under the terms of the rental agreement, may purchase the unit after the contract expires.

In other areas, the commission approved a pay hike for Lawrence Thomas Jr., a public works employee, from $3 to $3.50 per hour, effective March 14.

The commission approved the selling of Tootsie Rolls by the Knights of Columbus, Watervliet, April 1-2 in the city limits.

The city received a check from the Paw Paw Area Cable TV, Inc., for $551, as franchise fees for cable television hook-ups in the city.

The flushing of fire hydrants will be conducted by public works department on March 28-29-30, beginning each evening at 7:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Patricia Beezley, city clerk.

Snowmobiler Calls It Off

HOUGHTON LAKE, Mich. (AP) — The last member of an ill-fated trans-Canada snowmobile expedition has returned to his home here after abandoning his plans to journey to Fairbanks, Alaska. Lester Wolfe called off his quest to set a new record for a continuous snowmobile trip near Reindeer Lake, Sask. on Friday.

Wolfe said he and his Indian guide were forced to stop when they "ran out of snow" about 40 miles from the border of Canada's Northwest Territory. Wolfe said they attempted to detour but were stopped and finally just gave up. Wolfe was one of six men who set out from Pickle Lake, Ont., on Jan. 5, in an attempt to ride 3,500 miles to Fairbanks. The others dropped out until Wolfe and the guide were the only ones left.

Lincoln Citizens Group Selects 3 Study Targets

By AL AREND Staff Writer

Three main areas for study have been selected by a newly formed Lincoln township citizens committee, according to William Hill, committee press secretary.

The three areas are controlled use of Grand Mere area by the general public; establishment of a community-wide clean up program; and establishment of rules for public use of the community room at the new township hall.

The 17-member committee was formed after the township board authorized Mrs. Bernice Tretheway, township supervisor, to appoint committee members in an effort to help expand communications with the township board and township citizens.

Charles (Chuck) Baker was named temporary chairman of the committee and Mrs. Peter (Carol) Petros, temporary secretary. The committee meets the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall.

Other topics for possible in-depth study by the group include: Cable TV; co-ordination of parks-library-hall complex at the community center; need for a rummage or peddler or-finance; adequacy of township form of government; expanding utilities; fringe benefits for township employees; a community summer celebration; study of taxpayer knowledge of local ordinances.

Other members of the committee besides Baker, Mrs. Petros, and Hill include Mrs. Thomas (Marianne) Brugman, Harry G. Burleson, Leslie Collins, Roy Duffield, Mrs. John (Vicki) Florin, Mrs. Wesley (Nancy) Harper, Alan Holaday, William Johnson, David Klucke, Mrs. Richard (Norene) Laney, Anson Lovellette, Len Raschke, Robert J. Toussant and Robert Vandermolten.

FOR PARENTS Drug Awareness Series Is Planned

Riverwood Substance Abuse Services will present a drug awareness series for parents of teenagers and pre-teens during April, according to Paula Andrasi, director of the program.

The first will be from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 5, at Maud Preston Palenske, Memorial library, 500 Market street, St. Joseph. Following sessions will be held at the same time and place each Tuesday during April.

The series is to educate parents about various aspects of drug use and abuse. Included will be discussions on why people use drugs, how drugs work, special drug survival information and legal issues concerning drug use and abuse. Treatment and prevention also will be reviewed.

There will be no charge for the series, but parents interested are asked to register by calling 926-7271.

PBB Trial May Take 3 Months

By PHIL BENNETT Associated Press Writer

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The state's first PBB contamination trial may take three months to complete testimony.

With testimony due to resume today, only four witnesses have been heard during the trial's first two weeks. But these two weeks mark one-third of the time Wexford County Circuit Court Judge William Peterson cleared to hear the case.

A spokeswoman for the judge said Monday it is clear the trial has bogged down. But Peterson has mentioned no plans to change trial procedures, although attorneys in the case now estimate it will take two or three months to finish, she reported.

The fourth witness, Roy Tacoma, the Missaukee County dairy farmer who filed the suit, could be on the stand until this Friday. Tacoma is suing five firms on ground the fire retardant cost him more than 100 cows and calves.

Primary defendants in the case are Michigan Chemical Co., which made the PBB at its St. Louis, Mich., plant, and Michigan Farm Bureau Services, which inadvertently mixed the fire retardant into livestock feed it distributed statewide in 1973.

Tacoma and his wife also are suing the Falmouth Co-op, where they bought tainted feed, and two Michigan Chemical affiliates. Their suit seeks $250,000 actual damages, plus unspecified punitive damages.

Paul Greer, one of Tacoma's lawyers, said after the trial recessed for the weekend on Friday that he plans to spend another day quizzing his client once the trial resumes Tuesday. Greer estimated Tacoma's cross-examination will require another two days.

By this Friday, Greer said, he hopes to start questioning the first one or two of the eight to 10 Michigan Chemical employees he will call as witnesses. Greer said a similar number of Farm Bureau Services workers are slated to testify.

In addition, Gary Schenk, Greer's associate, said earlier he plans to call 19 scientific witnesses who can offer expert testimony about PBB and its impact.

But both Greer and Schenk said they expect the pace to quicken once Tacoma's testimony completes the basic foundation of their case.

The defense also has several witnesses of its own. But their number will depend upon which ones Greer and Schenk call first.

QUITTING: Farah Fawcett-Majnes, 30, has notified her producers she is quitting the popular TV series "Charlie's Angels," in which she portrays Jill Munroe, who is teamed with Sabrina Duncan (Kate Jackson) and Kelly Garrett (Jaclyn Smith). Jury Selection In Sixth Day

DETROIT (AP) — The tedious process of jury selection stretched into its sixth day today in the trial of two Filipina nurses accused of killing two patients at the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital.

Monday's session saw six prospective jurors appear before Judge Philip Pratt in U.S. District court here. Two were excused from jury service after questioning.

In addition, lawyers dismissed two more prospective jurors by using preemptory challenges, which permit removal of a limited number of jurors for no stated reason.

The trial of Filipina Nursiso, 30, of Ypsilanti, and Leonora Perez, 32, of Ann Arbor, is expected to last more than four months once a jury is selected. Attorneys say jury selection should last at least another week.

In five days of jury selection, 40 potential jurors have been questioned by the judge and lawyers, and 24 of them have been disqualified or excused from duty.

Prompts Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — General Motors should tell 43,000 owners of 1977 Oldsmobiles that the V-8 engines installed in their autos were made by Chevrolet, the Illinois attorney general says.

Atty. Gen. William J. Scott sued GM on Monday in Circuit Court, seeking $50,000 in civil damages, saying the giant auto maker owes $175 in each of the Olds Delta 88 owners who have 350-cubic-inch displacement engines in their autos.

"We're not trying to put anyone in jail," Scott said at a news conference. "All we're trying to do is inform the poor consumers of what they're getting for their money."

Beverage Wholesalers Face Hearings Today

Two wholesale beverage dealers in the Twin Cities were scheduled for Michigan Liquor Control commission hearings today in Kalamazoo.

Complaints against them, filed by an MLCC investigator, were that they had a financial interest, directly or indirectly, in the establishment.

Nine Junior High Bands Rated Tops

Nine junior high bands, including two from Lakeshore, received first division ratings Saturday at district band festivals held at Watervliet and Brandywine junior highs.

Class A, B and D band competition was held at Brandywine and Class C at Watervliet. First division ratings at Brandywine were as follows, according to Thomas Wentworth, Brandywine band director:

Class A — Coloma and Lakeshore I; Class B — Brandywine and South Haven; Class C — Gobles and Lakeshore II.

In Class C competition at Watervliet, three schools received first division ratings, according to Roger Nelson, Watervliet junior high band director. They were: Buchanan, New Buffalo and Three Oaks.

Bands receiving first division ratings are eligible to compete in the state band festival, May 7.

Charged were Dixon Beverage Co., 231 Broad street, St. Joseph, and L & L Beverage Corp., 1586 North M-139, Benton Harbor.

A third licensee from Berrien county, Mary Alice Appel, 3024 US-31 North, Niles, was scheduled for a hearing on charges of the premises being occupied after legal hours; persons consuming after the legal hour, and refusing to cooperate with law enforcement officer.

At the same time, the liquor control commission reported the disposition of charges heard on Feb. 15 against Benton Harbor and Buchanan licensees.

Cleo Butten, doing business as Brooklyn tavern, 379 Territorial, Benton Harbor, was fined $50 for selling, keeping for sale or possessing spirits not purchased from his authorized state store; $75 for allowing dancing without a permit, and $100 for refusing to cooperate with law enforcement officers, according to the MLCC. The first violation occurred Nov. 4, and the other two Dec. 6.

James W. Lomough, doing business as Jim's Bar, 258 East Front street, Buchanan, was fined $300 for a minor consuming on Sept. 6. A second charge, selling to a minor, was dismissed.

Jury Plan Rates High

DETROIT (AP) — The one-day, one-trial jury system begun in 1975 in Wayne County Circuit Court has been designated by the federal government as one of its most successful criminal justice projects. The system, now proposed for all circuit courts in the state, guarantees that prospective jurors are called only once a year. If not assigned to a jury that day, they are dismissed. Those assigned to a trial serve only for that trial. The U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which spent about $227,000 on the project, said the system has made jury duty more convenient for the public. A package of bills before the Michigan Legislature would require the eventual adoption of the one-day, one-jury system by all circuit courts in the state.

Berrien Judges Throw Seven Criminals Into Prison

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

A two-time sex offender, on parole from prison when he raped a 15-year-old girl, was one of seven people sentenced to prison Monday in Berrien Circuit court.

Judge William S. White imposed a 40 to 60-year prison term on William Sherman McCain, 34, of 504 Main street, Watervliet, for first degree criminal sexual conduct.

McCain was convicted of raping a 15-year-old girl May 13 in Coloma township and being armed with a knife during the incident.

Court records show McCain was previously convicted in Berrien Circuit court of assault with intent to rape a 14-year-old girl and was sentenced to 8 to 10 years in prison in 1971. He was paroled in early 1976 and was still on parole at the time of last May's attack.

Sammy Gaudin, 43, of Elgin, Ill., was sentenced to 7 to 15 years in prison by White for manslaughter. He was charged with the Jan. 13 stabbing death of Tolly Jones in Benton Harbor. White noted the victim was stabbed in the heart with a screwdriver.

White also sentenced Turner B. Marshall, 27, of 519 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, to two years probation, with the first 90 days in jail, and assessed $600 fine and costs for possession of heroin Sept. 3 in Benton township.

In sentences by Judge Zoe S. Burkholz: Eugene A. Crawford, 49, of 963 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, drew consecutive 6 to 10-year prison sentences for two counts of breaking and entering. He broke into Chicken Ed's cafe in Coloma township on Aug. 26 and into Mr. Dee's food center in Chikaming township on Dec. 13.

Leroy Johnson, 22, of 989 Edison street, Benton township, was sentenced to 40 months to 5 years in prison for assault with intent to commit second degree criminal sexual conduct — sexual contact with a 16-year-old girl using force June 5 in Benton township.

Dan Hunter, Jr., 27, of Sandusky, Ohio, was sentenced to 16 months to 2 years in prison for reckless use of a firearm resulting in the death of his uncle, Henry McAfee, April 3 at 389 Maple street, Benton Harbor.

Danny E. Jurelich, 24, of Route 2, Coloma, drew a 5 to 25-year prison term for armed robbery — using a rifle to rob Georgianna Enders of cash Oct. 14 at Georgianna's tavern in Benton Harbor.

Junior F. Cheek, 24, of Covert, was sentenced to 20 months to 5 years in prison by Judge Chester J. Byrns for a probation violation — a conviction in district court in South Haven for fleeing and eluding a police officer. Cheek had been placed on two years probation by Byrns in October, 1975, for attempted forgery.

In other sentences by Judge Burkholz:

Melvin Powell, 17, of 856 Edgumbe avenue, Benton Harbor, was placed on two years probation and assessed $50 costs for larceny in a building — the theft of stereo equipment and clothing from the residence of Erma F. Patton in Benton Harbor on Nov. 17. Powell was also ordered to make restitution of $371 by Nov. 30 or spend all of December in jail.

Quentin J. Long, 20, of 1773 Eastland avenue, Benton

township, was placed on five years probation and ordered to make $600 restitution for breaking and entering the residence of Kenneth Heathcock in Benton township on Nov. 30.

In arraignments before Judge Burkholz:

Lawrence J. Taylor, 18, and James P. Durden, 17, both of 2088 East Empire avenue, Benton township, both pleaded guilty to attempted unlawfully driving away a motor vehicle, a snowmobile owned by Kermit Robinson Feb. 5 in Benton township.

James O. Matthews, 45, of 2175 Esther, Benton township, pleaded innocent to a charge of second degree criminal sexual conduct — sexual contact with a 17-year-old girl Nov. 29 in Benton Heights.

Duane Pociask, 24, of 232 Bellview, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to charges of assault with a deadly weapon and disrupting telephone service. He is accused of assaulting John Coburn with a bottle Feb. 9 at the Ramada Inn, Benton township, and breaking telephone equipment there.

In an arraignment before Judge Julian E. Hughes, Anthony Lee Postelli, 22, of 2892 Territorial road, Benton township, pleaded guilty to assault with intent to rob while armed — assaulting Leila Masters with a gun Oct. 21 at Roger's party store in Benton township.

Prison Warden Dies

ST. JOHNS, Mich. (AP) — Charles Egler, warden at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 48. Egler suffered a heart attack while he and his wife Gloria were driving back to Jackson from their cottage at Roscommon, prison officials said. He was pronounced dead at a hospital in St. Johns. Egler had been warden at the world's largest walled prison for the past five years. Funeral arrangements were pending, prison officials said. There was no word on an immediate successor to Egler.

Bank Suspect Faces 2 Courts

Michael G. Pemberton, 18, of Montrose, Mich., was arraigned Monday in U.S. District court in Grand Rapids on a charge of attempted bank robbery at the Sodus branch of First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan.

Pemberton was remanded to the custody of the U.S. marshal in lieu of $20,000 bond after arraignment before U.S. Magistrate Stephen Karr in Grand Rapids. Preliminary examination was scheduled March 17.

The FBI said federal charges were filed against Pemberton after he was arrested Friday when Berrien sheriff's officers answered a bank alarm at the Sodus branch. Sheriff's officers arrested Pemberton on a state charge of carrying a concealed weapon outside the bank.

Police reported bank employees said they locked the doors after a car had gone by the bank several times, then stopped and a man with his face heavily bandaged approached the bank.

Pemberton demanded examination when arraigned Saturday in Berrien Fifth District court on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, a cap and ball pistol. He also pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor charge of having a police radio scanner in a car.

Judge Ronald J. Taylor set bond at $25,000.

She'll Perform Next In Court

BALTIMORE (AP) — Actress Carol Channing's next performance here will be in a court rather than on a stage.

Miss Channing agreed on Monday to testify at the May 3 trial of two Baltimore men charged with the December theft of her $30,000 mink coat.

When the actress failed to appear at a trial last Friday, Criminal Court Judge James Perrott issued a bench warrant for her and her husband, Charles Lowe.

Husband Faces Attack Charge

David (Randy) Lincoln, 31, of 1717 South State street, St. Joseph, demanded preliminary examination when arraigned in Berrien District court yesterday on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

Lincoln was accused of assaulting his wife, Linda, with a pastry rolling pin at their residence about 6 a.m. Feb. 27, according to St. Joseph police. Mrs. Lincoln required emergency treatment at Memorial hospital, officers said.

After the arraignment, Lincoln was returned to jail in lieu of $50,000 bond set by Judge John T. Hammond.

The warrant charging Lincoln was authorized Saturday by Special Asst. Prosecutor Wilbur Schillinger following an extended police investigation, according to a spokesman for the prosecutor's office.

Others demanding preliminary examinations were:

Joyce Vance, 39, of 2482 Kurt road, Benton township, on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder. She was accused of shooting and wounding Betty Jo Davis, 16, of 135 Apple street, Benton Harbor, Sunday.

William L. Cowser, 23, of Portage, Ind., on a charge of possession of cocaine in New Buffalo Monday.

Bobbie D. Rogers, 30, of 794 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, on a charge of breaking and entering the housing commission office at 925 Buss avenue Saturday.

Alexander B. Zandarski, 24, route 1, Lincro road, Berrien Springs, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon against Ronald D. Robaska at that address March 4.

Esler Bowens Jr., 19, of 932 Pearl street, Benton Harbor, on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto — a 1969 Cadillac belonging to Willie L. Martin in Benton Harbor Saturday.

Sentenced were:

Breck R. Hartline, 18, of 100 West Buffalo street, New Buffalo, 30 days for contempt — failing to pay $155 fine and costs overdue Aug. 9. The fine stemmed from an Aug. 2 conviction of entering without permission.

Dewey E. Story, 40, of 251 Lake avenue, Benton Harbor, one year probation and $105 for disorderly person, nonsupport of a 2½-year-old son continuously from 1974. The probation includes a support order.

Larry M. Hardin 32, of 6448 Jackson road, Coloma, five days and $155 for driving under the influence of intoxicants, second offense, in Benton township March 6.

Ossie Phillips, 52, of 1449 Highland avenue, Benton township, $155 or 30 days for driving under the influence of intoxicants in Benton township March 4.

Sentenced for the following violations were:

Driving while license suspended — Joe P. Bradley, 45, of 428 South Fair avenue, Benton Harbor, three days and $100 or another 30 days; and Mary Jane Rodgers, 45, of Trenton, Mich., three days and $65 or another 20 days.

Driving while impaired — William J. Fatter, 30, of 14851 Brown road, Three Oaks, $155 or 30 days; Ronald W. Zotsman, 38, of 178 Collins avenue, Benton township, $155; James A. Mashak, 35, of 5205 West Hagar Shore road, Coloma, $152 and six months probation; and Jesse W. Starke, 18, of 4670 Notre Dame road, Stevensville, $155.

No Drinking Vow Helps Death Crash Driver Win Probation

A young man who told the judge he had taken a vow "never to drink again" was placed on two years probation yesterday in Berrien Circuit court for negligent homicide. Sentenced to probation by Judge Zoe S. Burkholz was Alberto T. Gonzales, 18, of Haines City, Fla. Gonzales was the driver of a car which crossed the center line of US-31-33 in Niles township on Sept. 18 and crashed head-on into another auto, killing Marilee Walker, 24, of Benton township. Mrs. Walker was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, George Walker. Judge Burkholz noted Gonzales, 17 at the time of the accident, had "been drinking heavily" prior to the crash. He told her he was never going to consume alcohol again, and emphasized he could live up to his vow.

As an incentive, the judge ordered that he not drink intoxicants while on probation and also ordered that he not drive a vehicle unless he needs one for work. "You can't erase the (emotional) scars," the judge told Gonzales, "but I am satisfied it is not likely you'll again be involved in criminal misconduct. You're a good risk for probation."

Detroit's Shot Plan 'Successful'

DETROIT (AP) — Some 400 Detroit grade school children won't be permitted back in school until they are immunized against childhood diseases.

School officials said a crash program to immunize some 10,000 elementary school youngsters had been remarkably successful by Monday's shot deadline.

Although some 1,500 students had not received shots at the beginning of classes Monday, officials said most were immunized during the day and only about 400 students were sent home.

"We knew that it was quite a task to undertake," said Richard Smart, chief of the school system's health department. "I would say it has been a tremendous success."

SECOND THOUGHTS: Wide-eyed Saad Mezo, 10, was one of many children who got inoculations at health department facilities in Detroit over the weekend. Only 400 elementary school children were sent home Monday because they didn't have proof of immunization against serious communicable diseases. (AP Wirephoto)

Bloodmobile Due In South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — The Van Buren county Red Cross bloodmobile will visit South Haven Monday and Tuesday, March 21 and 22, according to Mrs. Nana Weirbey, blood drive chairman.

Sponsored by the South Haven Community hospital auxiliary, the bloodmobile will be at the First English Lutheran church, 617 Kalamazoo street. Monday's hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m. and from noon to 6 p.m. on Tuesday.

Mrs. Weirbey said this year's goal is 300 pints of blood. People between the ages of 17 and 66 are eligible to donate. Seventeen-year-olds must have parental permission, however. She said that due to the harsh winter weather, the county has fallen behind in its monthly quota.

Catholic Students In BH Write President About Whales

Third graders at Lake Michigan Catholic elementary school in Benton Harbor wrote to President Jimmy Carter after reading in their Weekly Reader about the decrease in the whale population.

"We are afraid that we will never get to see a real whale," the students in Mrs. Dena Beth Kinney's classroom wrote in the letters. The children each drew a picture of a whale being killed or captured and enclosed it with their letters.

BH Schools To Describe Funded Programs

Benton Harbor Area schools' office of compensatory programs will sponsor an all-day session Thursday, March 17, for citizens interested in learning about state and federal funded programs in the school district.

The session will run from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Sumner hall, First Congregational church, 202 Bellevue, Benton Harbor. No registrations are required.

All interested citizens are invited to attend, said Renee Williams, facilitator, school-community relationships for the district. The office of compensatory programs is headed by Mrs. Gladys E. Burks, coordinator. Citizens may spend as much time in sessions as their schedules permit, Mrs. Williams said.

Programs to be discussed include health services, pre-school programs, Title I reading programs, staff development programs, and school-community programs.

The session will include slides and exhibits. Buffet meals will be served without charge to attending citizens at 8 a.m., noon and 5 p.m.

Ferency: Free Non-Violent

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan prisons would have plenty of room for dangerous criminals if bad check artists, car thieves, drugs addicts and other non-violent convicts were released, says Zoltan Ferency.

Ferency, onetime Democratic nominee for governor, told the state Court of Appeals Monday that Michigan courts could order an end to prison overcrowding as easily as they ordered an end to school segregation. He is the former head of the Human Rights Party, which filed suit against the state Department of Corrections.

"We do not want another At-tica in this state," he argued. "The authorities know they have an explosive situation and now is the time to act, it seems to me."

The Human Rights Party suit seeks to force the corrections department, by a court order, to end prison overcrowding by whatever means possible. Corrections officials say Michigan's prison facilities are holding about 1,300 more inmates than they have room for.

Originally filed in Ingham County Circuit Court, the suit maintains that overcrowding is unconstitutional because it amounts to cruel and unusual punishment. The situation is dangerous to both inmates and prison employees, it says.

But the state claims that the Human Rights Party has no legal right to file a suit challenging state prison policies. It also claims that there's nothing courts can do to see the overcrowding problem.

If the Court of Appeals rules in the party's favor, the suit must return to trial at the circuit court. If the appeals court rules in the state's favor, the suit will be dismissed.

But Ferency argued Monday that courts can halt prison overcrowding the same way they halted school segregation — by court orders. And he said non-prisoners have a right to challenge the state's prison policies because "We put them there."

"Everyone in the prison system today was put there in the name of the people of the State of Michigan," said Ferency.

At one point in Ferency's argument, Appeals Court Judge S. Jerome Bronson interrupted to say that there "must be a more reasonable and realistic remedy" to overcrowding than to end prison admissions, one alternative suggested by Ferency.

"There is plenty of room in our prisons for people who are dangerous to the community," replied Ferency. Room for them could be made by releasing non-violent convicts like bad check artists, embezzlers, car thieves, shoplifters and those convicted of drug offenses, he said.

The appeals court is not expected to rule in the case for about a month.

Air Base Into Prison?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state lawmaker has called studies on the feasibility of using Kincheloe Air Force Base as a state prison if the federal government shuts it down. The Department of Defense is considering closing the Upper Peninsula base near Sault Ste. Marie. A recent Air Force environmental impact statement said closing Kincheloe would save federal dollars without harming the U.S. defense capability. State Rep. Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake, said he has asked for a resolution to create a special committee to probe possible use of the base as a medium security prison. Fessler said using the abandoned base as a prison would ease overcrowding in other facilities, save money and retain many of the jobs at the base.

Today In History

PLAINTIFFS' ATTORNEYS: Paul Greer, 53, right, Fremont, and Gary Schenk, 33, Grand Rapids, are attorneys representing Roy and Marilyn Tacoma of Falmouth in the first PBB case to go to trial in Michigan. PBB Trial May Take 3 Months

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The state's first PBB contamination trial may take three months to complete testimony.

With testimony due to resume today, only four witnesses have been heard during the trial's first two weeks. But those two weeks mark one-third of the time Wexford County Circuit Court Judge William Peterson cleared to hear the case.

A spokeswoman for the judge said Monday it is clear the trial has bogged down. But Peterson has mentioned no plans to change trial procedures, although attorneys in the case now estimate it will take two or three months to finish, she reported.

The fourth witness, Roy Tacoma, the Missaukee County dairy farmer who filed the suit, could be on the stand until this Friday. Tacoma is suing five firms on ground the fire retardant cost him more than 100 cows and calves.

Primary defendants in the case are Michigan Chemical Co., which made the PBB at its St. Louis, Mich., plant, and Michigan Farm Bureau Services, which inadvertently mixed the fire retardant into livestock feed it distributed statewide in 1973.

Tacoma and his wife also are suing the Falmouth Co-op, where they bought tainted feed, and two Michigan Chemical affiliates. Their suit seeks $250,000 actual damages, plus unspecified punitive damages.

Paul Greer, one of Tacoma's lawyers, said after the trial recessed for the weekend on Friday that he plans to spend another day quizzing his client once the trial resumes Tuesday. Greer estimated Tacoma's cross-examination will require another two days.

By this Friday, Greer said, he hopes to start questioning the first one or two of the eight to 10 Michigan Chemical employees he will call as witnesses. Greer said a similar number of Farm Bureau Services workers are slated to testify.

In addition, Gary Schenk, Greer's associate, said earlier he plans to call 19 scientific witnesses who can offer expert testimony about PBB and its impact.

But both Greer and Schenk said they expect the pace to quicken once Tacoma's testimony completes the basic foundation of their case.

The defense also has several witnesses of its own. But their number will depend upon which ones Greer and Schenk call first.

Jury Selection In Sixth Day

DETROIT (AP) — The tedious process of jury selection stretched into its sixth day today in the trial of two Filipina nurses accused of killing two patients at the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital.

Monday's session saw six prospective jurors appear before Judge Philo Pratt in U.S. District court here. Two were excused from jury service after questioning.

In addition, lawyers dismissed two more prospective jurors by using preemptory challenges, which permit removal of a limited number of jurors for no stated reason.

The trial of Filipina Narsiso, 30, of Ypsilanti, and Leonora Perez, 32, of Ann Arbor, is expected to last more than four months once a jury is selected. Attorneys say jury selection should last at least another week.

The two women are charged with murdering two VA Hospital patients and poisoning seven others during the summer of 1975 by injecting them with Pavulon, a powerful paralyzing drug. In five days of jury selection, 40 potential jurors have been questioned by the judge and lawyers, and 24 of them have been disqualified or excused from duty.

Prompts Suit

CHICAGO (AP) — General Motors should tell 43,000 owners of 1977 Oldsmobiles that the V-8 engines installed in their autos were made by Chevrolet, the Illinois attorney general says.

Atty. Gen. William J. Scott sued GM on Monday in Circuit Court, seeking $50,000 in civil damages, saying the giant auto maker owes $175 to each of the Olds Delta 88 owners who have 350-cubic-inch displacement engines in their autos.

"We're not trying to put anyone in jail," Scott said at a news conference. "All we're trying to do is inform the poor consumers of what they're getting for their money."

Lincoln Citizens Group Selects 3 Study Targets

By AL AREND
Staff Writer

Three main areas for study have been selected by a newly formed Lincoln township citizens committee, according to William Hill, committee press secretary.

The three areas are controlled use of Grand Mere area by the general public; establishment of a community-wide clean up program; and establishment of rules for public use of the community room at the new township hall.

The 17-member committee was formed after the township board authorized Mrs. Bernice Tretheway, township supervisor, to appoint committee members in an effort to help expand communications with the township board and township citizens.

Charles (Chuck) Baker was named temporary chairman of the committee and Mrs. Peter (Carol) Petros, temporary secretary. The committee meets the second Monday of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the township hall.

Other topics for possible in-depth study by the group include: Cable TV; co-ordination of parks-library-hall complex at the community center; need for a rummage or peddler ordinance; adequacy of township form of government; expanding utilities; fringe benefits for township employees; a community summer celebration; study of taxpayer knowledge of local ordinances.

Other members of the committee besides Baker, Mrs. Petros, and Hill include Mrs. Thomas (Marianne) Brugman, Harry G. Burleson, Leslie Collins, Roy Duffield, Mrs. John (Vicki) Florin, Mrs. Wesley (Nancy) Harper, Alan Holaday, William Johnson, David Klackie, Mrs. Richard (Norene) Laney, Anson Lovellette, Len Raschke, Robert J. Toussant and Robert Vandermolen.

FOR PARENTS

Drug Awareness Series Is Planned

Riverwood Substance Abuse Services will present a drug awareness series for parents of teenagers and pre-teens during April, according to Paula Andrasi, director of the program.

The first will be from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 5, at Maud Preston Palenske, Memorial library, 500 Market street, St. Joseph. Following sessions will be held at the same time and place each Tuesday during April.

The series is to educate parents about various aspects of drug use and abuse. Included will be discussions on why people use drugs, how drugs work, special drug survival information and legal issues concerning drug use and abuse. Treatment and prevention also will be reviewed.

There will be no charge for the series, but parents interested are asked to register by calling 926-7271.

Paw-Paw Man Retires From Highway Post

PAW PAW — Jim Gibson, 1000 East St. Joseph street, Paw Paw, retired March 5 after 26 years with the state department of highways and transportation, according to an announcement by the department. He had always been stationed at Paw Paw and had been a heavy equipment operator since 1962.

Samples From Soo Being Tested

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — Blood and fat samples from about 160 surgical patients at War Memorial Hospital here are being checked for traces of PBB.

Dr. Russell Sabar of Sault Ste. Marie said the samples, from patients operated on since 1975, are being tested by a New York research team which also has been testing Michigan farm families for signs of possible ill health effects from PBB.

Sabar said his samples are representative of the general Michigan population, rather than only farm families. None of the samples are from persons whose farms were quarantined for the fire-retardant chemical and all those involved buy their food from supermarkets, he said.

Testing of the samples should begin in about two weeks, and Sabar said he expects a preliminary report in about six months.

Beverage Wholesalers Face Hearings Today

Two wholesale beverage dealers in the Twin Cities were scheduled for Michigan Liquor Control commission hearings today in Kalamazoo.

Complaints against them, filed by an MLCC investigator, were that they had a financial interest, directly or indirectly, in the establishment.

Charged were Dixon Beverage Co., 231 Broad street, St. Joseph, and L & L Beverage Corp., 1586 North M-139, Benton Harbor.

A third licensee from Berrien county, Mary Alice Appel, 3024 US-31 North, Niles, was scheduled for a hearing on charges of the premises being occupied after legal hours; persons consuming after the legal hour, and refusing to cooperate with law enforcement officer.

At the same time, the liquor control commission reported the disposition of charges heard on Feb. 15 against Benton Harbor and Buchanan licensees.

Cleo Button, doing business as Brooklyn tavern, 379 Territorial, Benton Harbor, was fined $50 for selling, keeping for sale or possessing spirits not purchased from his authorized state store; $75 for allowing dancing without a permit, and $100 for refusing to cooperate with law enforcement officers, according to the MLCC. The first violation occurred Nov. 4, and the other two Dec. 6.

James W. Lomahaugh, doing business as Jim's Bar, 259 East Front street, Buchanan, was fined $300 for a minor consuming on Sept. 6. A second charge, selling to a minor, was dismissed.

Nine Junior High Bands Rated Tops

Nine junior high bands, including two from Lakeshore, received first division ratings Saturday at district band festivals held at Watervliet and Brandywine junior highs.

Class A, B and D band competition was held at Brandywine and Class C at Watervliet. First division ratings at Brandywine were as follows, according to Thomas Wentworth, Brandywine band director:

Class A — Coloma and Lakeshore I; Class B — Brandywine and South Haven; Class D — Gobles and Lakeshore II.

In Class C competition at Watervliet, three schools received first division ratings, according to Roger Nelson, Watervliet junior high band director. They were: Buchanan, New Buffalo and Three Oaks.

Bands receiving first division ratings are eligible to compete in the state band festival, May 7.

Jury Plan Rates High

DETROIT (AP) — The one-day, one-trial jury system begun in 1975 in Wayne County Circuit Court has been designated by the federal government as one of its most successful criminal justice projects. The system, now proposed for all circuit courts in the state, guarantees that prospective jurors are called only once a year. If not assigned to a jury that day, they are dismissed. Those assigned to a trial serve only for that trial. The U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, which spent about $227,000 on the project, said the system has made jury duty more convenient for the public. A package of bills before the Michigan Legislature would require the eventual adoption of the one-day, one-jury system by all circuit courts in the state.

DISCOVERY: Try some soft peanut butter spread over a baked potato. It's real good! ... In "Otherwise Engaged," Lynn Milgrim smokes cigarettes made from cabbage. (That's turning over a new leaf!) ... Sandwich Favorite of Phil ("Natalie Needs a Nightie") Ford, Vegas: Rare roast beef with creamed cheese and minced chives on French bread ... Faded Phrases: "He's a doozie," "Fess up now" and "Let's vamoose out of here." ... Robert Orben writes: "Now, about this weather — where is Ralph Nader when you really need him?" ... Michael Caine and Cybill Shepherd filmed the final scenes for "The Silver Bears" at Caesars Palace in Vegas. (A place which is also known for gold!) ... An ardent admirer of George Burns saw him dining at Pen & Pencil, NYC., and remarked, "His smoke rings turn into halos!" ... The Banana Boat Restaurant in Hollywood serves a fried banana with every entree ordered ... Sudden Thought: Dick Anthony Williams, who plays Slake in "The Deep," must have thirsted for the role! ... Big Surprise: Experts now tell us that mice do not like cheese!

SMATTERING OF SIGNS: At the present time, Aries persons will be catching up on unfinished business; these natives have a way of getting "too many irons in the fire" and not being able to cope. Marriage and partnership are important to the native Sagittarian, but sometimes he wants more than he is willing to give. Who one is in the company of a Scorpio, one is often aware of a sense of mystery which is hard to define or explain.

Detroit's Shot Plan 'Successful'

DETROIT (AP) — Some 400 Detroit grade school children won't be permitted back in school until they are immunized against childhood diseases.

School officials said a crash program to immunize some 10,000 elementary school youngsters had been remarkably successful by Monday's shot deadline.

Parents had been told that their children would be barred from classes Monday unless they showed proof of immunization against measles, rubella, mumps, diphtheria, whooping cough and polio.

Although some 1,500 students had not received shots at the beginning of classes Monday, officials said most were immunized during the day and only about 400 students were sent home.

"We knew that it was quite a task to undertake," said Richard Smart, chief of the school system's health department. "I would say it has been a tremendous success."

SECOND THOUGHTS: Wide-eyed Saad Mezo, 10, was one of many children who got inoculations at health department facilities in Detroit over the weekend. Only 400 elementary school children were sent home Monday because they didn't have proof of immunization against serious communicable diseases. (AP Wirephoto)

Bloodmobile Due In South Haven

SOUTH HAVEN — The Van Buren county Red Cross bloodmobile will visit South Haven Monday and Tuesday, March 21 and 22, according to Mrs. Nona Weirbey, blood drive chairman.

Sponsored by the South Haven Community hospital auxiliary, the bloodmobile will be at the First English Lutheran church, 617 Kalamazoo street. Monday's hours will be from 1 to 7 p.m.

and from noon to 6 p.m. on Tuesday.

Mrs. Weirbey said this year's goal is 300 pints of blood.

People between the ages of 17 and 66 are eligible to donate. Seventeen-year-olds must have parental permission, however. She said that due to the harsh winter weather, the county has fallen behind in its monthly quota.

Catholic Students In BH Write President About Whales

Third graders at Lake Michigan Catholic elementary school in Benton Harbor wrote to President Jimmy Carter after reading in their Weekly Reader about the decrease in the whale population.

"We are afraid that we will never get to see a real whale," the students in Mrs. Dena Beth Kinney's classroom wrote in the letters. The children each drew a picture of a whale being killed or captured and enclosed it with their letters.

BH Schools To Describe Funded Programs

Benton Harbor Area schools' office of compensatory programs will sponsor an all-day session Thursday, March 17, for citizens interested in learning about state and federal funded programs in the school district.

The session will run from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. at Sonner hall, First Congregational church, 292 Bellview, Benton Harbor. No registrations are required.

All interested citizens are invited to attend, said Renee Williams, facilitator, school-community relationships for the district. The office of compensatory programs is headed by Mrs. Gladys E. Burks, coordinator. Citizens may spend as much time in sessions as their schedules permit. Mrs. Williams said.

Programs to be discussed include health services, pre-school programs, Title I reading programs, staff development programs, and school-community programs.

The session will include slides and exhibits. Buffet meals will be served without charge to attending citizens at 8 a.m., noon and 5 p.m.

Ferency: Free Non-Violent

By SUSAN AGER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan prisons would have plenty of room for dangerous criminals if bad check artists, car thieves, drugs addicts and other non-violent convicts were released, says Zolton Ferency.

Ferency, onetime Democratic nominee for governor, told the state Court of Appeals Monday that Michigan courts could order an end to prison overcrowding as easily as they ordered an end to school segregation. He is the former head of the Human Rights Party, which filed suit against the state Department of Corrections.

"We do not want another Attica in this state," he argued. "The authorities know they have an explosive situation and now is the time to act, it seems to me." The Human Rights Party suit seeks to force the corrections department, by a court order, to end prison overcrowding by whatever means possible. Corrections officials say Michigan's prison facilities are holding about 1,300 more inmates than they have room for.

Originally filed in Ingham County Circuit Court, the suit maintains that overcrowding is unconstitutional because it amounts to cruel and unusual punishment. The situation is dangerous to both inmates and prison employees, it says.

But the state claims that the Human Rights Party has no legal right to file a suit challenging state prison policies. It also claims that there's nothing courts can do to see the overcrowding problem.

If the Court of Appeals rules in the party's favor, the suit must return to trial at the circuit court. If the appeals court rules in the state's favor, the suit will be dismissed.

But Ferency argued Monday that courts can halt prison

overcrowding the same way they halted school segregation — by court orders. And he said non-prisoners have a right to challenge the state's prison policies because "We put them there."

"Everyone in the prison system today was put there in the name of the people of the State of Michigan," said Ferency.

At one point in Ferency's argument, Appeals Court Judge S. Jerome Bronson interrupted to say that there "must be a more reasonable and realistic remedy" to overcrowding than to end prison admissions, one alternative suggested by Ferency.

"There is plenty of room in our prisons for people who are dangerous to the community," replied Ferency. Room for them could be made by releasing non-violent convicts like bad check artists, embezzlers, car thieves, shoplifters and those convicted of drug offenses, he said.

The appeals court is not expected to rule in the case for about a month.

Air Base Into Prison?

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A state lawmaker has called studies on the feasibility of using Kinceloe Air Force Base as a state prison if the federal government shuts it down. The Department of Defense is considering closing the Upper Peninsula base near Sault Ste. Marie. A recent Air Force environmental impact statement said closing Kinceloe would save federal dollars without harming the U.S. defense capability. State Rep. Richard Fessler, R-Union Lake, said he has asked for a resolution to create a special committee to probe possible use of the base as a medium security prison. Fessler said using the abandoned base as a prison would ease overcrowding in other facilities, save money and retain many of the jobs at the base.

Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, March 8, the 67th day of 1977. There are 298 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, riots and a strike in St. Petersburg marked the beginning of the Russian revolution.

On this date: In 1765, the British House of Lords passed a Stamp Act taxing the American colonies.

In 1865, a canal was begun in the Netherlands to connect Amsterdam with the North Sea.

In 1894, New York became the first state to pass a law requiring dogs to be licensed. In 1942, the Japanese captured Rangoon, Burma, in World War II.

In 1969, the Soviet Union put its army in the Far East on alert as a war with China after a frontier clash on the Ussuri River.

In 1970, President Makarios of Cyprus escaped an assassinsation attempt when terrorist snipers shot down his helicopter.

Ten years ago: Striking Irish farmers demanding higher prices blockaded Dublin and raised the threat of a meat and vegetable shortage in the capital.

Five years ago: President Richard M. Nixon signed an executive order limiting the secrecy surrounding federal documents and restricting the power of officials to classify them.

One year ago: Israel's ambassador to Washington, Simcha Dinitz, publicly criticized the Ford Administration's plans to sell Egypt military transport planes.

Today's birthdays: Actress Cyd Charisse is 54 years old. Pianist Mary Lou Williams is 67.

Thought for today: It is better to have a permanent income than be fascinating. — Oscar Wilde, Irish writer, 1866-1900.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Working Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market worked its way ahead today, continuing the rally of the past several sessions.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up about 2 points in the early going, and gainers took a 3-2 lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Analysts noted no special news behind the market's strength. Rather, they said, traders seemed to have concluded from the market's steady showing lately that early-1977 selling pressure had abated.

Today's early prices included Ford Motor, down 1/8 at 59; Champion Spark Plug, ahead 1/8 at 12 3/4, and S.S. Kresge, up 1/4 at 35 1/2.

Kresge reported that its earnings for the quarter ended Jan. 26 rose to 88 cents a share from 81 cents in the comparable year-ago period.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average posted a 1.66 advance to 955.12 for its third straight gain.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about a 5-4 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume totalled 17.41 million shares, against 18.95 million on Friday.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .04 to 55.02.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .11 at 111.58.

Four Clark Men Unhurt In Romania

Four executives of the Clark Equipment company's international division, all from the Jackson, Mich., offices were unhurt when a major earthquake struck Bucharest, Romania, late last Friday.

The four included A. James Balfour, Steven Mandreger, Edward Ziegler and Duane Hutton. They were in Romania to meet with officials at Universal Tractor company, a power shift transmission manufacturer, according to a spokesman at the Clark offices in Jackson.

The spokesman said the four are now in Brasov, Romania, where the transmission plant is located and plan to return to the U.S. in about two weeks.

Bridgman May Void Sand Permit

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman city commission last night voted to ask Martin Marietta Aggregates to appear before the city commission and show why a temporary city sand mining permit should not be revoked.

The action came after City Supt. Milford Mellon told the commission that it "seems" the sand mining company has taken more sand than it needed to from the site of a proposed $7 million plant the company announced last August it intended to build.

Last October, the city granted the firm a permit to haul sand from the firm's south site in Bridgman over Red Arrow highway to its existing plant north of the city.

At an Oct. 25 city commission meeting, Mellon quoted Marietta officials as saying the firm would have to haul some 35,000 tons of sand from the south site where the new plant would be built. New plant construction has not started yet.

The next city commission meeting is March 21.

In other action last night, city commissioners said that unless it gets results on complaints about pollution at Bridgman Casting Center from the firm, it will take the complaints to the state department of natural resources air quality control division.

At the same time, the city commission, in a recessed session, took no action on an offer from the firm to build a 30-foot long, eight-inch water main down Matthews street at the firm's expense. Under the proposal, city officials said, the city could have tapped into the main at a nominal cost of $400.

The city commission authorized Barger Engineering of St. Joseph to get cost and construction figures on the proposed repair of present playground equipment, purchase of new equipment and construction of a parking lot at the Veterans Memorial park at Post court.

The commission also released Shawnee Specialties, Inc., a casting firm, from its lease with the city for a building behind city hall.

The firm, which has three full-time employees, is planning to build a new plant in Eau Claire, according to Patricia Root, a representative from the Berrien county Economic Development department.

The commission also approved, on final reading, two ordinances, both dealing with railroad trains going through the city.

The first prohibits the obstruction of vehicular traffic by stopped trains for more than five minutes, and the second sets at 30 miles per hour the maximum speed of trains going through the city.

STATE PAYING HALF

Dowagiac To Share Traffic Light Cost

DOWAGIAC — The Dowagiac city council agreed last night to share the cost of new traffic signals at the intersection of Front and Commercial streets with the Department of State Highways and Transportation.

City Manager Henry Graper Jr., said the city's share would be 50 percent of the total cost, or $5,186. He said by sharing the cost of this signal, hopefully approval of a second traffic signal at Prairie Ronde and Front street would come quicker.

The signals would include an overhead traffic light, plus pedestrian crossing lights.

In other areas, the council approved an appraisal report by E.C. Deyo & Associates, on four small parcels of land sought by the city under the community development program. The parcels are located along the Dowagiac Creek flood plain on the city's southeast side. Graper said the city plans to acquire the property for flood plain protection and for an open space required by the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The parcels of land and appraisals for each area follows: Jones estate, $2,400; Paul Cohen estate, $250; Vera Andrews property, $2,500; and Rayburn Bonee property, $3,900.

A public hearing was set for April 18, at 7:45 p.m. in council chambers to discuss vacation of Merchant street as requested by the Holy Maternity Catholic church. The church wants the street vacated to expand its parking facilities.

At a public hearing preceding last night's meeting, federal revenue sharing funds amounting to $86,148 were added to the city's budget for 1976-77. The

Hay Barn Burns At Cassopolis

CASSOPOLIS — Fire early today destroyed a barn believed filled with hay at the Val Washington farm, route 2, Daily road, west of here, Cass sheriff's deputies reported.

Deputies said the fire was reported about 2:50 a.m. and the call answered by Cassopolis firemen who said the barn was engulfed in flames when they arrived.

Cause of the blaze is unknown and under investigation by the Cass sheriff's office. Deputies said Washington is out of the area and they had no information on the value of the structure, but said it is believed to be about five years old and filled with hay. Deputies said renters at the farm, whose names were not known, reported the blaze.

Niles Residents Voting On School Tax Increase

NILES — Voters in the Niles community school district are deciding the fate of a four-mill property tax levy in a special election today.

The levy, for operational expenses, is being sought for three years, Dr. William Fairman said. School superintendent said.

If approved, the district's extra-voted operational levy would increase from 19.5 mills to 23.5 mills. Its total tax would climb from 31.626 to 35.626 mills, Fairman said.

Fairman said the four-mill levy is expected to raise about $675,000 in the first year.

Of that amount, $240,000 would be set aside to restore programs cut back in the last two years; $280,000 to keep pace with inflation which has risen steadily while the district's extra-voted levy has remained at 19.5 mills since 1969, and about $150,000 for replacement of equipment and textbooks which Fairman said has been postponed too long already.

Budgetary woes forced the school board at the end of the first semester to trim $88,000 from its 1976-77 operational budget of $9,064,431, Fairman said. He said 11 employees, ranging from teachers to custodians, were either

SPAGHETTI DINNER

Bridgman Students Seeking Trip Funds

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman high school National Honor society is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner to be held at the high school from noon to 4 p.m., Sunday, March 13.

Proceeds from the dinner will help finance a four-day trip society members are planning to take to Washington, D.C. in June, according to Anthony Korican, high school principal.

He said tickets, $2.50 for adults, $2 for any K-12 student and free to preschoolers, are on sale at the high school; at Gillespie's Drugs in St. Joseph; Barchett's Athletic Goods in Stevensville; and at Harding's Friendly market in Bridgman.

Johnny Carson Changes Mind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Carson, host of NBC's "Tonight Show," has changed his mind about broadcasting the show live, the network says.

NBC had announced plans to start live telecasts on March 15, but a spokesman said Monday he didn't know when or if the show ever will be broadcast live. Carson was on a week's vacation and was unavailable for comment.

Lions Clubs Seek Eye Bank Donors

Lions clubs of Michigan are appealing for donors to the Michigan Eye bank, which provides eye tissue for use in sight restorative surgery.

Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed March 6-12 as Michigan Eye Bank Week, and Mayor Franklin Smith has issued a similar proclamation for the City of St. Joseph.

The eye bank is a joint project of Michigan Lions clubs, and medical centers of the University of Michigan and Wayne State university with assistance

Last year, the Michigan Eye bank provided corneal tissue for 253 transplant operations. Lawrence D. Wyman of Clare, president of the Michigan Eye

He Will Not Run

bank, said its operations are possible because of "the compassionate people who request their eyes be used after death" and continuing progress in ophthalmology.

Donors pledge their eyes to the bank. The eyes are removed after death and sent to the bank. Eye patients needing transplants are on call and the surgery is performed as soon as possible.

Eyes are removed from the deceased donors by a process known as enucleation. The process may be performed by surgeons, or non-physicians including operating room technicians, nurses, paramedics and morticians who are trained and certified.

Four Twin City area morticians are certified by medical schools as enucleators — John Florin, and Gerald Vanderstell, Florin Funeral service; Ralph Frost, Frost Funeral home; and Allen Johnson, Kerly and Starks. Johnson also is chairman of the St. Joseph Lions club eye bank committee.

Johnson said in the 253 transplants last year with tissue provided through the Michigan Eye bank, no patient was charged for any of the services associated with obtaining and processing tissue for transplantation. However, the cost to the eye bank was about $200 per eye.

Other services sponsored by Lions club include Leader Dog, Welcome Home for the Blind, vision screening and other projects.

People seeking information on how to donate eyes to the eye bank may contact local Lions clubs or write to the Michigan Eye Bank, University of Michigan Division, 1000 Wall Street, Ann Arbor, or Wayne State University Division, 540 East Canfield Avenue, Detroit.

SPAGHETTI DINNER

Bridgman Students Seeking Trip Funds

BRIDGMAN — The Bridgman high school National Honor society is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner to be held at the high school from noon to 4 p.m., Sunday, March 13.

Proceeds from the dinner will help finance a four-day trip society members are planning to take to Washington, D.C. in June, according to Anthony Korican, high school principal.

He said tickets, $2.50 for adults, $2 for any K-12 student and free to preschoolers, are on sale at the high school; at Gillespie's Drugs in St. Joseph; Barchett's Athletic Goods in Stevensville; and at Harding's Friendly market in Bridgman.

Johnny Carson Changes Mind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Johnny Carson, host of NBC's "Tonight Show," has changed his mind about broadcasting the show live, the network says.

NBC had announced plans to start live telecasts on March 15, but a spokesman said Monday he didn't know when or if the show ever will be broadcast live. Carson was on a week's vacation and was unavailable for comment.

Lions Clubs Seek Eye Bank Donors

Lions clubs of Michigan are appealing for donors to the Michigan Eye bank, which provides eye tissue for use in sight restorative surgery.

Gov. William Milliken has proclaimed March 6-12 as Michigan Eye Bank Week, and Mayor Franklin Smith has issued a similar proclamation for the City of St. Joseph.

The eye bank is a joint project of Michigan Lions clubs, and medical centers of the University of Michigan and Wayne State university with assistance of other organizations and individuals.

He Will Not Run

bank, said its operations are possible because of "the compassionate people who request their eyes be used after death" and continuing progress in ophthalmology.

Donors pledge their eyes to the bank. The eyes are removed after death and sent to the bank. Eye patients needing transplants are on call and the surgery is performed as soon as possible.

Eyes are removed from the deceased donors by a process known as enucleation. The process may be performed by surgeons, or non-physicians including operating room technicians, nurses, paramedics and morticians who are trained and certified.

Four Twin City area morticians are certified by medical schools as enucleators — John Florin, and Gerald Vanderstelt, Florin Funeral service; Ralph Frost, Frost Funeral home; and Allen Johnson, Kerly and Starks. Johnson also is chairman of the St. Joseph Lions club eye bank committee.

Johnson said in the 253 transplants last year with tissue provided through the Michigan Eye bank, no patient was charged for any of the services associated with obtaining and processing tissue for transplantation. However, the cost to the eye bank was about $200 per eye.

Other services sponsored by Lions club include Leader Dog, Welcome Home for the Blind, vision screening and other projects.

People seeking information on how to donate eyes to the eye bank may contact local Lions clubs or write to the Michigan Eye Bank, University of Michigan Division, 1000 Washtenaw Street, Ann Arbor; or Wayne State University Division, 5 East Canfield Avenue, Detroit
